

Five Faculty Receive Promotion to Full Professor

Five faculty members have been promoted to full professor. They are: Dr. William Culver, political science; Dr. Philip De Vita, anthropology; Dr. Jane Gore, Center for Human Resources; Dr. Alexis Levitin, English; and Rick Salzman, Center for Art, Music and Theatre.

Culver, coordinator of the Latin American Studies Program, has been a member of the faculty at SUNY Plattsburgh since 1971. He chaired the political science department from 1981 to 1985 and served as associate dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science from 1985 to 1987. Co-editor of Miners and Mining in the Americas, which was published in 1986, he has recently assumed the post of editor of "Quetzal," the newsletter of the New York State Latin Americanists. Culver earned the B.A. and the Ph.D. from the University of California at Riverside and a Diploma de Aprovechamiento from the Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Mexico.

DeVita joined the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty in 1972. He has chaired the anthropology department and the department of sociology-anthropology and served as coordinator of the behavioral science program. He currently coordinates the minor program in language and human behavior. DeVita is editor of The Humble Anthropologist: Fieldwork Essays from Oceania, which will be released this fall, and he is working on a second volume scheduled to be published in January, 1990. He is a member of the advisory board of Dushkin Publishing's Anthropology. Annual Editions. DeVita earned the B.A. and the Ph.D. from the University of California at Davis.

Gore has been a member of the faculty since 1977. A certified home economist, she won a Fulbright Senior Lectureship award in 1985, under which she taught at Haryana Agricultural University in India. Gore is a partner in owning and operating a Rural Development Center in Ecuador for American college students. She has won several grants in such areas as child care, interagency interaction in rural communities and maximizing the integration of local labor into the regional apple harvest. She recently won "America's New Traditional Homemakers Award" given by the Frozen Food Industry. Gore earned the B.S. from the University of Illinois at Urbana and the M.S. and Ph.D. from Cornell University.

Culver DeVita Gore Levitin Salzman

A member of the faculty since 1982, Levitin is well known for translations and has published five books of translated poetry, with another two accepted for publication in 1990. In 1984 he won the Columbia University Translation Center's Van de Bovenkamp-Armand C. Erpf Translation Award and in 1987, Levitin received the Betty Colladay Award from Quarterly Review of Literature. He recently concluded a six week bi-lingual reading tour of the United States and Canada with Brazilian poet Eugenio de Andrade. Levitin coordinates the campus Visiting Writers Series and has directed Tuesday Reflections. He holds the B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. from Columbia University.

Salzman has taught design, graphic design and sculpture at SUNY Plattsburgh since 1976. His work has won several awards, including a Silver Medal Award from the Strathmore Paper Co., the Pegasus Award from the State of Vermont Biennial Competition, and several awards for letterhead design. He has

THANK YOU

On behalf of the Executive Staff and the entire college, I want to extend sincere and deep gratitude to all of you who went well beyond the expected to welcome and register our students during the past weekend.

Your professionalism, dedication and genuine caring are greatly appreciated. Again, thank you very much.

Charles O. Warren

Fall Convocation for New Students Planned for Next Wednesday

The college's newest students will be formally welcomed to the academic community during fall convocation ceremonies scheduled for 4:30 p.m. next Wednesday (Sept. 6) in Amitie Plaza. The event, initiated a year ago, is open to all, and upperclass students in particular are encouraged to attend.

Members of the Class of 1993 and new transfer students will gather in the Angell Center Ballroom at 4:10 p.m. while faculty and staff are assembling in that building's Blue Room to prepare for the short march to the plaza. All will be attired in academic regalia.

President Charles O. Warren will preside at the ceremony and give remarks. Speakers will be Dr. Douglas Skopp, professor of history, and Dr. Ann Tracy, professor of English, and both will talk on themes appropriate to the college's centennial year. Skopp's address is entitled "One Hundred Years of Future," while Tracy's is "This Way Out."

The College Brass Ensemble, directed by Marshall Onofrio, will perform the prelude and processional music. The Cardinal Singers, conducted by Robert Hall, will sing the national anthem and the college's alma mater.

In the event of rain, the convocation program will be held in Memorial Hall.

Centennial Drive at 76% of Goal; Campus 'Family' Response High

As of mid-August, the Plattsburgh College Foundation had achieved 76% of its special Centennial Campaign goal of $500,000.

Gifts and pledges to the campaign, implemented to create an unrestricted endowment fund, totaled $379,888. Income from the endowment will provide funds for special student, faculty and administrative initiatives designed to promote excellence at the college.

"We can take pride in the response to date of our SUNY Plattsburgh 'family,'" commented Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development and executive director of the Foundation. "Gifts and pledges from faculty and staff, including several who have retired, and from campus organizations account for nearly $207,000 of the total. Add in support from alumni and we're looking at more than $282,000, or about 74 percent of the grand total."

Garrant pointed out that one retired faculty member has pledged $45,000 to the campaign over the next five years.

"We realize that the remaining $120,000 will be the hardest to raise," said Garrant, noting that the campaign ends on December 31. "Individuals who are interested in supporting or learning more about this special campaign are urged to call me or Dan Milliman, our director of development." Both Garrant and Milliman can be reached at extension 2090.

also designed numerous programs, brochures and posters for various artistic presentations on campus. His sculptures have been included in numerous shows and exhibitions and are in several public collections, including the Chrysler Museum of Art in Virginia; the North Gallery of Art in West Palm Beach, Florida; and the Contemporary Museum of Art in Barcelona, Spain. Salzman holds the B.A. from Florida State University and the M.F.A. from Syracuse University. He has done post-graduate work at George Washington University and Temple University.

In addition to the five promoted to full professor, six were promoted to associate professor. They are: Dr. Dennis Costanzo, Center for Art, Music and Theatre; Dr. Edward Miller, chemistry; Dr. Janet Groth, English; Dr. David Franzi, Center for Earth and Environmental Science; Dr. John Kellermeier, mathematics; and Dr. James Coffey, accounting.

Shaffer Receives ACT Award Citing Outstanding Advisement

Dr. Lawrence Shaffer, professor of psychology and academic coordinator of the Freshman Experience, has been selected to receive a 1989 Certificate of Merit from the American College Testing/National Academic Advising Association National Recognition Program for Academic Advising.

The selection committee wrote, "This award is given in recognition of your demonstrated abilities as an advisor. . . In the judgment of the committee, you have consistently evidenced the qualities associated with the outstanding advising of students.

Shaffer was nominated by the college and received letters of support from colleagues and administrators as well as current and former students. The award is one in a long line of awards for Shaffer, who won the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching in 1980, the Phi Eta Sigma Distinguished Faculty Award in 1984, and an Honorable Mention award in the American Psychological Association's Distinguished Teaching Competition in 1986.

A 1968 graduate of SUNY Plattsburgh, Shaffer received the college's Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1983. A member of the faculty since 1976, Shaffer holds the Ph.D. from Oxford University.

Yale Press Publishes Cohen's Book on Health and Civilization

Health and the Rise of Civilization, a new book by Dr. Mark Cohen, professor of anthropology, has been published by Yale University Press. The book advances Cohen's thesis that advancing civilization has not always improved human health. "Ongoing patterns of human health," he says, "have more mixed reviews than we used to think. We like to think there has been progress, but the record actually shows that our behavior creates as many health problems as it solves."

The book, according to its author, "considers how changes in human behavior affect health, then reviews the major changes in human behavior which occur during the evolution of human civilization. It predicts the probable consequences of those changes for human health using models from contemporary epidemiology and nutrition science. It reviews ethnographic evidence about health and nutrition in the smallest, simplest and most primitive human groups contrasting them with patterns of health and nutrition in recent history and the modern Third World. Finally, it reviews archaeological evidence for changes in health and nutrition in prehistory."

A member of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty since 1971, Cohen has conducted extensive research in this area. For the past eight years he has been working with the remains of several hundred sixteenth century Mayans, excavated in Tipu, Belize. His work has been supported by major grants from the National Science Foundation.

Cohen will spend the 1989-90 academic year at Hebrew University in Jerusalem, continuing his skeletal analysis work, under a Fulbright Lecturing/Research Grant. He is the author of The Food Crisis in Prehistory (1971) and co-editor of Paleopathology at the Origins of Agriculture (1984) and Biosocial Mechanisms of Population Regulation (1980). In 1985, he won a Guggenheim Fellowship and served as a visiting scholar at Cambridge University. He is a recipient of the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching and the Phi Eta Sigma Distinguished Faculty Award.

New Learning Center to Provide Services at All Skill Levels

The beginning of the 1989-90 academic year marks also the inauguration of a "learning center" on campus that will provide direct services for students regardless of skill level.

The center, located on the ground floor of Feinberg Library in a space also housing the building's late-night study area, has been in the planning stages for several years. It will provide computer-assisted writing instruction and expanded tutoring services as well as facilities for individual and group study in daytime and quiet late-night study.

Elaine Leavitt, director of Upward Bound, will take on added responsibilities to serve as acting director of the Center this year, pending the outcome of a search for a full-time head of the operation. Meanwhile, Carol Frome, a 1987 SUNY Plattsburgh graduate (magna cum laude in English), who recently received a master's degree in creative writing from Purdue University, has joined the Center as a full-time tutor coordinator. Other members of the staff will be Ann Kimmage, who will serve as writing skills specialist, and graduate assistant Lisa Hoadley.

As announced by President Charles O. Warren at Friday's year-opening breakfast meeting, the new student service activity will be named — and dedicated later this fall — the "Claude Clark Learning Center" to honor the memory of a long-time member of the College Council. A substantial gift from the late Mr. Clark's widow, Mrs. Jennette Clark of Malone, helped establish the center.

Students who seek computer-assisted writing instruction will have access to software programs, for use with new microcomputers, that are designed to help them help themselves in developing composition techniques, in learning to use word processing and in correcting problems with grammar. Tutoring services will build on a successful peer tutoring program implemented in 1981 that has grown to where more than 700 students receive assistance from about 70 fellow students each semester. The added professional help will focus also on strengthening writing and math skills.

Claude Clark Learning Center staff Ann Kimmage (seated) and Carol Frome. Kimmage will serve as writing skills coordinator and Frome as tutor coordinator.

College Complying With NCAA Investigation of Alleged Infractions

The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) has requested SUNY Plattsburgh to conduct an investigation of alleged infractions in its intercollegiate athletic program. The college recently received a three-month extension — to mid-December — to complete the investigation, which is being headed by Peter Luguri, director of athletics, and Dr. Eldridge W. Roark, vice president for student affairs.

Luguri said that he and Roark are charged with gathering information from several people in the community who are alleged to be party to the infractions, which date to the 1984-85 season and continue through the 1987-88 campaign. Letters have been mailed to those named in the allegations. However, the college will not disclose the identity of student-athletes or community residents cited in the allegations.

"We will insist upon anonymity of individuals involved through the entire investigative process," commented Luguri, "but we would be naive to believe that the nature of the alleged infractions will remain undisclosed. While we announced earlier that we would not comment on the specific allegations, we feel now it is in the best interests of the college and its intercollegiate athletic program to make them known in a general sense."

The alleged infractions, Luguri said, include the following:

- Certain student-athletes were given free housing or housing at reduced cost;
- Certain student-athletes were given occasional free meals;
- Some student-athletes were given small loans;
- Individual student-athletes were allowed to use vehicles belonging to landlords;
- Foreign student-athletes received a greater percentage of financial aid based on need than other students and other student-athletes;
- A hockey coach provided a gift of skates to a student-athlete; gifts of two golf shirts, a hockey stick and a Plattsburgh State cap were also made;
- Certain student-athletes were transported to Montreal for a professional hockey game; another received transportation to Montreal for a home visit;
- Several student athletes used a campus telephone to make personal, long-distance telephone calls (totaling less than $150 in all) at no cost to themselves; and
- A local entrepreneur waived admission costs to his establishment for certain student-athletes.

SPOTLIGHT

Dr. George Flynn, associate professor of physics, presented a paper entitled "Cosmic Dust: Laboratory Analysis of Samples from Comets and Asteroids" at the Third Asteroids, Comets and Meteors Conference held recently in Uppsala, Sweden. . . Dr. Jane Gore, professor in the Center for Human Resources, has been reappointed to a four-year term on the Cornell University Council, an advisory group to Cornell's Board of Trustees. . . "John F. Kennedy and the Green Berets: The Rhetorical Use of the Hero Myth," an essay by Dr. J. Justin Gustainis, associate professor of communication, has been accepted for publication in Communication Studies. . . Dr. Gerald Kokoszka, professor of chemistry, presented a paper entitled "EPR of Mixed Valence Copper Dimers" at the fourth international conference on Bioinorganic Chemistry, held in July in Cambridge, MA. A summary of the paper, co-authored by Michael Robbins, a senior chemistry major, has been published in the Journal of Inorganic Biochemistry. . . "The Regions of Canada: An Invitation" is the title of an article by Dr. Thomas Rumney, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, that appears in a recent issue of the Social Science Record. Rumney is the author also of a selected bibliography on "Studies on the Economic Geography of South Asia". . . Drs.

Eldridge W. Roark, vice president for student affairs, and Mary Roark, associate professor in the Center for Human Resources, discussed campus violence prevention strategies recently with members of the residence hall staff, campus police and the Women's Resource Center at Washington State University. Police officials from the Idaho communities of Pullman, Washington and Moscow also attended. Mary Roark's article, "Challenging and Supporting College Students," appears in the summer issue of the NASPA Journal. . . Dr. Richard H. Sudds, professor of microbiology, has been appointed to the Plattsburgh Air Force Base Technical Review Committee. The function of the committee is to foster community awareness and obtain community comment concerning installation of environmental restoration programs. . . President Charles O. Warren is one of four SUNY Arts and Sciences presidents invited to serve on the University's Council of Presidents during 1989-90. Besides Plattsburgh, Warren will represent Empire State and Potsdam on the Council. . . Dr. Michael P. Wolfe, director of the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services, was the keynote speaker at the New York State Principals' Academy held in mid-July in Saratoga Springs. The title of his presentation was "School Improvement Imperatives in New York State."

Text of President Warren's Address to Faculty and Staff

August 25, 1989

Our 100th year! There is a proud century to celebrate, and the celebration has begun. Founder's Day on June 15 was a good beginning. Faculty, staff, students, alumni, friends, former colleagues, Albany dignitaries and our Chancellor joined together to pay tribute to a full century of "The Plattsburgh Idea" in education and to the many, many dedicated people who have made that idea evolve so well. Doug Skopp spoke eloquently, humanely and warmly as he briefly sketched our past as it is portrayed in his forthcoming pictorial history, Bright With Promise.

Alumni week in July was also a wonderful time for remembering and for realizing what so many have gained and what so many have given. A particular highlight was the Campus School Reunion, so ably organized by Florence Callahan, with over 300 former teachers, students, parents and administrators sharing their memories and their gratitude. Our hats are off to the office of College Relations and Development, Maintenance and Operations staff, CAS and many others for seeing that our celebration began positively.

As we begin our second century, there is also much to be encouraged by from our recent past.

- Our commitment to excellence and innovation in teaching grows stronger each year. While academic standards are high, and must remain so, faculty and staff constantly and creatively seek ways to support student success. And more and more of our students are accepting the rigorous challenges and responding well. Those challenges and high standards and a high level of encouragement must continue and increase.
- Our Honors Program continues to be outstanding, serving as a regional and national model. . . and it is reported that we have more disciplinary-based honors organizations than any other university campus. (And I trust that we will have more.)
- Scholarship, creative activity and the pressing at intellectual frontiers thrive on our campus. Increasingly, undergraduates participate with faculty mentors in first-rate scholarly projects. Showcase 89 gave us just a hint of the level and quality of undergraduate research and creative activity that is now characterizing our college. I'm pleased to report that Ed Miller and a faculty/staff committee already have begun planning for Showcase 90, and I hope that all of you and many of your students will participate.
- Service to our community remains a high priority for all segments of the campus community. Faculty and staff members annually contribute literally thousands of hours of professional expertise to a myriad of worthwhile activities, and hardly a day passes without news of meaningful service from a student association-sponsored group. The leadership and volunteer spirit of the SA officers, ODK, Alpha Phi Omega, and individual students are truly exceptional. We are somewhat encouraged too by what appears to be a growing sense of civic responsibility on the parts of students living in and traversing through nearby neighborhoods. Let me add quickly, though, that there is much to be done. And I especially appreciate Ed Engelbride's and Mike Santora's leadership in this important and sensitive area. We must insist upon a basic civility in student relationships both on and off campus.
- The enrollment picture for 1989-90 is good. This year, compared to 1988-89, we have decreased full-time freshmen and new transfer student targets by 100 and 50 respectively. Access to the highest possible level of quality is imperative. Declining resources and enhanced retention argue strongly in favor of this approach. Minority student enrollment for freshmen is at 9% this year, compared to last year's figure of about 5%. The adult learner population remains strong, stable, and an important part of our overall mission. Strong efforts aimed at the retention and success of these and other special student populations continue.

- The college-wide affirmative action effort is multifaceted, focused and effective. Progress is encouraging, although the concerns of women and minorities will remain issues of the highest priority.
- Other areas of progress include a good first year of the FIPSE-sponsored transfer project. The support and participation of many of you are greatly appreciated. Appreciation is extended too for your ongoing work in assessment and outcomes; the FIPSE project on discipline-based assessment is going quite well, and we should hear about significant progress soon.
- The Freshmen Experience program enters its second year with vigor and some modifications, including freshmen-upperclassmen residence hall clusters and a one-credit seminar offered by freshman faculty mentors in the residence halls.
- Sponsored Research activity remains on an upward trend, with Sue Spissinger reporting a total funding level of about $2.8 million during the past year. And the Plattsburgh College Foundation continued its unparalleled support of our students and college. . . contributing well over $450,000 to scholarships and other projects, while raising its endowment fund to approximately 3 million dollars.
- Summer Orientation for new students and their parents was again very successful this past summer. The student and professional staffs did a superb job in setting an appropriate tone for the fall semester, emphasizing over and over the academic seriousness and standards of our college.
- Interacting this summer with hundreds of parents, new students and alumni further underscored something that we too often take for granted: the personal warmth and physical attractiveness that characterize this campus. Time after time, individuals commented positively on the campus appearance and on how well they were treated in various offices and settings. I think we owe, in particular, our classified professional colleagues great appreciation for their caring and their professionalism.
- And finally, our campus-wide planning process completed its first cycle. We are currently revising and updating the plan to extend from 1989 through 1994. A draft, which includes a list of last year's accomplishments for each section, will be mailed to you soon. Please review and criticize it and communicate your suggestions to any member of the two planning teams. The Plattsburgh Plan: 1989-94 should be in place by early October.

1989-90

This too should be an exciting and productive year. There are a number of special initiatives worth noting:

- At this breakfast last year, we discussed our long-term need for a writing and learning center. During the year, a complementary need to expand our tutoring center became apparent. Due to the generosity of Mrs. Jennette Clark, the widow of former College Council member, Claude Clark, we are pleased to announce the establishment of the Claude Clark Learning Center. The Learning Center occupies the former late night study room and adjacent area. Conceptually, it features a sophisticated tutoring service, a microcomputer writing laboratory, and individual and group study areas — including late night study. A very good staff is in place. They, along with peer tutors, are ready to offer programs that are salutary to student achievement at all levels and to a serious academic climate. Although many people worked hard to make the Center a reality, I would like to express sincere thanks in particular to Ann Hasting, Tom Morrissey, Liz Pasti, Sue Spissinger, H.Z. Liu and El Roark.

- The Distinguished Visiting Professor program began almost a decade ago. It remains central in our collective intellectual life. As always, Dr. Mowry, the selection committee, and the nominators have done a superb job. Information on this semester's distinguished visitors has been distributed. It is an impressive and varied group.
- Apropos of our centennial year, we will bring other distinguished visitors to campus this year, including ten Distinguished Visiting Alumni. Each person will be on campus for about three days and will live in a residence hall in order to increase interaction with students. During the spring semester, other featured speakers will include Shirley Chisholm, Robert Bellah and Maya Angelou.
- With the early work of Principal Hawkins, Dr. Hans Hirsch and Dean Redcay paving the way for supporting the excellent leadership of Ed Brohel, we can now proudly claim permanent art works and access to outstanding art that is of the first order. In recognition of this level of cultural prominence — manifested through the Myers Gallery, the Myers lobby, the Rockwell Kent Gallery, and our Museum Without Walls — I am pleased to announce that the College Council has recently voted to establish the SUNY Plattsburgh Art Museum. . . a most appropriate designation representing our diverse and extensive collections and spaces. The Museum will be officially dedicated through a series of openings in October.

This year also brings a variety of serious challenges and opportunities. The new general education program must be put into final form for implementation in the fall of 1990. The Committee is working diligently and with integrity. The cooperation and support of all chairpersons, center directors and faculty will be needed, however, to ensure the best and most coherent program possible.

Other areas that will require specific attention include graduate programs, an integrated approach to teacher education, and the possibility of a Master's degree program in nursing. Dr. Moran and the Deans' Cabinet are formulating an impressive agenda for the year.

Of course, we will again be challenged by the level of state funding. Last year's lobbying efforts by the unions, the students, the faculty, the alumni and many other friends were extremely important; they should continue, and we should start now. Office mergers, reconfigurations and other initiatives have allowed us to meet some of our financial realities, while preserving or enhancing quality. We must continue to take such prudent steps, and we must do so with the intention to preserve and strengthen teaching power wherever possible.

We also will maintain and increase our commitment to help ourselves as much as possible through externally sponsored programs and grants and through new dimensions of fundraising. To that latter point, Harry Mowry, Chairperson of the Plattsburgh College Foundation's Centennial Campaign Steering Committee, announced on Founder's Day a $500,000 five-year Centennial Endowment Campaign. Today, Don Garrant has informed us that we have reached a level of $374,000 (75%) in pledges. This minicapital campaign represents our first effort of this type, and we are confident of success when the campaign ends on December 31 of this year. Significantly, these endowments represent unrestricted giving, and the annual income will be used to support a variety of educational initiatives. Further, we have established a major gifts committee, formulated Foundation guidelines for this giving, and have begun to identify potential donors who might support endowed chairs, space renovation, equipment purchases, faculty-student research programs and other initiatives. We seek your advice, support and ideas in these efforts.

Indeed, we have a proud past, a very vital present and, together, we can guarantee a strong future. Many people have done many things well for a long period of time. But as we enter the first decade of our second century, we must continue to remember and practice Maya Angelou's concept of achievement: "Quality is an ideal, always out there in front of you, urging you on to a higher level of performance." Let us collectively and individually accept that as our guidepost. Let us be constructively critical and protect honest dissent, while asking of ourselves as much as we ask of others.

And let us commit our intellects and our energies to renewed and stronger sense of partnership. Partnerships with service agencies, with private business and industry, with government at various levels. Partnerships of integrity. . . that are genuine and valuable opportunities to contribute our professional expertise, to afford our students unique opportunities and to learn from our partners.

Especially, let us strengthen and nurture our senses of common cause and partnership within and among all segments of the educational community. Let us constantly seek ways to improve effectiveness at all levels; let us share expertise and resources in new, creative ways for mutual benefit and for the enhanced benefit of our students.

We have made beginnings toward a renewed sense of partnership with the broader community. But we can do more. It is good public stewardship. It strengthens our mission. It fosters a strong sense of community. Our students, our fellow citizens, the broader academic world and we are the direct beneficiaries.

It is crystal clear. We are a regional center. . . educationally, culturally and economically. Our role is one of strong leadership. Make no mistake, our leadership in the region infers neither limitations nor the parochial. Rather it calls upon us to seek levels of quality that earn reputation and emulation in all disciplines and initiatives well beyond this campus and this region. And, very importantly, it calls upon us to enrich the campus and community by fostering greater global and multicultural awareness, by further strengthening our international programs and opportunities, by developing soon new liberal arts based initiatives in areas like international business and economics.

We have a rich legacy. Together, let us build wisely and ethically on that foundation as we commit to strive for higher and higher levels of quality.

Welcome back!

NOTES

Applications for the 1990 In Vitro Cell Biology & Biotechnology Program are currently being accepted. The deadline for receipt of all application materials is October 15. Four James A. Fitzpatrick Scholarships at $2,000 each are now available for students accepted into the IVCBB Program. Each scholarship will cover full tuition, room and board fees. For further information and application materials, contact Dr. William D. Graziadei, Miner Center, at 846-7144 or by electronic mail GRAZIAWD. Materials may also be obtained from Dianna Seymour, Dept. of Biological Sciences office, Beaumont Hall 207 (564-3155).

The Educational Opportunity Program seeks tutors in all areas, but especially in accounting, English, math, and the sciences. Applicants must have a B or better in the courses they wish to tutor and must submit two letters of recommendations from faculty, one of which must be in the subject area. Pay is $4.50/hour to $5.25/hour depending on qualifications. Please see Sara Richman, Algonquin 103, for an application and interview, or call 564-2263.

THIS WEEK ON CAMPUS is compiled by the Office of Campus Life and published by the Office of College Relations and Development. Items to be listed in THIS WEEK ON CAMPUS must be received in the Office of Campus Life no later than noon on Thursday the week prior to publication.

The Special Services Project (SSP) seeks tutors for Math 099, Math 101, Math 161, Math 163, and Math 221. Applicants must have a B average or better in the courses they wish to tutor and submit two letters of recommendation from faculty. In addition, the applicant should be a math major, or a Secondary Education Mathematics major, or have completed Math 224. Tutors hours will be arranged around their academic schedules and pay is a minimum of $3.50/hour. Please see Janice Beach or Jacqueline Jones in the SSP Office, located in the Angell College Center Room 110, for an application and interview, or call 564-2810.

Seven Students Named First Recipients of FitzPatrick Awards

The first recipients of the James A. FitzPatrick Scholarships, four undergraduates and three graduate students, have been selected. The undergraduates, their hometowns and their fields of study are: Matthew Burgin, Delhi, environmental science; Gary Guay, Plattsburgh, environmental science; and Ralph Risch, Plattsburgh, ecology; and Jesse Zahn, environmental science/geology. The three graduate students selected for the prestigious award are Elizabeth Bowen, Wilmington, biology; Kevin Brooks, Greenfield Center, biology; and Lawrence MacArthur, Plattsburgh, liberal studies (environmental sciences). Four additional undergraduates, who will be participants in the In Vitro Cell Biology program, will be selected for the spring semester.

Dr. Charles Warren commented, "We are very pleased to participate in the creation of this scholarship program in honor of James FitzPatrick, a man whose enthusiasm and dedication to the programs at the Miner Institute will never be matched. His memory will long endure in the North Country, not only for his work at Miner, but also for his total devotion to public service and his efforts to improve the quality of life for area residents. The James A. FitzPatrick Scholarship program is a fitting tribute and a lasting memorial to him."

The scholarships were created as a memorial to the late president of the William H. Miner Agricultural Research Institute and are funded by the Miner Institute ($16,000) and the Plattsburgh College Foundation ($16,000). Undergraduate scholarships are valued at $2,000 each, to cover the cost of tuition, room and board for one semester in residence. Graduate fellowships span a full year and carry a $7,500 stipend. Recipients are chosen on the basis of academic merit.

James A FitzPatrick, who died in 1988, became a member of the Miner Institute Board of Trustees in 1960, was elected president of the Institute in 1968 and, in 1970, was appointed chairman of the board. During his tenure, both the environmental science and the in vitro programs were launched. An attorney, FitzPatrick devoted his entire life to the North Country and its residents, and served as a member of the New York State Legislature from 1946 to 1956. He chaired the New York State Power Authority for 15 years.

Library Rated 'Excellent' by Government Printing Office

Feinberg Library's United States Documents Collection has received a score of "excellent" in all categories in an inspection by the United States Government Printing Office. Director of Libraries Cerise Oberman explained that depository libraries are evaluated every five years according to Government Printing Office standards regarding organization, maintenance of the collection, staffing, space, interlibrary cooperation and patron service. Ratings are assigned solely by the Government Printing Office Inspector.

"The 'excellent' score in all categories," Oberman said, "is achieved by only 3 percent of the total number of Depository Libraries in the country." She added, "Donald E. Fassidal, assistant superintendent of documents, wrote that this rating 'places Feinberg Library among a select vanguard of pace-setters serving as creative models for depository documents service in the United States.'"

Oberman praised Joseph Swinyer, saying, "Special recognition for this achievement belongs to Joe Swinyer who has built and shaped the Government Documents collection for the past eleven years."

Faculty, Staff Reminded of Campus Smoking Policy

As people return to campus, members of the Labor/Management Committee on Smoking would like to remind faculty and staff of the smoking policy adopted last spring. Dr. J. Stallard Waterhouse, president of the campus chapter of UUP and chairperson of the committee, noted that the regulations were adopted "to develop a smoke-free environment" on campus in response to "well-documented health risks associated with smoking."

NO SMOKING

To briefly review the smoking policy:

- There is no smoking in classrooms, elevators, lobbies and foyers, hallways and stairwells at any time. Other public gathering areas are non-

25 Faculty and Staff Share in NYS/UUP Awards Program

Twenty-five members of the SUNY Plattsburgh campus community received funding during Rounds I and II of the comprehensive awards program sponsored by the New York State/United University Professions Joint Labor-Management Committees. The awards support Experienced Faculty Travel, New Faculty Development and Librarian and Professional Study Leaves.

Funding for Plattsburgh faculty and staff totaled more than $19,000. Most projects that received support have been carried out; a few are yet to begin. A summation of each funded activity follows:

Experienced Faculty Travel Awards

James S. Ashe, professor of education, was awarded $750 to conduct a survey and study of the perceptions of principals and assistant principals regarding their university administrator preparation program. He also attended the NASSP meeting held in Texas to work in conjunction with that group.

Anna Battigelli, assistant professor of English, was awarded $750 to conduct research for publication in the fall issue of "Restoration," a leading journal in the field of restoration and eighteenth-century studies.

Stuart J. Baum, professor of chemistry, was awarded $500 to travel to Oshkosh, Wisconsin to collaborate with Dr. Paul Kelter in completing a resource book which will be made available to elementary education majors at SUNY Plattsburgh as well as area elementary school teachers.

Anthony J. D'Aristotile, assistant professor of mathematics, was awarded $750 to travel to Stanford U. in Palo Alto, CA where he had been invited as a visiting scholar to work on a project in probability theory.

David A. Franzi, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, was awarded $750 to travel to Alaska to study the Bering Glacier Piedmont Lobe as a modern analog for dead-ice sedimentation, furthering his study of glacial deposits and landforms of New York State.

Pirouz Shoar Ghaffari, assistant professor of communication, was awarded $750 to conduct library research at the University of Chicago on the evolution of the Iranian press since the inception of the Islamic Republic in 1979.

Gerhard K. Gruendling, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, was awarded $500 to attend the 10th annual conference on wetlands restoration and creation and to conduct field evaluations of recently created and restored wetlands ecosystems in central Florida.

Lendall Haskell, associate professor of education, was awarded $500 to obtain photographs of different ecological environments which will be enlarged for use in media and art classes for elementary and secondary school students, southeastern and northwestern U.S.

Edward Heuston, professor of English, was awarded $750 to conduct research at the Newberry Library, Chicago, IL, on Moralization in the Fable Collections of Sir Roger L'Estrange, John Locke, and John Gay.

Edward J. Miller, assistant professor of chemistry, was awarded $342 to conduct research characterizing organometallic polymers at the University of Vermont.

Ben Morreale, professor of history, was awarded $750 to conduct library and archive research in San Francisco on the movement of Italian immigrants westward in America.

Sitaram Shastri, professor of physics, was awarded $750 to conduct research on nuclear spectroscopy at high spin and alpha spectrometry connected with human and pig bones at the Argonne National Laboratory and to present a paper on radioactive nuclear structure at the May American Physical Society meeting.

Robert P. Weiss, associate professor of sociology, was awarded $750 to gather library and archival research data on Texas penitentiary developments since the Civil War in Austin, TX.

Thomas H. Wolosz, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environment Science, was awarded $750 to conduct field work research, mapping and sampling reefs of the Onondaga formation around Lake Ontario, NY.

New Faculty Development Awards

Diane Fine, assistant professor in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre, was awarded $750 to carry out research in the visual relationship between natural and man-made history in the Adirondack region of New York State and create a suite of mixed media prints.

Sunderesh S. Heragu, assistant professor in the School of Business and Economics, was awarded $750 to present a paper, "A Transportation Approach for the Selection and Assignment of Material Handling Carriers in a Flexible Manufacturing System," at the 1989 Spring TIMS/ORSA meeting in Vancouver.

John Scott Hewit, assistant professor of education, was awarded $705 to conduct library review and research to develop a curriculum for teaching social studies K-12, and to attend the NYS Council for Children 1989 Conference in May in Rye Brook.

Librarian Study Leave Awards

Patricia W. Bentley, associate librarian, was

Canadian Studies Wins Grants From Imasco & Hiram Walker

The Canadian Studies Program has received substantial grants from two Canadian corporations during the past three months. Imasco Limited has pledged a total of $8,000 to the program for the 1989-90 academic year. Dr. Richard Beach, director of the Center for the Study of Canada, said, "At the end of this commitment, Imasco Limited will have supported our program for a decade and, thus, has been one of our most loyal corporate sponsors." Money from the pledge will be used for the Imasco Scholarship, sponsorship of Canadian events, guest speakers, research and teaching, and outreach coordination. Additionally, some of the funds will be placed in the Imasco Endowment Fund.

Hiram Walker and Sons Incorporated has donated $6,600 to the program. Beach said, "Hiram Walker has generously supported our program for many years, but this is the largest amount that we have ever received from the company." While most of the funds will be used to augment the Hiram Walker Scholarship Program and the Hiram Walker Endowment, other funds will be used to support the various programs of the Center.

Cardinal Men's Soccer Team Wins Lyndon Tourney

The Plattsburgh State men's soccer team captured the Lyndon State Tournament title over the weekend for the second consecutive year. The Cardinals defeated Norwich University 3-0 on Saturday and beat Lyndon State 4-1 in overtime Sunday to win the tournament.

Freshmen starting stopper Brian Tracy scored a goal in the Norwich game and played very consistent soccer through the weekend. His aggressive play and intensity earned him Plattsburgh State Athlete of the Week honors for the week ending 9/3/89.

The women's soccer team lost their home season opener against Skidmore College on Sunday, 0-3. The three Skidmore goals came in the second half of the game.

The men's and women's cross country teams will host the University of Vermont on Saturday beginning at 11:30 a.m. The contest will be held behind the Plattsburgh State Field House.

The women's soccer team will host Johnson State on Thursday (9/7) at 4:00 and will be at home against on Saturday (9/9) at noon.

The men's soccer team will travel to Castleton State on Wednesday (9/6) and will host the Plattsburgh State Cardinal Classic Tournament on Saturday (games at 2:00 and 4:00) and Sunday (12:00 and 2:00). The visiting teams are St. John Fisher, Bard, and St. Rose.

Beach noted, "We are especially pleased to receive continued support from both of these companies, since the competition for funds from Canadian corporations is becoming intense."

1989 Parents Fund Campaign Kicks Off With $25,000 Goal

The 1989 Parents' Fund Drive will kick off with a direct mailing to parents of SUNY Plattsburgh students in the middle of September, according to Dan Milliman, director of development. The campaign goal is $25,000.

Milliman said, "Last year's Parents' Fund campaign raised $20,000 from 760 donors and we were very pleased at the generous responses. We combined that money with the generous gift of Mrs. Claude Clark in memory of her husband to create the Claude Clark Learning Center, which opened this fall."

Milliman added that the funds raised through the 1989 Parents' Fund Campaign will continue to be used to benefit students. This year's drive will provide support for use in three areas on campus. First, additional funds will be made available for the Clark Learning Center, which combines the late-night study room and the tutoring center, while providing a new computer laboratory for special use with the Writing-Across-the-Curriculum plan.

In addition, the Parents' Fund will support the SUNY Plattsburgh Honors Center, as well as center and department commons areas on campus. In each case, space is to be expanded and furnishings will be sought for these areas.

The campaign will continue with a phonathon during the first two weeks of October.

Socialist Sanders to Lecture on Urban Problems in America

Bernard Sanders, the controversial former socialist mayor of Burlington, Vt., will be a visiting lecturer here on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 18 and 19.

Sanders, nationally known for his innovations in urban revitalization and in citizens' movements, will discuss "Urban Problems and Potential" from 7:30 to 9:15 p.m. on Monday in Ballroom B of the Angell College Center, and "Alternative Political Movements in the United States" on Tuesday at the same time and in the same location.

Sanders' lecture series is billed as "The Socialist Perspective on Urban Problems." His appearances at SUNY Plattsburgh are being sponsored jointly by the college's sociology and political science departments.

smoking unless otherwise designated.

- There is no smoking, except in private offices and designated areas, in the Canadian Studies Center, Clinton Dining Hall, Feinberg Library, Field House, Memorial Hall, Myers Fine Arts and the Yokum Communications Lecture Hall.
- Smoking is permitted in private fully enclosed offices. It is permitted in multiple occupancy fully enclosed offices only if all individuals desire to smoke. Otherwise, smoking is permitted only in designated smoking areas in campus buildings. These areas are clearly identified by appropriate signs and publicity.

- Compliance with smoking regulations is requested in State and CAS vehicles when a non-smoker is present.

Waterhouse said, "We hope smokers will be considerate of others and obey these regulations, especially in recognition of the fact that passive smoking is dangerous to health."

Diane Gadway, secretary of CSEA and a member of the committee, added, "We also encourage non-smokers to be polite and sensitive when reminding smokers of the regulations."

A smoking clinic is being planned for later in the semester and details will be available soon.

Faculty/Staff/Librarians Receive NYS/UUP Awards (Continued from page 1)

awarded $1,050 to research the corporate archives at Kenner Toys for an article on female action figures, to attend the National Conference of the Association of College and Research Libraries, and to attend a seminar on "Inspiring Enthusiasm for Research" in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Timothy C. Hartnett, senior assistant librarian, was awarded $760 to participate in a five-day program designed to introduce librarians in the federal depository program to the world of government-produced information, held in Washington, D.C.

Carla List, associate librarian, awarded $3,277 to investigate and learn two computer programs, "Hypertext" (this is a manual) and "Hypercard" (a computer program) for application to library instruction.

Gordon D. Muir, senior assistant librarian, was awarded $750 to attend the 11th Annual National Online meeting in New York City during May. He also visited the New York Public Library and New York Historical Society in preparation for a sabbatical, during which he will research the Vanderbilt family.

Professional Study Leave Awards

Edward R. Brohel, director of galleries, was awarded $600 to attend a workshop at the Museum Management Institute, University of California at Berkeley.

Mary Ann Dee, financial aid counselor, was awarded $205 to attend the New York State Financial Aid Administrators Association Conference held in Syracuse, NY, from October 18-21, 1989.

Phyllis Freedman, assistant to the museum director was awarded $637 to attend the November 1989 National Docent Symposium in Washington, D.C.

Ronald H. Hobson, assistant dean of the School of Business and Economics, was awarded $911 to present a paper at the "Computers on Campus Conference" to be held in Columbia, South Carolina in November. His paper will deal with the use of relational database software for administrative/academic support activities.

Kudos To . . .

Dr. Ernest Coons, professor in the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Programs, who has been commended as an outstanding graduate of the University of New Mexico's Department of Health Promotion, Physical Education and Leisure Programs. That university is mounting a display of photographs of several distinguished alumni and Coons is included. Coons, who received his Ph.D. from the University of New Mexico in 1973, has earned national recognition for his work in the field of outdoor education.

Centennial Celebration Continues

College to Formally Accept 'Bright With Promise' Next Week

The pictorial centennial history of SUNY Plattsburgh has arrived on campus, and plans have been formulated to "present" the long-awaited book formally to the campus community and the community at-large.

History Professor Douglas Skopp's Bright With Promise: From the Normal and Training School to SUNY Plattsburgh 1889-1989 will be claimed as a record of the institution's heritage, and be placed on sale, in a public ceremony scheduled for 4 p.m. next Friday (Sept. 22) in the vicinity of the podium-level main entrance to Feinberg Library. The presentation proceedings, another highlight of the college's ongoing 100th anniversary celebration, will culminate more than two years' work by Skopp and his professional colleagues and students.

Bright With Promise, a 250-page volume containing more than 500 historical photos, was published by the Donning Company of Norfolk, Va. The 2,000-copy, hard-cover, limited edition features nameplates signed individually by its author. They will go on sale in the vicinity of the entrance to Feinberg Library immediately following the presentation. (Continued on next page)

College Logged $4.2 Million in Grants During Academic 1988-89

The college has received more than $4.2 million from grant applications filed during the 1988-89 academic year, according to Sue Spissinger, director of Sponsored Research. As of August 11, Spissinger said, 86 of the 203 applications filed were funded, at a total of $4,253,397. Sixteen applications filed during the 1988-89 year are still pending.

Of the 203 grant applications submitted this past year, Spissinger explained, 75 were full proposals to external funding agencies (45 were funded, 12 are pending), 14 were full proposals to the SUNY Research Foundation (six were funded), 104 were individual applications (30 were funded and three are pending), and 10 were pre-applications to various agencies to determine whether they would consider a full proposal (five were accepted and one is pending).

Both the number of applications filed during the year and the amount funded from the pool is considerably higher than during the 1987-88 year, Spissinger said. Last year, 128 grant applications were funded at a total of $2,553,025.

"These figures," Spissinger said, "reflect faculty and staff commitment to address some critical issues at the college and to seek external support to help carry the costs of those programs." She pointed out that many people think that the majority of grant applications are primarily for research, but that is not the case. In fact, of the 51 full proposals funded during the 1988-89 academic year, only 18 focused on research, while 7 focused on public service. The other 26 won approval for education support or instructional enhancement, for example, Upward Bound, Special Services Project and three National Science Foundation grants for equipment in the classroom.

"We're very pleased at the continued increase in grant activity," Spissinger said, "and we encourage faculty and staff to keep submitting applications. The competition is getting increasingly difficult, since more colleges and universities are submitting more and more applications, but SUNY Plattsburgh is highly competitive."

Spissinger added that results of a national survey, designed to compare SUNY Plattsburgh's grant activity and success rate with other colleges of like size and classification, are being finalized and should be available toward the end of October.

Campus Child Care Center Receives State Grant of Up to $65,000

The SUNY Plattsburgh Child Care Center has been informed by the New York State Labor/Management Child Care Advisory Committee that it will receive an enrichment grant of up to $65,000 in fiscal year 1989-90 to fund its operations.

Funding for the program is made through a cooperative joint labor/management effort between the Governor's Office of Employee Relations, the Civil Service Employees Association, the Public Employees Federation, United University Professions, and Council 82, AFSCME. Grant amounts are determined by a formula that takes into account both center size and the number of full-and part-time staff.

The SUNY Plattsburgh Center, a not-for-profit corporation licensed by the Department of Social Services to provide care for infants and children through pre-kindergarten age, recently expanded to accommodate 60 children. Now in its fifth year of operation, it is staffed by 10 full-time employees, one part-time employee and by 15 students who also work on a part-time basis.

According to Terry Holscher, media services coordinator at the college and chairperson of the Center's board of directors, clients overwhelmingly are affiliated with SUNY Plattsburgh but the agency's services are available to all state employees. Twenty-five of the Center's parent-clients at present are Plattsburgh State students.

Besides grant monies, which are tied to the public employee unions contract period, which expires in 1991, other sources of funds include SUNY Central Administration, parent fees (based on a sliding scale) and fund-raising activities. The college provides space in Sibley Hall for the Center as well as in-kind services such as heat, lights and maintenance.

Holscher said that no part of the enrichment grant can be used for salaries. Besides helping to pay for program necessities, such as liability insurance and legal counsel, initiatives that now can be addressed include upgrading the Center's playground and its resources for children and establishing a "parenting" program for clients.

Canadian Studies Center Funded for School 'Outreach' Activities

The Government of Canada has provided the Center for the Study of Canada a grant in the amount of $10,000 for outreach activities.

Dr. Richard Beach, director of the Center, said the grant is the largest awarded by the Canadian Government in the current competition. The money will be used, Beach explained, to continue programs the Center provides for elementary and secondary schools across the United States. Those programs include curriculum materials, the national newsletter "Teaching Canada," school visitations and workshops for teachers.

Beach commented, "This grant is one of many that the Center has received from the Canadian Government over the past ten years. We believe this support exemplifies the confidence that they have in our program, our faculty and our students."

tion program, and they will be available also in the College Store. The cost per book is $30, plus tax.

Next Friday's ceremony will begin with welcoming remarks by President Charles O. Warren. He will be followed on the program by Curtis E. Shipman, president of the Plattsburgh College Foundation. The Foundation sponsored publication of this book.

Author Skopp will then discuss the task of producing Bright With Promise, and Warren will present the first copy of the book to Cerise Oberman, college librarian, who will accept it on behalf of the library and the college. President Warren will also present special copies of the book to several individuals who have or have had special ties to the college through the years to the present. Those invited to receive the book include:

Ruth Angell, widow of former President (1954-74) George W. Angell; SUNY Provost and former President Joseph C. Burke (1974-86) and his wife, Joan; Judith L. Duken '59, former chairperson of the College Council and member of the SUNY Board of Trustees; Robert M. Garrow '54, chairperson of the College Council; Dr. Annette L. Manganel, professor emeritus of education and chairperson of the college's Centennial Celebration Committee; Dr. Edward E. "Doc" Redcay, professor emeritus of psychology and former acting president (1952-54) of the college; Mr. Shipman; Dr. Skopp; Rolando Thorne '72, president of the Plattsburgh Alumni Association; Eleanor Ward, widow of former President (1933-52) Charles Ward; and Nancy N. Warren, wife of SUNY Plattsburgh's current president.

In commenting on pending completion of the book project, Skopp acknowledged the support he received from College Photographer Robin Brown ("... whose work is the heart of Bright With Promise") and students who helped with the research. He cited, in particular, May 1989 graduates Kevin Michael Days and Joseph DeSalvo, both history majors, and Dominic Cordisco, a senior English major.

The main level stack area in Feinberg Library will remain open for quiet study during the presentation ceremony.

'Blue Light' Phones Installed

Public Safety Officer Alex Benware demonstrates use of new "blue light" emergency phone system installed recently in five conspicuous campus locations to student Taylor Niner. The system, installed in response to a proposal from several campus groups to strengthen campus security, is virtually vandal proof and has proven to be effective on other university campuses. The emergency phones are two-way speaker systems activated simply by opening the door and pushing a button. A signal is received in the Office of Safety and Security, automatically relaying the location of the caller in the event there is no voice on the line. Response by public safety personnel is immediate. Lawrence Lorch, director of public safety, states that he and his staff welcome any practical use of the system, including escort service. The phones are located in the roadway area near Moffitt Hall; on the Harrington Hall side of Rugar Street near the Broad Street junction; in front of the Myers Fine Arts Building facing the Kehoe parking lot; on Rugar Street near Champlain Valley Hall; and on Beekman Street on the Hawkins Hall side of Hudson Hall. More blue light phones will be installed in the future.

$6,000 Pyramid Gift to Support Front-Desk Simulator Purchase

The Plattsburgh College Foundation has received a $6,000 gift from the Pyramid Champlain Company in support of the college's hotel and restaurant management program. The donor company owns and operates Champlain Centres in Plattsburgh.

According to Daniel Milliman, director of development, the grant will enable the college to acquire a complete front-desk simulation system for use by hotel and restaurant management majors. The simulator will provide hands-on training for students who are planning careers in hotel management and tourism. Initiated a year ago, Plattsburgh offers the only approved bachelor's degree program in hotel and restaurant management in the SUNY system.

"This is the second consecutive year that Champlain Centres has helped us obtain a Pyramid Champlain grant," commented Milliman. "We're grateful to its management for understanding our needs and the importance of specific educational initiatives to the welfare of the North Country community, and for responding generously to our appeals."

Last year, Milliman noted, the Pyramid Champlain Company provided $3,500 for the purchase of furniture and equipment for the Alzheimer's Disease Assistance Center in Sibley Hall.

Convocation

Chamber Music Series Features Trumpet and Flugelhorn Recital

The Champlain Chamber Music Series will present a trumpet and flugelhorn recital by Dr. Marshall Onofrio at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, September 19 in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium. Onofrio will be accompanied by Kathryn Stuart on piano and Robert Hall, baritone. The recital is free and open to the public.

The program includes, among others, Molter's "Concerto No. 1," Starer's "The Mystic Trumpeter," and "The Sonata for Trumpet and Piano, Op. 73" by Neils Viggo Bentzon. The final selection will feature Hall as narrator for Anthony Plog's "Animal Ditties," chosen from Ogden Nash's poems.

Howarth Is First Distinguished Visiting Professor of 1989-90

The first Distinguished Visiting Professor of the academic year is on campus. Dr. John Howarth, a national leader in honors and undergraduate education, will spend a total of eight weeks on campus, spread throughout the year. He arrived September 11 and will be on campus through September 24, will return from November 27 - December 8, and will be back for two additional two-week periods in the spring.

Dr. David Mowry, director of the Honors Center and the official campus host for Howarth's visit, said Howarth will work on a number of projects associated with the Honors Program, including honors science education and a 'community mentors' project. He will also visit a number of classes and work with several student groups.

On Friday, September 15, Howarth will offer a workshop on "Learning and Teaching — Styles and Processes" at 2:30 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge. Dr. Ingrun Lafleur, associate vice president for academic affairs, said, "Dr. Howarth is interested in understanding learning as a cognitive psychological process and has undertaken to apply work from humanistic and developmental psychology to learning style. His workshop is one of a series so that we may share ideas and experiences as practitioners, reflecting upon and engaging in continuing inquiry about our practice as teachers, scholars and professionals." The workshop will be followed by a reception at 4:30 p.m., sponsored by the Honors Council.

Howarth is professor of physics at the University of Maryland, College Park, and was, until his recent retirement from that post, director of that institution's University Honors Program. He is a former president of the National Collegiate Honors Council. He has also served as a senior physicist at England's Sheffield National Center for Radiotherapy and as a consultant with General Dynamics Corporation. Howarth has had training in humanistic and developmental psychology, experimental psychology of the visual process and the visual arts.

Additional information on Howarth's schedule is available from Mowry at 564-3075.

for student affairs, has been named assistant editor of the New York State Cooperative Experiential Education Association publication, Newsline. . For the second consecutive year, Dr. Kenneth Hoeltzel, professor in the Center for Human Resources, has been selected by the State Education Department to serve on a committee that will choose the ten Distinguished Occupational Teacher Educators in New York State. The winners, one from each of ten economic planning regions, will receive their awards at the Occupational Education regional conference next spring. . Dr. Jane Gore, professor in the Center for Human Resources, has been appointed to the New York State Interagency Committee for the Health Education and Services Network as an advisory council member serving Region 4. The network represents a partnership of several state agencies, including the State Education Department, the Division of Substance Abuse Services, the Division of Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse, the Department of Health and the Council on Children and Families, and the council Gore serves is one of 12 that will join together "to promote the importance of establishing comprehensive primary prevention programs in the state's schools and communities."

P/D Center, in Kehoe 21 Years, to Move to Service Building

The college's Printing and Duplicating Center, a ground-floor Kehoe Administration Building fixture since that building was occupied in 1968, will move Friday of this week to new quarters in the service building on Sanborn Ave.

Services will cease at noon tomorrow, but clients can expect them to resume fully by the following Thursday (Sept. 21). John Homburger, the college's chief fiscal officer, said the move came about following extensive review of space needs on campus. The new P/D Center, he said, will be more adaptable to running and maintaining a printing enterprise, and its relocation will free-up a premium location in Kehoe.

"The next use of the current printing and duplicating area is being studied," remarked Homburger, "and the emphasis is on the practical. Meanwhile, we are committed to making the new P.D Center more efficient and more responsive to the needs of the campus. However, this will require the cooperation of all who make use of printing and duplicating services, especially from the standpoint of planning. We intend to develop a catalog of sorts that will make people more aware of pre-production scheduling procedures as well as publications costs and services."

Homburger credited College Auxiliary Services for "facilitating" the move. He said that CAS is helping to finance it besides overseeing its dynamics.

Men's Soccer Team Places Second in Cardinal Classic Tourney

The College of St. Rose defeated Bard College, 5-0, and St. John Fisher College, 2-1, over the weekend to win the 1989 Plattsburgh State Cardinal Classic Tournament. Plattsburgh took the second place trophy by recording a tie against St. John Fisher, 3-3 OT, and Bard, 5-0.

Also, on Wednesday, the women's soccer team played a strong game against Johnson State, winning 2-0. Both goals were scored by freshman Dana Ronca. On Saturday the women's team lost its conference opener to Cortland State, 3-0. Although the Cards were held scoreless, they played their strongest game of the season. Plattsburgh goalkeeper Colleen McTygue recorded 20 saves.

The men's and women's cross-country teams opened their seasons Saturday by hosting Division I University of Vermont. The women's team lost to Vermont 21-40, but Julie Dobert took second place with a time of 23:04 and Suzanne Kennedy placed 5th with a time of 23:26.

Another Record Turnout Expected for Parents' Weekend '89

Parents' Weekend '89 promises to bring another record crowd of parents to campus this weekend (September 22-24). Scheduled events begin on Friday, with parents invited to attend classes, cheer on their students at Burghy Games competition or attend a planetarium show. The Student Association is sponsoring a public lecture (at 8 p.m. in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium) by Joe Clark, the New Jersey high school principal who gained national attention for turning a problem-ridden school in New Jersey into a model school. Tickets are available at the Angell Center Desk.

New on the program this year is a series of "Saturday Seminars." Three concurrent seminars will be held in Yokum Hall at 9 a.m. Dr. Peter Gore will talk about "Pesticides and You," Dr. Bryan Higgins' topic is "Toward an Understanding of Latin America," and Ed Engelbride will discuss "Greek Life on Campus." At 10 a.m., Dr. Douglas Skopp will present "Happy Birthday, Plattsburgh State," a discussion of the college's first 100 years. The Centennial videotape will also be shown.

Nursing students will offer a free blood pressure screening; the athletic schedule includes a cross-country meet, women's tennis match and both men's and women's soccer games. At 1:30 p.m., Museum Director Edward Brohel will conduct a museum tour beginning at the Myers Fine Arts Gallery, and at 2:30 p.m., Dr. Ed Miller will present a Chemistry Magic Show in Hudson Hall Room 106. The formal induction of new Phi Eta Sigma members will be held at 4 p.m. in the Centennial Room.

Saturday evening's events include a reception and dinner hosted by President and Mrs. Charles O. Warren, a piano bar featuring music by Jean Morlock in the Centennial Room and a 21 Club in the Point. The weekend concludes on Sunday, with the Campus Community Carnival and continued action in the Burghy Games competitions.

All events are open to parents, students, and other members of the campus community, although tickets are necessary for some events. The complete schedule is available in the Office of College Relations and Development.

Lessler Joins College as Technical Assistance Center Director

Alan Lessler, former executive director of the Southeast Idaho Council of Governments in Pocatello, has joined SUNY Plattsburgh as director of its Economic Development and Technical Assistance Center (EDTAC). His appointment became effective on Sept. 16.

As EDTAC director, Lessler will be responsible for leading a staff of "practical problem solvers" who analyze regional economic issues and support development initiatives in the 16 northernmost counties in New York State. EDTAC projects focus on small business development and the provision of economic and demographic information and interaction with economic development organizations in the center's service region. Lessler and his center associates will be seeking to involve interested campus colleagues and students in projects where faculty expertise is greatly needed.

Lessler was among nearly 30 candidates who applied for the position and were screened by a seven-person search committee. The position had been vacant since last November.

"We reviewed the credentials and interviewed several individuals who could no doubt function very well in this position," commented John Homburger, the college's senior business officer and chairperson of the search committee, "but Alan Lessler was the clear-cut choice. His experience and educational background ideally match the qualifications we were looking for, but we were impressed also by what he can bring to the job in terms of leadership. We are

Co-op Program Wins 3-Year Funding from U.S. Ed. Department

The college's Cooperative Education Program has received funding for another three years, according to Dr. Ann Hasting, associate vice president for student affairs and co-author (with Patrick Lennahan) of the grant application. The U.S. Department of Education will provide the program with nearly $300,000, to be used for additional personnel to expand student and employer participation, travel funds, equipment funds (computer, portable VCR) and general operating funds.

The Cooperative Education Program was begun in 1982 when the U.S. Department of Education approved a five-year grant. Now fully integrated into the Career/Life Planning Center, the program has placed between 1200 and 1500 students in actual job situations which allow them to gain practical experience in a potential career field during their college years.

Hasting added that the Co-op Demonstration Grant, approved last year for three years, has had its second year of funding approved at $96,000. That project, directed by Hasting and coordinated by Vangerl Dupigny, was designed to develop a model cooperative education program for campuses in rural settings. During the first year, workshops were presented at SUNY Oneonta, Onondaga Community College and the Agricultural and Technical Colleges at Canton, Morrisville and Delhi. Upcoming workshops are scheduled for Cayuga, Columbia-Greene, Corning, Finger Lakes, Niagara and Tompkins-Cortland Community Colleges.

Additionally, a centralized data bank, which will provide co-op placement data to the 18 participating SUNY campuses, is expected to become operational during the fall semester.

SUNY Plattsburgh Art Museum to be Inaugurated on October 7

SUNY Plattsburgh President Charles O. Warren, with the endorsement of the College Council, has created a new entity on campus — the SUNY Plattsburgh Art Museum. While all of the components of Sculpture Park, the permanent art collection of more than 4,800 works, the Museum Without Walls program, and various professional, office, storage, curatorial and preparatory rooms.

Museum Director Edward Brohel said, "Although the museum is the immediate result of the vision of the college's current administration, in a larger sense, it has been created by the interest and generosity of many college and community supporters over the last sixty years."

The college's permanent art collection is valued at more than $5 million. Over the years, several major art collections have been donated to the college, including the largest U.S. collection of works by Rockwell Kent, more than 300 pieces by sculptor Nina Winkel, two major gifts of contemporary artworks from the Martin S. Ackerman Foundation, a unique group of works by American and French 19th century masters donated by former gallery owner Regina Slatkin, and the newest gift, the Jeremyn Davern Collection.

Brohel noted another major form of support for the arts on campus. "The Plattsburgh Student Association," he said, "is the largest patron of the arts north of Albany. Its annual support of the program over the last fifteen years has provided the financial base for the evolution of the museum. In addition, the SA has developed a collection of notable art objects which it maintains for the continued edification of students to come."

The museum will be formally inaugurated on Saturday, October 7, with a ceremony at 5 p.m. in the Winkel Court and festivities until 7:30 p.m. in the various museum areas. The ceremony is free and open to all.

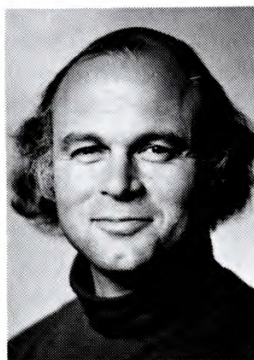

the museum have been in place for some time, the museum will offer a fully developed professional visual art experience to the college and community.

The museum is comprised of the Myers Fine Arts Gallery, the Rockwell Kent Gallery, the Winkel Sculpture Court, the Myers Lobby Gallery, the

Levitin's Book on Brazilian Writer Published by New Directions

Soulstorm: Stories by Clarice Lispector, a book of translations by Dr. Alexis Levitin, professor of English, has been published by the New Directions Publishing Company. The introduction for the book was written by noted American short story writer and activist Grace Paley.

Clarice Lispector (1925-1977), Levitin says, "has come to be considered the most important woman writer in contemporary Brazilian letters. She is the author of seven novels and short-story collections as well as children's books." Soulstorm contains 29 stories originally published in 1974.

Levitin began translating her work in 1974, after spending two years running a graduate program in English and American literature at the Federal University of Santa Catarina in Brazil. The translations of the various stories in the volume have appeared in numerous magazines over the years, including "Ms.," "New Letters," and "Translations," and won for Levitin the 1984 Van de Bovenkamp-Armand G. Erpf International Award, given by Columbia University's Translation Center.

Levitin has published five books of translated poetry, with another two accepted for publication in 1990. In 1987, he won the Betty Collady Award from "Quarterly Review of Literature." He recently concluded a six week bi-lingual reading tour of the United States and Canada with Brazilian poet Eugenio de Andrade, whose work he has also translated for publication.

French Revolution Commemoration Opens with Lecture by Levy

The inaugural event in a semester-long commemoration of the bicentennial of the French Revolution will be held on Friday, September 22. Dr. Darline Gay Levy, associate professor of history at New York University, will speak on "Women and Militant Citizenship in Revolutionary Paris" at 4 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge. Levy is the author of several books and many articles on 18th century French politics and the editor of a trilogy on women and revolutionary politics. Her lecture is free and open to the public.

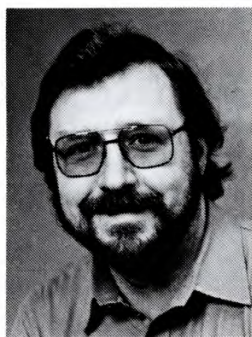

Dr. Caren Steinlight, assistant professor in the department of foreign languages and literature, and Edward Brohel, museum director, are co-chairing the commemoration on campus, in conjunction with a national celebration being coordinated by the American Committee on the French Revolution, which is headquartered in Washington, D.C. and chaired by Senator Charles Mathias. Among the planned campus activities are a film series, a concert, two additional lectures by visiting professors and two presentations by members of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty, all of which will be free and open to the campus and community.

Steinlight said, "The French Revolution is arguably the most important event in the modern history of the West, as it fundamentally transformed ideas and institutions in many parts of the world. The revolution and the enlightenment philosophy that guided it had great impact on the culture and values of the United States and the ideals of the original thirteen colonies had an incalculable influence on the revolution in France."

Wolosz Wins Continuation Grant From U.S. Department of Energy

Dr. Thomas Wolosz, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, has won a two-year continuation of an earlier grant from the U.S. Department of Energy's Office of Basic Energy Science to fund his study of the "Depositional and Diagenetic History of the Edgecliff Reefs (Middle Devonian Onondaga Formation of New York and Ontario)." Funding for the 1989-90 year has been set at $56,055.

Wolosz explained that the Edgecliff reefs are 350 million-year-old underground formations that run in a line from just south of Albany west to Buffalo and on into Ontario. Some of the formations hold natural gas, while others do not. Wolosz wants to understand the difference. "When I presented my initial proposal," he said, "I stated that two factors which are important in predicting the location of oil and gas bearing deposits — environmental and basinal controls on deposition and subsequent diagenetic history — were poorly understood for these reefs. Our research to date has greatly improved our understanding of those factors. Now we hope to complete our study."

Wolosz said that three students will assist him with the research project, Lisa Moore '91 of Cape Vincent, Christopher Murray '90 of Manlius, and Jackie Boulerville of Keeseville. Boulerville, a sophomore at AuSable Valley Central School, took part in the NSF Younger Scholars Program this summer and is working on this project as part of that program.

Women Earn Split in Soccer; Ronca Continues Scoring Streak

The Cardinal women's soccer team broke even on the week, nipping Clarkson on Wednesday by a 1-0 count before bowing on the weekend at New Paltz, 6-2, but the scoring streak by freshman Dana Ronca continued to dominate the campus sports news.

Not only did Ronca tally the game-winner versus Clarkson and both goals in the loss at New Paltz, she continues as the only Plattsburgh State player to score this season. The Cardinals have five goals to their credit in five games, and Ronca has netted them all.

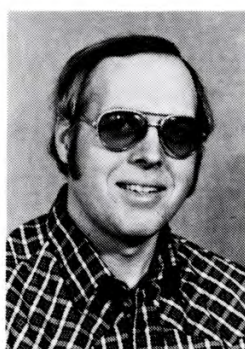

The men's soccer team suffered a scoring drought this past week, losing to SUNY rivals Albany and Cortland, 2-0 and 1-0, respectively. The women's volleyball squad finished in fifth place in the North Country Invitational Tournament hosted by Potsdam State. The Cards lost to Potsdam, St. John Fisher and Union in the opening round, but rebounded to defeat Potsdam and Clarkson in the consolation round. Junior Laurie Thompson was the only Cardinal player named to the all-tournament team.

It was a good week in women's tennis. The team won its first two matches, edging both Clarkson 6-3 and Potsdam 5-4. First and second singles players Renate Kaye and Alison Elston won their matches, then teamed-up to take their doubles match as well.

Brannigan Co-authors Manual for Scoring Bender-Gestalt Test

Dr. Gary Brannigan, professor of psychology, and Dr. Nancy Brunner, who earned a master's degree in clinical psychology from SUNY Plattsburgh in 1982, have published a manual entitled "The Modified Version of the Bender-Gestalt Test for Preschool and Primary School Children." The manual was published by the Clinical Psychology Publishing Co., Inc.

Brannigan explained that the Bender-Gestalt test is one of the most common tools used to predict academic achievement levels. It is also used as a diagnostic tool to pinpoint perceptual-motor integration problems.

The modified version, developed by Brannigan and Brunner, is based on eight years of research with more than 1,000 kindergarten through second grade students in several North Country school districts. The two have developed an alternative scoring method for the popular test, which they believe allows more accurate assessment.

"Earlier scoring methods," Brannigan said, "looked for specific kinds of errors. Our method is an integrated system which evaluates the whole response. We believe it is more appropriate to this particular age group and have found it very useful in identifying children who are at risk for academic failure."

Center for Study of Canada Completes Ambitious Video Project

The Center for the Study of Canada has completed a video, text and guide on the Canadian Parliamentary System, a project which Director Richard Beach calls "one of our most ambitious projects to date."

Beach explained, "After two years of planning and development, we have, in cooperation with the New York State Department of Education (specifically the North Country Teacher Resource Center and the Center for Learning Technologies) and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, completed a half-hour video and an accompanying text and guide on the parliamentary system. All of these agencies provided substantial funding for the project."

The materials are directed at high school and introductory-level college students and their teachers, Beach said. The complete video package includes an instructor's guide and five 8x11 display photographs. The 50-page instructor's guide includes student and teacher readings, suggested teaching strategies, 13 graphic figures for reproduction, a selected bibliography and the video script. The package will be marketed in the United States through the Canadian Film Distribution Center here at SUNY Plattsburgh and in Canada by CBC Enterprises. The video and/or text may be reviewed at the CFDC.

Beach said that the project was a model of cooperation. "The CBC assigned their top producers to the project, and Don Newman, the nationally recognized commentator, agreed to review the script and serve as narrator. Numerous authorities throughout both countries served as consultants for the text. Dr. Martin Lubin, professor of political science and a long-time Center associate, served as an important consultant on most phases of the project. George Sherman, also a Center associate and co-editor of "Teaching Canada," was the principal writer of the video script and text."

Beach added, "We anticipate that the video and text will be used widely in the United States and will, as a result, bring considerable recognition to our Canadian Studies program and to the college."

Centennial Celebration Program

Twelve to Participate in First 'Alumni-in-Residence' Program

Twelve distinguished alumni from the last five decades have agreed to participate in a newly established, year-long "Alumni-in Residence Program."

The program, which will begin in early November, was created by a Centennial Celebration Committee sub-group composed of faculty, staff and students, and chaired by Dr. Jane Gore, professor in the Center for Human Resources. It is designed to promote maximum interaction between alumni who have excelled in a variety of professions and avocations and students who share their interests.

"We're still working out the schedules for some of the 12," commented Gore, "but all have agreed to visit before the current academic year is over. We received more than 60 nominations for this program from members of the college community, and we're grateful to those who submitted names. While some of our people may be disappointed because their nominees aren't on the list, they should know that we intend to continue this program beyond the centennial year."

The visiting alumni will each spend three days in residence on campus, arriving on a Sunday evening and departing the following Wednesday morning. They will be hosted by students and take their meals in campus dining halls, and they will attend classes with students, conduct seminars, meet with students in small groups, and take part in sessions coordinated by the Career/Life Planning Center.

The alumni who will take part in the program and their areas of interest/expertise are:

Tom Chapin '66, environmental issues, music, political science; Dr. Thomas Chen '70, the biological sciences; Dr. Patricia Devine '81, psychology; Dr. Roberta Driscoll '76, education; Dawn Fratangelo '82, communication/mass media; Dr. Robert Maher '74, education; Dr. Peter Morici Jr. '70, political science, Bryan O'Byrne '53, theatre; Rose Pandozy '70, human services; Jane Rivas, M.D., medicine; Dr. Thomas Rooney '48, theatre; and Rolando Thorne '72, human services.

Davern Collection to be Formally Dedicated on October 7

The Jeremyn Davern Collection will be formally dedicated as part of the SUNY Plattsburgh Art Museum on October 7, as part of the museum's inauguration ceremony, which begins at 5 p.m. in the Winkel Sculpture Court. The collection was donated to the college this summer by the late Jeremyn Davern of Chazy and New York City in memory of her late parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Davern and her late sister, Jeanne Davern.

The Davern Collection was first seen in its entirety at a gala reception hosted by Davern and President Charles Warren at New York City's Grand Central Art Galleries in July. It will be on exhibit in the Myers Gallery from October 7 through November 30.

'Bright With Promise'

A highlight of last Friday's formal presentation of "Bright With Promise," History Professor Douglas Skopp's history of SUNY Plattsburgh's first 100 years, to the campus community and the general public was the ceremonial presentation of special copies of the book by President Charles O. Warren to several individuals who have or have had noteworthy ties to the college through the years. Shown with their copies of the book are: (seated) Dr. Edward E. "Doc" Redcay; (front row, l-r) President Warren; Nancy Warren; Professor Emeritus of Education Dr. Annette Manganel, who chairs the college's Centennial Celebration Committee; Robin Brown, college photographer who worked side-by-side with Dr. Skopp on the book project; and Author Skopp; and (back row, l-r) Ruth Angell, widow of former President (1954-74) George W. Angell, Robert M. Garrow, '54, chairperson of the College Council; Professor Emeritus of History Dr. Hans Hirsch, who accepted the book on behalf of Eleanor Ward, widow of former President (1933-52) Charles Ward; Curtis E. Shipman, president of the Plattsburgh College Foundation, which sponsored publication of the book; Malcolm Lavery, director of alumni affairs, who accepted the book on behalf of Alumni Association President Rolando Thorne '72; and Judith Duken '59, former chairperson of the College Council and member of the SUNY Board of Trustees. "Bright With Promise" is on sale ($30 plus tax) in the College Store.

The collection consists of about 45 pieces and includes oil paintings, watercolors, drawings and etchings by late 19th and early 20th century American and English realistic artists of the pre-Raphaelite movement, as well as some contemporary realists. Women are the subject of two-thirds of the works and landscapes make up the rest of the collection.

Museum Director Edward Brohel commented, "This collection enhances our permanent collection for several reasons. First, the work is by artists whose work we do not currently possess, of a time period in which we are developing the collection. Then, the subject of women and the English flavor is appealing in an interdisciplinary way. Also, it is a lesson in connoisseurship, since the work is of the highest quality and is very well presented in fine period frames. Finally, Ms. Davern's family is part of Plattsburgh's history and this gift in their memory should be of great local interest."

Jeremyn Davern was born in Plattsburgh, the daughter of a prominent attorney. She served for a year as secretary to the late Dr. Charles Ward, then moved to New York City, where she worked in public relations and fund-raising for many years. She retired from the Grand Central Art Gallery approximately a year ago. Davern died in August.

French Revolution Bicentennial Group Announces Full Schedule

The campus committee to commemorate the Bicentennial of the French Revolution has announced its complete fall schedule of activities.

Begun last Friday with a lecture by Distinguished Visiting Lecturer Darline Gay Levy, the series continues with the visit of Dr. Bertram Gordon (see related story) from October 1 - 14. Dr. Robert Rosenblum, Distinguished Visiting Lecturer, will present a lecture on art in Paris during Thomas Jefferson's time on October 19. Two Tuesday Reflections presentations ("Words, Sounds and Images of the French Revolution" on October 24 and "Buchner: Poet and Revolutionary" on November 14) by Plattsburgh faculty members will also focus on the French Revolution. A film series will be held on five consecutive Friday evenings beginning October 13 and will include "Danton," "Marat/Sade," "La Marseillaise," "La Nuit de Varennes," and "1789." Additionally, a concert featuring Plattsburgh music faculty and friends will be held on November 7 and an exhibit of "Aspects of the Revolution" will be on display in the Feinberg Library October 1 - 31.

The series is coordinated by Dr. Caren Steinlight, assistant professor of foreign languages and literature, and Museum Director Edward Brohel. It is being sponsored in part by funds provided by the college's Centennial Celebration Committee.

Hoffmann, Gordon to Begin Visits as Distinguished Professors

Two Distinguished Visiting Professors will arrive on campus on October 1 for a two-week stay. German film-maker Eva Hoffmann, whose specialty is documentary film-making, particularly relating to women in the Third World, will be on campus through October 15, while Dr. Bertram Gordon, whose field is 20th century European history and gastronomy, will be in residence through October 14.

Hoffmann studied journalism at the Universities of Kiel, Vienna and Munster. A freelance journalist for several years, she joined German TV ZDF (one of the two major German television networks) in 1962 as an editor and film-maker. Among her most important films are "Cut, But Do Not Cut Too Deep: Women in the Arabian Sudan," "Living With Droughts: Rural Women in Mali," "The Every-Day-Violence Against Women: Examples in Rendsburg," "Cover Thy Head: Afghan Women Exiled in Pakistan," and "The

Sigma Pi Fraternity 'Adopts' Region's Red Cross Chapter

The Sigma Pi fraternity has signed an official contract with the local chapter of the American Red Cross "adopting the service organization."

Jeanie Roberts, executive director of the Red Cross, said that the nineteen members of the fraternity will participate in many aspects of the agency's programs. Their first project will be to participate in a training program in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, with several members slated to eventually become CPR instructors.

Participating in the signing of the contract were (l. to r.) Board Chairperson David Ousley, Executive Director Jeanie Roberts, Vice Chairperson (and former nursing faculty member) Clara Johnson, Sigma Pi President Chris Christensen and Vice President R. Scott Griffen.

Some members will undergo training for service to military families. Other will participate in training in sheltering people during times of disasters, while still others will learn about the Lifeline Program.

Additionally, the fraternity members will be involved with picking up items donated for families hit by fire or other disasters, help with office mailings, and participate in fund-raising projects for the Red Cross.

Women of Kumahra: Indian Mountain Dwellers and Their Village." Hoffmann is currently doing research on a film about the Jewish population (which was wiped out) of a small town in northern Germany.

During her stay on campus, Hoffmann will meet with several classes for showings and discussions of her films. Three public lectures are also on her schedule. "Cover Thy Head" will be shown at 4:15 p.m. on October 4 and "The Daily Violence Against Women" will be seen and discussed at 12:15 p.m. on October 5 (as part of the Women's Studies Forum), both in the Cardinal Lounge. Additionally, "The Women of Kumahra" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. on October 12 in CL 200. These three events are free and open to the public. Hoffmann will be hosted by Daui Woodin and Dr. Ingrun Lafleur.

Gordon, who is professor of European history at Mills College in California, is currently on leave in France, courtesy of an NEH Fellowship, where he is preparing a book on the radical right in post-war France. He holds a Ph.D. from Rutgers University and has written numerous articles on European Fascisms. Gordon is the author of Collaborationism in France During the Second World War. He has served as president of the Western Society for French History and as a member of the West Coast Network of Nutritional Anthropologists. Gordon is a member of the special National Committee for the Celebration of the Bicentennial of the French Revolution and his visit to campus is part of that celebration in Plattsburgh.

Gordon will deliver lectures in various classes on fascism, Europe before World War I, the methodologies of a social historian, and the culture of food and eating. He will give a public lecture on "Fascist Rhetoric Regarding the French Revolution" at 7:30 p.m. on October 5 in the Cardinal Lounge. His host is Dr. Martin Lubin.

Hoffmann and Gordon will offer a joint colloquium at 4 p.m. on October 13 at the Honors Center.

College, NCCC OK Transfer Pact

A new transfer agreement for human services students has been signed by North Country Community College and SUNY Plattsburgh, according to Dr. Ingrun Lafleur, associate vice president for academic affairs. The agreement, Lafleur explained, will facilitate the transfer of students from NCCC to the B.S. degree program in human services on this campus and will allow NCCC students in the program to complete their course of study at SUNY Plattsburgh within four semesters.

The agreement provides for regular visits to each other's campuses by faculty, staff and students from both schools. Students at NCCC will be carefully advised what course sequences they need in order to complete the B.S. degree.

Dr. Leonard Fontana, associate professor of sociology, is the author of a book review (in press) of Earl Rubington and Martin S. Weinberg (eds), THE STUDY OF SOCIAL PROBLEMS, 4th Edition, New York, Oxford University Press, 1989 in Teaching Sociology (a journal of the American Sociological Association). . . Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development, has accepted an appointment by the State University of New York Council for University Affairs and Development as Council liaison to the New York State Legislature. Hamernik, professor of physics and speech and hearing science, have filed an invention disclosure entitled "Method and system for controllably generating Gaussian and non-Gaussian random waveforms" with the Technology Transfer Office of SUNY Research Foundation. . . Dr. Marshall Onofrio, assistant professor of music, performed as featured jazz soloist this past summer with the American Music Abroad Jazz Ensemble, which presented 14 concerts while touring seven European nations. Last April, Onofrio's composition, "That I Did Always Love," set for voice and organ, was performed in a recital of American song in Elizabeth, NJ. The following month, his article, "Integrating Improvisation into the Trumpet Curriculum" was published in the Journal of the International Trumpet Guild. . . Dr. Naomi McCormick, professor of psychology, has accepted an invitation to serve a three-year term on the Board of Consulting Editors of the Journal of Psychology and Human Sexuality.

Dow Jones Officer to Lecture Here Marking Joint Centennials

A corporate officer with the Dow Jones & Company will visit SUNY Plattsburgh this week as a gesture marking the 100th anniversary of the founding of both the company and the college. Dow Jones, like Plattsburgh, was founded in the summer of 1889.

Steven Levene, circulation marketing director for Dow Jones, where he is responsible for circulation activities for The Wall Street Journal and Barron's, including advertising and promotion, direct mail, planning and analysis and educational services, will be on campus tomorrow (Sept. 28) to meet with students and to lecture at a meeting of the college's chapter of the American Marketing Association. He will speak to a class of Dr. Nancy Church's marketing students at 2:45 p.m. in Redcay Hall, then lecture at 4:30 p.m. in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge.

The latter program, to be followed by a reception, will feature a multimedia presentation that will include samples of advertising on videotape, audiotape and slides. Church said that the first 100 people who attend the presentation will receive a copy of The Wall Street Journal Guide to Money and Markets, compliments of Dow Jones & Company.

Men's Soccer Team Blanks Utica; Tennis Team Undefeated

In their only game last week, the men's soccer team shut-out Utica Tech, 6-0, at home on Saturday. Brad Stever tallied a goal and two assists, and Jamie Loomis came off the injury list to score a goal and three assists.

The women's soccer team lost twice during the week — 5-1 to St. Lawrence on Tuesday and 1-0 on Saturday to Binghamton State. Meanwhile the women's tennis team beat Champlain College, 7-2, to remain undefeated with a 3-0 record. Kerry Hodgins won her No. 4 singles match and teamed up with Sonya Stanley to win the No. 1 doubles match.

The women's volleyball team won two of five matches at the SUNYAC meet in Oneonta over the weekend. The Cardinal spikers defeated Potsdam 14-16, 15-10, 15-3 and Binghamton 9-15, 15-13, 15-9, but lost to Cortland, Oneonta and New Paltz State. A five-year Cardinal Classic unbeaten streak ended for the women's cross country team, which placed second at the meet over the weekend. McGill University won the meet with 25 points, while Plattsburgh finished with 43 points. Suzanne Kennedy was the first Plattsburgh finisher with a third place time of 23:17.

St. Lawrence University won the Men's Cross Country Cardinal Classic with 35 points. Plattsburgh finished in sixth place in an eight-team field. Matt Nephew was the first Cardinal to cross the line (13th place).

College to Host Major Conference on 'East-West Joint Ventures'

The first international conference on "Recent Developments in East-West Joint Ventures," co-sponsored by the SUNY Plattsburgh and Moscow State University Centers for the Study of Joint Ventures, will be held on campus October 19-20. This milestone conference will feature presentations by American and Soviet economists, educators and government officials.

Dr. Miles Martin, coordinator of Plattsburgh's Center for the Study of Joint Ventures, explained that the two universities established the centers shortly after Mikhail Gorbachev announced the Soviet Union's intention to begin joint ventures with the West. The formal agreement between SUNY and Moscow State marked the first such agreement between a Russian and American university and includes provisions for joint conferences, publications, and research; and exchange of specialists and scholars between the two universities.

"This first conference," he said, "follows the natural steps to the more open market with the USSR. For the first time this century, eight top-level Soviet economists will travel to this country to participate. Highly qualified experts, both Russian and American, in the fields of accounting, finance, management, risk analysis, legal aspects and cultural aspects of joint ventures will instruct participants on how to identify, select and expand into this new market."

Peter Hansen, executive director of the United Nations Centre on Transnational Corporations, will deliver the keynote address on October 19. Among other presenters are Dr. Anatolij Sheremet, winner of the Lomonosov Award at Moscow State and the leading accounting expert in the Soviet Union; Dr. E.G. Proscurnja, of the Plekhanov Institute of National Economy in Moscow; Dr. Iskra Roudakova and Dr. V.P. Kolesov of the Moscow State economics faculty; and Dr. Sergeii Novikov, a senior researcher at that university. Other experts on joint ventures in Egypt, China, and Hungary will also be on the program.

Martin added that Sheremet and Dr. Sergej Shapigoozov, associate professor of accounting at Moscow State, are currently in residence on campus. The two are working with Martin and Dr. Zubaidur Rahman, under the scholar exchange section of the SUNY-Moscow State agreement, to finish two books on the differences in American and Soviet accounting systems and how those differences may be resolved.

Complete details on the conference are available from Martin or Rahman of the Center for the Study of Joint Ventures.

Refurbished Rockwell Kent Paintings Returned to Campus

The college's 19 Rockwell Kent oil paintings, which have not been seen on campus for approximately two years, have been returned to their home in the Kent Gallery. The paintings, explained Museum Director Edward Brohel, have been refurbished and reframed.

Brohel said that several years ago, James Hamm of Fine Arts and Technical Services in Buffalo was hired to survey the condition of the paintings. Four were considered to be in a high risk state and the other 15 needed varying degrees of work. A grant from the Institute of Museum Services (a federal agency that assists museums in conserving their resources) matched contributions from the Student Association, College Auxiliary Services, the Plattsburgh College Foundation, the Council on the Arts for Clinton County (through the DEC program), and local businesses to pay for the restoration.

Brohel said, "James Hamm has brought the paintings back to their original condition. His efforts make it possible for the paintings to be available and enjoyed by generations yet to come."

In addition to the 19 oil paintings, the Kent Gallery is now exhibiting three Kent paintings which have not previously been seen on campus. Two landscapes are on loan from Mrs. Katherine Mackinon, a friend and former neighbor of the late Rockwell Kent. The third, a study of an Eskimo woman skinning a pelt, is on permanent loan from the University of Pennsylvania. The painting, Brohel said, was willed to the University, which does not have an art facility to display the work. In order that it be displayed, the University has graciously placed it in the Kent Gallery.

"The Kent Collection, donated by the artist's widow, Sally Kent Gorton, was the first of the large gifts of art given to the college, and therefore truly established a museum concept at Plattsburgh," Brohel commented. The restored Kents will be a special focal point of the gala inauguration of the SUNY Plattsburgh Art Museum, which is scheduled for 5 - 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, October. 7.

Marcotte, Feinman, Florin, Manners Elected to Hall of Fame

A recently retired North Country educator, two former basketball stars and a distance runner who lost his life in Vietnam will be installed in the Plattsburgh State Sports Hall of Fame during mid-October Homecoming Weekend festivities. The inductees are:

- Ralph M. Marcotte '56 of Willsboro, an honors graduate of SUNY Plattsburgh who played every inning and in every game in baseball and soccer for four consecutive years;
- Linda J. Feinman '81 of Bloomsbury, N.J., an outstanding performer and team captain in basketball who graduated (cum laude) as the college's all-time leading scorer;
- Richard K. "Rick" Florin '61 of West Islip, a three-year starter in basketball who was captain and Most Valuable Player on the 1960-61 Cardinal team; and

Marcotte

Feinman

- Ralph W. Manners '66, formerly of New Hyde Park, who excelled in cross country and track and also swam and who was killed in action in August of 1968 when his aircraft was shot down near Tonle Cham, Vietnam. Manners will become the first person to be inducted posthumously to the Sports Hall of Fame.

The four will join 21 others who have been enshrined since the Hall of Fame was established at Plattsburgh State in 1984. It was created by the Cardinal Booster Club "to give recognition to individuals who have participated in the college's intercollegiate athletic program and whose achievements and contributions exemplify the ideals of good citizenship." The induction ceremony is scheduled following brunch at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday, October 15.

Besides earning a reputation for endurance in two varsity sports, Marcotte compiled a career batting average of .300-plus while playing the infield, outfield and catching. He was a midfielder in soccer, and he was elected captain of the 1955 and 1956 Cardinal baseball teams.

Marcotte, who also holds the M.S. in Education degree from Plattsburgh (1959), retired this past year following a 30-year career as a teacher, coach and administrator in the Willsboro Central School system. He has received many honors not only for coaching success but also for community service activities that have benefited his community's schools, town government and fraternal and religious organizations.

Feinman amassed 856 points in three seasons as a Cardinal basketball player. She was named the student newspaper's woman "Athlete of the Year" in 1981 and she received the college's "Outstanding Scholar-Athlete" award. She earned her four-year degree, with honors, in business in six semesters.

Feinman, who holds the MBA in finance from Hofstra University, recently sold her interests in two central Long Island locations of a self-made business known as The Yogurt Patch Cafe to pursue doctoral study. In the three-year period following her graduation from Plattsburgh she advanced to the position as manager of the North American Banking Group Financial Services Division for Citibank/Citicorp, NA.

In 1960-61, his final season in the Cardinal uniform, Florin became the eighth leading rebounder in the nation — averaging 18 per game. A two-time member of the ECAC All-East Team, he was invited to a tryout with the Philadelphia Warriors of the NBA following graduation.

Florin has taught science at West Islip High School for 28 years. A three-time "Coach of the Year" in the Long Island Catholic Lacrosse League, he received the M.S. in education (biology) from SUNY Plattsburgh in 1965 and has completed advanced work in the sciences on government-sponsored grants at the University of Houston, Skidmore College and Suffolk University.

Manners was a walk-on who became one of SUNY's top cross country runners and who was instrumental in earning "instant respect" for a sport that was then new at the college. As a sophomore, he led the track team in points with 54, setting three distance event records in the process.

Following graduation, Manners joined the Air Force officer training program, earning his wings at Moody AFB in Georgia. He was awarded The Distinguished Flying Cross (posthumously) for heroism for his "selfless devotion to duty" during an ammunition airlift operation on August 26, 1968 when his aircraft "was struck by hostile fire and plunged to the ground."

SEFA Drive Underway With Goal to Surpass $30,000 Plateau

The 1990 State Employees Federated Appeal (SEFA) was launched last week at a breakfast meeting in the Angell College Center Centennial Room for the more than 50 campus workers who will serve the campaign.

The SUNY Plattsburgh appeal is being coordinated for the second consecutive year by Clara LaRose, senior account clerk in telecommunications. She said that the volunteer solicitors representing every campus office, department and center aren't wasting any time, noting that the drive had generated more than $2,000 in contributions from college employees by last Friday.

Joining Clara LaRose (right) at the recent breakfast meeting kickoff of the 1990 SEFA campus campaign are (left to right) Michael Mannix, executive director of the United Way of Clinton County; Betty Lennon, president of the college's Civil Service Employees Association unit; and Dr. J. Stallard Waterhouse, president of the SUNY Plattsburgh chapter of United University Professions. The college's collective bargaining organizations have thrown their full support behind the SEFA campaign.

"We are emphasizing greater participation this year than last," commented LaRose. She pointed out that the college community contributed a record $28,200 to the 1989 campaign, adding that Plattsburgh employees donated more than 45 percent of all monies collected last year from all Clinton County residents on the state payroll. "However," she said, "college faculty and staff can easily help us surpass the $30,000 plateau. It will take an effort to convince more people that a small sacrifice by many benefits many, including their neighbors, who need the human and health services provided by SEFA agencies."

SEFA is the only authorized fund-raising campaign among state employees. Eligible beneficiaries include 19 local United Way agencies (which, historically, receive upwards of 85 percent of all dollars contributed to SEFA by college employees), 20 international service agencies, eight Health Agencies of New York, six Clinton County health agencies, and four independent agencies. Information about each participating agency is being distributed by campaign workers with gift and pledge materials.

According to LaRose, donors are free to designate specific agencies they wish to support. She encourages faculty and staff to consider payroll deduction as a means for giving. "It's a painless way to contribute and to contribute a greater amount than with a one-time cash gift," she said.

12 Receive College Foundation Presidential Scholar Awards

Nine freshmen and three sophomores have been selected to receive Presidential Scholarships from the Plattsburgh College Foundation. The twelve students will receive four-year (three years in the case of the sophomores) full-tuition-equivalent scholarships solely on the basis of their academic achievement.

The freshmen, their hometowns, and major fields of study are: Carrie Blakesley, Guilderland, hearing/speech impaired education; Timothy Brunson, Schuylerville, secondary education (social studies); Brigit Burt, Jamesville, environmental science; Delbert Hart, Ellenburg Depot, computer science; Amanda Jankowski, East Syracuse, psychology; Quinn McDonald, Lowville, English; Cynthia Menz, Rochester, English; Eric Rose, Buskirk, physics; and Jolene Wells, Potsdam, undeclared.

The sophomore Presidential Scholars are: Peter Brayton, Argyle, accounting; Renee Covert, Congers, English; and John Kmack, Potsdam, business management.

EAP 'Brown Bag Lunch' Series Features Program on Fitness

The college's Employee Assistance Program's fall semester series of "Brown Bag Lunch Presentations" continues Tuesday (Oct. 10) with a presentation by Dr. Richard Frost, college physician, who will discuss "Weight Reduction and Cardiovascular Fitness."

Presentations in the series are open to the campus community and are held from 12:10 to 12:50 p.m. in the Angell Center. Frost will speak in the Cardinal Lounge.

One more program is scheduled for October: Dr. Donald Haight, associate professor in the Center for Human Resources, will talk on "Health and Group Interactions" next Tuesday (Oct. 17) in the Angell Center Amnesty Room.

More information is available from Helen Rock, EAP coordinator, at extension 3277.

September Report Indicates Fall Enrollments Right on Target

If end-of-September enrollment figures hold up, and they are expected to do so, SUNY Plattsburgh is right on target with its enrollment goals for academic 1989-90.

A recent report to SUNY Central Administration indicates that the college's total enrollment is 6,423 students — 5,248 full time and 1,175 part time. The undergraduate/graduate student breakdown is 5,696 to 727, with 5,095 undergraduates and 153 graduate students, respectively, enrolled here full time.

"We can't call these final, official figures because they could still fluctuate in the next few weeks," commented Diana Green, registrar and director of institutional records and research. "But," she added, "we believe they are very close to what the final count will be."

The college's enrollment reflects a planned, moderate population decline in comparison with fall 1988. According to Green, SUNY Plattsburgh admitted 100 fewer freshmen and 50 fewer transfer students this year than last because of constraints imposed by limited resources.

The report to SUNY Central, dated September 27, notes that 1,512 students constitute this fall's new undergraduate enrollment; 946 (905 full time and 41 part time) are freshmen and 606 are transfers. New graduate students number 250, with 57 of that total enrolled on a full-time basis.

Season's First Mainstage Play Written, Directed by Alumnus

The first mainstage production of the '89-'90 academic year, "Elm Circle," is written and directed by a SUNY Plattsburgh alumnus. Mick Casale, a 1971 speech/theatre major, is serving as playwright-in-residence this semester.

"Elm Circle" was developed in conjunction with Circle Repertory and first produced by Playwrights Horizon in New York City. Its author won the CBS/Dramatists Guild New American Play Award in 1985 and was a finalist in the O'Neill National Playwrights Conference in 1988. It is a play about summer in Troy, NY and tells the story of a young girl through the eyes of her brother.

Casale lives and works in New York City and is a consultant writer for video productions, comedians, and special group workshops. He is an adjunct assistant professor of creative writing at NYU and teaches playwrighting at the T. Schrieber Studio. His adaptation of Ross Thomas' novel "Out on the Rim" is optioned for production as a feature film by Corsair Pictures, a division of United Artists, and is currently in development.

"Elm Circle" will be presented nightly at 8 p.m. October 11-14 and 18-21 in the Hartman Theatre. Tickets are $5 general admission, $3 SUNY faculty/staff and $1 for SA members and are available at the Hartman Theatre Box Office Monday-Friday from 1-5 p.m.

'Showcase '90 Celebration Set

Showcase '90, the second annual day-long celebration of faculty, staff and student scholarly and creative pursuits on campus, will be held on Wednesday, April 11, according to Dr. Edward Miller, who chairs the Showcase '90 committee.

The first Showcase, held last April, involved presentations by well over 100 members of the campus community and included poster sessions, demonstrations, lectures, art exhibits and musical performances. Miller said the committee is currently soliciting participants for next spring's program. Persons interested in taking part may contact any member of the committee for further information.

Committee members include Miller, Dr. James Armstrong, Dr. Anna Battigelli, Kate Chilton, Dr. Nancy Church, Beverly Forster, Hezron Gurley, William Laundry, Rick Mikkelsen, Dr. Thomas Moran, Dr. Anna Nardelli, Michael Oliver, Dennis Rascoe, Dr. Eldridge Roark, and Carolee Smith.

Boosting Cardinal Sports

(L-R) Cardinal Booster Club Vice President and 1989-90 membership campaign chairperson John Carpenter talks campaign strategy with Plattsburgh coaches Steve Hoar and Phoebe Sturm and with Peter Luguri, director of athletics. Hoar's hockey unit and Sturm's basketball squad are among the intercollegiate sports teams that benefit from Booster Club support. Funds from the membership drive, initiated recently, will be used to meet costs and athletic programs and activities — including equipment, recruitment expenses, facilities renovation, maintenance of the Sports Hall of Fame, etc. — that cannot be funded by state appropriations or institutional resources. An affiliate of both the Plattsburgh Alumni Association and the College Foundation, the Booster Club has been challenged to raise $25,000 before the fund-raising year ends on December 31. Membership applications and additional information about the organization and benefits of membership can be obtained from Booster Club headquarters (Kehoe 810, ext. 2090).

Varied Festivities Planned for Centennial Homecoming Celebrants

The Centennial year Homecoming (October 13-15) promises to hold something special for alumni and students alike, according to Mal Lavery, director of Alumni Affairs.

The weekend kicks off for alumni on Friday evening with a special gathering of the Class of 1939 at the home of President and Mrs. Charles Warren. Lavery said that 99 people have made reservations for that evening, the highest number ever. In addition to the 50th year reunion class, the reception is open to graduates from all years prior to 1939.

Alumni from later years will get together for the first time during the weekend at the Angell Center Ballroom for a "Nostalgia Night Buffet" and dancing until midnight. The Center for Art, Music and Theatre will present a "Collage Concert," featuring all of the music department's larger performing ensembles as well as select chamber groups. The concert is free and will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium.

Earlier on Friday, nursing graduates from the Class of 1969 will present a seminar on "Nursing Today-Practice, Problems and Solutions." The seminar will be held from 1-4 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge.

Student festivities kick off on Thursday with voting for the Homecoming King and Queen from 10 a.m. till 7 p.m. in the Angell College Center. Winners will be announced on Saturday.

The annual Homecoming Parade, with a theme of "The Good Old Days," begins at 10 a.m. on Saturday from the Zayre's parking lot. The parade will end at the Field House, where the annual awards ceremony will take place.

Honored classes, all those ending in 9 or 4, will enjoy class reunion luncheons at various locations in Plattsburgh and on campus. The Classes of 1929 and 1939 will celebrate their 60th and 50th anniversaries of graduation at the Valcour Educational Center. Lavery said, "We have alumni coming from as early as the Class of 1923 and quite a few from classes in the late '20's."

Members of the Class of 1964 will gather for their 25th reunion and reservations have been received from alumni from Georgia, Florida, Texas and even Hawaii.

Several groups will hold special reunions during the weekend. The college radio station is celebrating its 25th birthday and all alumni involved in WSUP 640AM, WKGO 640AM or WPLT-FM are invited to a special luncheon on Saturday.

The Educational Opportunity Program is celebrating its 20th anniversary. Program plans include a special address by Rolando Thorne '72, president of the Alumni Association and an EOP student; historical reflections on Project New City and the early years of the EOP Program; and awards for outstanding contributions to the program.

The campus chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society, will host a breakfast on Saturday for all ODK alumni and guests.

On Saturday evening, students will celebrate with a semi-formal in Memorial Hall. The theme for the evening is "A Walk Into the Future."

Alumni will gather at 5:30 p.m. in the Blue Lounge for a cocktail reception hosted by President and Mrs. Warren. The Annual Awards Banquet and Dinner Dance will begin at 7 p.m. in the Ballrooms. Lavery said, "This year, in honor of the college's Centennial,

Museum Dedicated

A large crowd of campus and community art lovers gathered on Saturday evening to celebrate the creation of SUNY Plattsburgh's art museum. A formal dedication ceremony in the Winkel Sculpture Court kicked off the evening's festivities. Seen here are (l. to r.) Dr. E. Thomas Moran, vice president for academic affairs; Dr. Annette Manganel, chairperson of the Centennial Committee; President Charles O. Warren; Phyllis Freedman, director of the museum's docent program; and Robert Wylie, who was instrumental in the donation of the Jeremyn Davern Collection to the college. Following the ceremony, guests enjoyed viewing the newly installed Davern Collection, many of the more important pieces of the college's extensive permanent collection, the Winkel Court, and the recently returned and conserved oil paintings in the Rockwell Kent Collection.

Canada Day Festivities to Focus on 50th Anniversary of NFB

The annual Canada Day celebration, scheduled for October 18, will focus on the fiftieth anniversary of the National Film Board of Canada. SUNY Plattsburgh is the official United States distribution center for the NFB.

Colin Low, producer, director and filmmaker for the NFB, will headline the day's events, speaking at 8 p.m. in CL 200. Low, whose creative films are legendary, will discuss "Modern Technology in Filmmaking" prior to showing two films. The first, "Making Transitions" shows the unique technology developed for shooting "Transitions," the first IMAX 3-D film, which was produced by Low for Expo '86 in Vancouver. The second, "L'Anniversaire," is an animated short film showing the various possibilities of animation assisted by computer and was made on the occasion of the NFB's 50th anniversary.

Three other guest lecturers will make presentations during the day. Kathleen Shannon, a producer and filmmaker with the NFB, will discuss the role of women in the history of filmmaking in Canada during the Women's Studies Forum, scheduled for 12:15 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge. Shannon will also show her newest film, "Adam's World." Other NFB films will be shown in the Angell Center Conference Room between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Hector Gutierrez, an announcer with the Canadian Broadcasting Company in Montreal, will provide an update on Latin Americans in Montreal during a Canada/Latin America Symposium set for 1:30 p.m. in the Angell Center Ballroom.

Professor Robert Poupart of the University of Quebec at Montreal, will deliver a lecture on the Alumni Association has selected six of its members to receive 'Once in a Century' awards. The awards recognize sustained and dedicated service to the college over the past century. We are very proud to be able to honor six of our graduates in this way." Names of the recipients will be announced at the dinner-dance.

Music for the dance will be provided by the Sammy Kaye Orchestra, now directed by Roger Thorpe. "In addition to great music," Lavery said, "the band will conduct a 'band leader' contest and four members of the audience will have a chance to conduct the band!"

The weekend festivities will conclude on Sunday morning with the annual Sports Hall of Fame induction and brunch, scheduled for 9:30 a.m. This year's honorees are Linda J. Feinman '81, Richard K. "Rick" Florin '61, Ralph W. Manners '66 (posthumously) and Ralph M. Marcotte '56.

Reservations for Homecoming events may still be made through the Office of Alumni Affairs, Kehoe 811 (564-2090).

"Organizational Culture in Canada" at 11 a.m. in the Cardinal Lounge.

Additionally, Club Canada will sponsor an information booth in the Angell Center Lobby from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and a Canadian buffet lunch will be featured in the Centennial Room.

All Canada Day presentations are free and open to the public.

Auditory Research Lab Gets Law Firm Computer Equipment

A Burlington law firm has made a donation of computer equipment to the college's Auditory Research Laboratory, through the Plattsburgh College Foundation. Senior research scientist William Ahroon said that the law firm of Paul, Frank and Collins, Inc. has given the laboratory a Digital Equipment Corporation PDP-11/23 Computer System, three RL02 disk drives and 13 RL02 disk cartridges to be used in support of ongoing research programs.

Ahroon said, "The firm upgraded their own computer system and decided to donate their former system to our research program. It was a very nice gesture on their part and we're very grateful."

The equipment has been installed in the laboratory, located in the basement of Beaumont Hall, and is being used as a general purpose lab computer. Ahroon said he is using it "to measure evoked potentials, latency and amplitude."

Henning to be Visiting Scholar in November at Williamette U.

Dr. Sylvie Debevec Henning, associate professor of French and chairperson of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literature, has been invited to participate in Williamette University's Senior Seminar Program as a visiting scholar.

Henning will be at Williamette in Salem, Ore., from Nov. 7 to 12 as a guest of the English Department. She will meet with the seminar group to consider Samuel Beckett's last novels — the trilogy of Molloy, Malone Dies and The Unnamable in particular. She will also present a public lecture on the structure and style of Beckett's novels.

Henning was selected as visiting scholar for her work on Beckett. Her book, Beckett's Critical Complicity: Carnival, Contestation and Tradition won the Midwest Modern Language Association Book Prize and was published last year by the University Press of Kentucky. She has written also on Jean Genet and aspects of twentieth century French literature. In 1987 Henning received the Distinguished Teaching Award from the campus chapter of Phi Eta Sigma, the national honor society for freshmen.

Dowling to be First Centennial Distinguished Visiting Lecturer

The first Distinguished Visiting Lecturer sponsored by the college's Centennial Committee will be on campus October 17 and 18.

Michael Dowling, who serves as deputy secretary to Governor Mario Cuomo for Human Services, will meet with students, faculty and staff and will deliver a presentation as part of the Tuesday Reflections series at 4 p.m. on October 17 in the Cardinal Lounge. Students are encouraged to attend a special session with Dowling to be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. on October 18 in Hawkins Hall Room 125.

Dowling is the author of Governor Cuomo's "Decade of the Child" plan for New York State and will be discussing that plan during his visit.

Dowling's current areas of responsibility include health, mental health, mental retardation, social services, aging, and substance (including alcohol) abuse. Prior to joining the governor's staff in June of 1988, he was deputy commissioner for the Division of Income Maintenance of the New York State Department of Social Services, and was responsible for supervising state welfare programs, including Aid to Families with Dependent Children, Home Relief, Supplemental Security Income, Food Stamps, Low Income Energy and Welfare Employment programs. He worked directly with federal agencies, legislative staff, state agencies, and the governor's office and helped develop demonstration projects run by local districts.

Dowling served for two years as an assistant dean at Fordham University's Graduate School of Social Service and also directed the graduate program at the Tarrytown campus. He has taught social policy at Fordham, the New School for Social Research and Columbia University, and has written several articles on social welfare policy.

He earned a master's degree in social work from Fordham in 1974 and a B.A. from University College in Cork, Ireland, in 1970.

In addition to his campus sessions, Dowling will meet with Social Service Commissioners of Clinton, Franklin and Essex Counties, as well as with a small group of human service providers from the North Country. He will also address the Plattsburgh Rotary Club.

Upstate Planning Association Cites Lamb's Land Use Manual

Dr. Richard Lamb, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, has won the 1989 "Outstanding Planning Process" award from the New York State Upstate Chapter of the American Planning Association. Lamb was recognized for his work as principal author of a 350-page manual entitled "Guide to Land Development," which outlines procedures for communities in the areas of local planning and zoning.

Lamb said the manual was an outgrowth of the Fort Drum Land Use Team's work. The team was assembled to help the Watertown area deal with a major population increase in that area as a result of the expansion of Fort Drum.

"The manual," Lamb said, "is designed for use by land developers, planning boards and zoning boards of appeal. It is very comprehensive and is intended to make the whole process of land use planning simpler and easier."

Lamb has been a member of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty since 1981. He has extensive experience as a planning consultant to various localities in northern New York.

Kudos to . . .

Dr. Jeanne Kissner, associate director of the Center for the Study of Canada. Kissner was recently elected to a four-year term on the Executive Council of the Association of Canadian Studies in the United States (ACSUS). With 1300 members in the United States alone, ACSUS is the largest organization of its kind in the world. Kissner is the immediate past president of the American Council for Quebec Studies and is currently president of Northern New York chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French.

Plattsburgh is well represented in ACSUS. Dr. Richard Beach, director of the Center for the Study of Canada, is immediate past president of the organization and Peter Morici '70, a member of the faculty of the University of Maine is currently serving as secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Black Poetry Day to Feature Multi-talented Ntozake Shange

Black Poetry Day will be celebrated on campus with an appearance by Ntozake Shange, poet, playwright and novelist. Shange will speak at 7:30 p.m. on October 17 in the Centennial Room. Her presentation is free and open to the public.

Shange's most famous work is the Obie Award-winning play For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide/When the Rainbow is Enuf. Joseph Papp later commissioned her to write Betsey Brown as a rhythm and blues opera, which evolved into a novel of the same name.

Her other works include a novel entitled Sassafrass,

Cypress and Indigo and several collections of poetry, including Nappy Edges, A Daughter's Geography and her latest, Riding the Moon in Texas. The latter will be on sale at a discount following her reading and the author will autograph copies. Black Poetry Day posters, designed by Rick Salzman, professor of art, will also be on sale.

A reception, sponsored by AKEBA and the Faculty of Arts and Science, will follow the poetry reading.

Black Poetry Day is sponsored by the Clinton-Essex-Franklin Library System and funded by the Literature Program of the New York State Council on the Arts, the New York State Writers Institute, College Auxiliary Services, the Faculty of Arts and Science, the English department, AKEBA, the PAFB Officers' Spouses Club, the PAFB Black Heritage Committee and Lloyd Archer of Quick-Cast, Ltd.

Response to Parents' Campaign Phonothon Ahead of '88 Pace

After four nights of the Parents' Campaign phonothon, Director of Development Dan Milliman says he "couldn't be more pleased."

Student callers began telephoning parents of SUNY Plattsburgh students on October 2. On that night and the three following nights, 1771 calls were completed, and each call included a request that the parent contacted consider a gift of $100 to the 1989 Parents' Fund.

To date, 360 pledges totalling $11,814 have been recorded. "In comparing this to last year's Parents' Phonothon," said Milliman, "we are ahead by $3,194 over last year's pace. That seems to be the result of students receiving pledges which are, on the average, $10 higher than those promised last year."

The goal for Parents' Fund in 1989 is $25,000. That goal is being sought by a combination of mail and phone solicitation. Letters explaining the campaign were sent to parents of current students during the first week of September, followed by the early October phonothon. The calling of parents will continue until October 19.

Funds raised through the 1989 Parents' Campaign will be used to provide furniture and/or other equipment for the Claude Clark Learning Center, the Honors Center and Center and departmental commons areas.

SPOTLIGHT

Dr. Jurgen Kleist, assistant professor in the Department of Foreign Languages and Literature, is the author of a short story, "Kalifornischer Winter," published in Momentaufnahme: Literatur und Kunst in Siegen heute: Ein Lesebuch. He made a presentation, "Scene Design as Virtual Space: Forces Perspective and Cylindrical Perspective," which is published in the conference proceedings. . . Dr. Eldridge W. Roark, Jr., vice president for student affairs, was a participant at the Omicron Delta Kappa Province X Conference held at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. In addition to serving as a discussion leader, Roark was the keynote speaker at the closing banquet of the conference. . . Dr. Mary

L. Roark, associate professor in the Center for Human Resources, is the author of a book review published in the September 1 American Association for Counseling and Development Guidepost. She reviewed the book, Student Affairs Functions in Higher Education, A.L. Rentz and G. Saddlemire (Eds.), Charles C. Thomas, Publisher, 1988. Roark also made a presentation on "Empowerment through Emotional Literacy" at the recent New York State College Student Personnel Association held in Silver Bay. . . Dr. H. Griffin Walling, director of the Center for Lifelong Learning, co-presented two three-day seminars in August, with Professor Vladimir Stolin of Moscow State University's psychology faculty, for Soviet executives. The seminars were entitled "Managing Executive Time and Stress" and "Strategies for Successfully Negotiating With Western Enterprises." Both were conducted at Moscow State.

"Never. . . have I forgotten that the most important thing that goes on in a college is fine teaching. All else is merely supporting cast. Never have I forgotten what teaching is all about. Its heart and soul, in essence, is just helping young women and men become finer, better, more effective human beings. To have this opportunity to relate oneself to others through teaching is one of the greatest privileges a man or woman can earn."

Dr. Edward E. 'Doc' Redcay — 1902 - 1989

Dr. Edward E. Redcay, a member of the faculty and administrative staff at SUNY Plattsburgh and associated with the college for more than 53 years, died October 10, 1989 in the Sacred Heart Nursing Home. He was 86.

Dr. Redcay was born October 13, 1902 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, the son of Davis Jefferson and Kathryn Angstadt Redcay. His wife, Dr. Lillian Bilkey Redcay, died in 1982.

Plattsburgh President Charles O. Warren said, "The death of Doc Redcay creates a lasting sadness and an infinite hope. He was a part of this college and community for more than 50 years. In a special way, he was the heart and essence of SUNY Plattsburgh. Those of us who knew him well will not soon forget his warmth, his gentle sense of humor, his genuine caring for student and colleague and his devotion to upholding the standards of excellence. Indeed, in his life, his accomplishments, his dedication, we derive hope for a future bright with promise."

Dr. Redcay, beloved by thousands of Plattsburgh alumni, came to the college in 1936 for a one-year term, but decided to make it his home. Although he formally retired in 1969, he maintained an office at the college where he continued to counsel and advise students until earlier this fall.

Dr. Redcay received his bachelor's degree and his master's degree from Dartmouth College in 1927 and 1930, respectively. He earned a second master's degree from Yale University in 1932 and a doctorate from Columbia University in 1935.

Hired at the then-Normal School as a professor of education, he served the college in many capacities, including basketball coach, Dean of Men, advisor to various classes, advisor and treasurer of the Student Association, Dean of the College and, from 1952-54, acting president. He was responsible for the creation of the college's original Honors Program in the 1950's.

Dr. Joseph Burke (l.), president of SUNY Plattsburgh from 1974 to 1987 and current President Charles O. Warren (r.) shared some memories with Dr. Redcay on Founders Day (June 15, 1989).

He never met a person who had no talent.

Dr. Lary Shaffer '68
Professor of Psychology

For many years, he delivered the annual welcoming address to incoming freshmen. One member of his audience, Dr. Lary Shaffer '68, later replaced Redcay in that role. Shaffer referred to his former teacher and mentor as "one of the finest teachers to ever get chalk on his coat."

Doc Redcay and his late wife, Lillian, were among the college's strongest supporters and benefactors. Their generosity encouraged and rewarded excellence among our students and their personal devotion to countless young men and women was unmatched. Doc was truly a legend at SUNY Plattsburgh and he will surely be missed.

Don Garrant
Assistant to the President for College Relations and Development and Executive Director of the Plattsburgh College Foundation

Dr. Redcay received many honors and awards from his adopted college. He received the Distinguished Service Award, the highest honor the college can bestow, in 1969, and was made an Honorary Alumnus that same year. In 1982, then-President Joseph C. Burke presented him with the Presidential Award of Honor.

In 1984, Dr. Redcay was inducted as a charter member of the Cardinal Booster Club Sports Hall of Fame. The following year, the Edward E. and Lillian B. Redcay Hall, which houses the School of Business and Economics as well as the anthropology, computer science, sociology, and behavioral science departments, was dedicated in their honor.

To many generations of alumni, Doc Redcay personified Plattsburgh State. He brought out the best in people, and, by believing in them, encouraged them to achieve beyond their dreams. Those alumni who experienced firsthand his concern and his support for them will greatly mourn his passing.

Mal Lavery '64
Director of Alumni Affairs

The Redcays created a major endowment fund, which recognizes excellence in the behavioral sciences, with the Plattsburgh College Foundation. Additionally, the Redcay Trust provides scholarship assistance to honors students, and the Robert Frost Poetry Award (created by Dr. Redcay in memory of his late friend) recognizes students who demonstrate superior achievement in poetry.

Dr. Redcay with Dr. George Angell, president of SUNY Plattsburgh from 1954 to 1974 (l.) and Richard Lawrence then chair of the Plattsburgh College Council.

Dr. Redcay was inducted as a charter member of the Cardinal Sports Hall of Fame in 1984. He is flanked here by Mike Mannix, who served as master of ceremonies, and Dr. Alice Backus, another inductee.

Calling hours will be held at the R.W. Walker Funeral Home in Plattsburgh on Friday, October 13 from 7 to 9 p.m. and on Saturday, October 14 from 2 to 4 p.m. There will be no funeral service. Burial will take place on Monday, October 16 in the Smithtown Cemetery in Smithtown, NY.

A memorial service will be held at 4 p.m. on Friday, December 1 in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium on the SUNY Plattsburgh campus.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Plattsburgh College Foundation's Centennial Endowment Fund.

NOTES

Applications for the 1990 In Vitro Cell Biology & Biotechnology Program are currently being accepted. The deadline for receipt of all application materials is October 15. Four James A. FitzPatrick Scholarships at $2,000 each are now available for students accepted into the IVCBB Program. Each scholarship will cover full tuition, room and board fees. For further information and application materials, contact Dr. William D. Graziadei, Miner Center, at 846-7144 or by electronic mail GRAZIAWD. Materials may also be obtained from Dianna Seymour, Dept. of Biological Sciences office, Beaumont Hall 207 (564-3155).

Do you feel stressed? The Psychological Services Center is running a Stress Management Clinic. Students will be taught on an individual basis to relax and control their tension using relaxation techniques and biofeedback equipment. The Clinic services are open to all students and are FREE OF CHARGE. You may phone ahead for an appointment (564-3086) or further information. Walk-ins are welcome.

Community CPR, Standard First Aid, and BLS non-credit courses will be offered for SUNY Plattsburgh students starting at the end of September. Students who are interested in obtaining American Red Cross certification in Community CPR, Standard First Aid (NM), BLS and/or re-certification in Community CPR, see Mrs. Bardon in Room 220 Memorial Hall. Eleven non-credit courses have been scheduled starting the last week of September. Courses are sponsored by the Department of Physical Education, Athletics and Recreational Sports, the Student Association and CAS Special Projects.

Applications for 1990-91 Resident Assistant positions are available at the College Center Desk commencing October 16. Application deadline is Nov. 29. Information Program for prospective candidates: Friday, Oct. 20 at 4:15 in the Cardinal Lounge.

The Office of Recreational Sports will be offering a water safety instructor workshop for updating current instructors to the new water safety materials. The workshop will be held October 21 and 28 from 1-5 pm in Memorial Hall. Participants must be current WSI's and course costs ($35.00) must be paid by 10/18 at the Chapter House, 56 Cornelia St.

The Registrar's Office has announced a change in office hours. Effective immediately, that office will be open for business daily from 9 am to 4 pm.

Six Alumni Receive 'Once In a Century' Awards

Six SUNY Plattsburgh alumni were cited for "dedicated interest and sustained support" and received "Once in a Century" awards from the college and its Alumni Association during the annual Homecoming Dinner Saturday evening. They are Arnold Amell '53, Virginia Damianos '51, Judith Lasher Duken '59, Olive Mason Flynt '41, Richard Semmler '68, and Stephen Shemet '38.

"The awards," said President Charles O. Warren, "were intended to recognize sustained dedication to the college. While these six certainly are not the only alumni who have given devoted service to their Alma Mater, each has played a major role in the life of the college and our alumni association for virtually a quarter of a century. They are caring and devoted people who have given unstintingly of themselves to make this a better college."

Amell is a past president of the Alumni Association and has served on its Board of Directors for 25 years. He is also a past president of the Capital District Alumni Chapter and was recently appointed to the Plattsburgh College Council.

Damianos is a past vice president and member of the association's board of directors. For more than 25 years, she has been involved in the planning and coordination of every alumni-related event held on Long Island, including alumni reunions, alumni leaders meetings and alumni/admissions programs.

Duken is also a past president and board member of the association and served for two years as acting director of alumni affairs. A past member of the Plattsburgh College Council, she was the first Plattsburgh alumnus appointed to the position. In 1980, she was appointed as the first SUNY alumnus to serve on the SUNY Board of Trustees.

Flynt served for 27 years as assistant to the president, retiring in 1981. She continued to serve as secretary to the Plattsburgh College Council until this summer and still is secretary to the Plattsburgh College Foundation. Flynt also served as an officer of the Alumni Association during its early formative years.

Semmler is the youngest alumnus (and one of only a few) to create an endowment fund with the Plattsburgh College Foundation. His fund provides scholarships to deserving students. He has supported the college financially, particularly through the Booster Club, every year since his graduation without interruption. He is a member of the Booster Club Sports Hall of Fame and the Hall of Fame exhibit in Memorial Hall is due largely to his generosity.

Five of the six honored alumni received their awards in person. Seen here are Richard Semmler '68, Arnold Amell '53, Virginia Damianos '51, Olive Flynt '41 and Judith Duken '59. Stephen Shemet '38 of Florida was unable to attend.

Shemet was instrumental in the formation and growth of the Alumni Association during its earliest days, even before there was an alumni office on campus. He served as executive secretary of the association as a volunteer for many years and was singlehandedly responsible for producing the alumni newspaper. He was also instrumental in guiding the association through the development of its original constitution and bylaws and through the process of incorporation. He is a past member of the Board of Directors.

"These six alumni have made contributions to this institution that can never be measured," said Mal Lavery, director of alumni affairs. "They have always been the first to volunteer their help when needed and to do what needs to be done with no thought of reward. We are indeed proud of — and very grateful for — their loyalty and support."

Freshman Saez Wins Empire Minority Honors Scholarship

Kelvin Saez, a freshman accounting major from Brewster, NY, has won an Empire State Minority Honors Scholarship.

The scholarships were established by the New York State Legislature to encourage outstanding minority students to pursue college degrees. The state provides half the funds for the full-tuition awards.

On this campus, the Plattsburgh College Foundation matches those funds. The awards are renewable for up to four years, based on satisfactory academic performance.

Seniors Ouellette, Talcott Win Scholarships That Honor Link

Two SUNY Plattsburgh seniors, Susan Ouellette of Keeseville and Maria Talcott of the Plattsburgh Air Force Base, are among the three winners of this year's Eugene P. Link College Scholarships.

The scholarships were created and are funded by United University Professions in honor of Link, professor emeritus of history at SUNY Plattsburgh. Candidates for the award must have a grade point average of 3.75 or above, exhibit dedication to the goals of the trade and labor union movement and show evidence of good character and service to SUNY.

Ouellette, a history and anthropology major, returned to college after 15 years of working and raising two children. As a sophomore, she won a Younger Scholars Award from the National Endowment for the Humanities. She is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, the national honor society for freshmen. She has been active in community issues, including housing for the poor and community development and revitalization. Ouellette plans to continue her education and go on to teaching and research in social history on the college level.

Talcott, a human services major, is a first-generation immigrant whose family fled from Cuba. She also has two children. Talcott has an extensive record of community service, including providing support services to local Hispanic refugee groups, assisting families at risk for child abuse or neglect and working with the Special Olympics. Her plans include graduate studies in social work and pursuit of a law degree.

The third award winner is Elizabeth Campbell, a student at Oneonta State.

Governor Nominates Duken '59 for 2nd Term as SUNY Trustee

Judith Lasher Duken '59 has been nominated by Governor Mario Cuomo for a second term, ending June 30, 1995, on the SUNY Board of Trustees. Also nominated were Hazel Dukes of Roslyn Heights, Miles Lasser of Jamestown, Dr. Nancy Nielsen of Orchard Park, Katherine Wilson Roby of Rochester and Joseph Talarico of Utica. The nominations are subject to State Senate approval.

Duken was originally appointed to the Board in 1980 and was the first SUNY alumnus to hold a seat on the board. She was later appointed to the board's executive committee. Duken, who is director of the North Country Teacher Resource Center, has 30 years of experience in the field of education. She is a former chairperson of the Plattsburgh College Council and currently serves on the New York State Regents' Advisory Council on Learning Technologies and the Regents' Advisory Committee on Instructional Television and Video Resources. Duken earned her B.S. and M.S. in education, as well as a certificate of advanced study in educational administration, from SUNY Plattsburgh.

Hatcher's 'Adirondack Guide' to be Dedicated on October 28

The "Adirondack Guide," L. Brower Hatcher's monumental sculpture, will be formally dedicated on Saturday, October 28. Festivities will begin at 9:30 a.m. with a flapjack breakfast in the Centennial Room, which will be followed with a ceremony at the sculpture site between Beaumont and Yokum Halls at approximately 11:15 a.m.

The breakfast program will be highlighted by a talk by Herman "Woody" Cole, chairman of the Adirondack Park Agency since 1983. The "Two Tall String Band," well-known North Country musicians, will entertain. Tickets for the breakfast are $3 for students and $5.50 for adults and are available from Phyllis Freedman, Rockwell Kent Gallery (564-2813). Student tickets only are available at the College Center Desk. The outdoor ceremony is free and open to the public.

The "Adirondack Guide" was originally constructed in Lake George under a grant from the New York State Council on the Arts. It was rebuilt on campus this summer as part of Hatcher's Distinguished Visiting Professorship. The sculpture, described as sophisticated folk art, is a two-story high network of cables which outlines a guide's head. Suspended in the framework are Adirondack-related objects, including a guide boat, bear, cabin, and fish.

Homecoming '89

Alpha Chi Rho fraternity took the prize for best float entered in the Homecoming Parade. Their float depicted the first landing on the moon.

*Four former Cardinal athletes were inducted into the Sports Hall of Fame on Sunday. Dr. Charles O. Warren (r.) congratulated the new members (l. to r.) Richard "Rick" Florin '61, Linda Feinman '81, and Ralph Marcotte '66. ## 31 Percent of Student-Athletes Achieve GPA's of 3.0 or Higher

The NCAA Division III "philosophy" emphasizes academic achievement over competitive performance in intercollegiate athletics, and SUNY Plattsburgh's athletes are doing their part to exemplify it.

An analysis of the individual and collective grade-point average of Plattsburgh men and women athletes during the spring 1989 semester shows that 31 percent of their number achieved gpa's above 3.0, with 13 percent scoring 3.5 or higher. Those academic averages compare to a highly respectable 29 percent and nine percent, respectively, for the entire SUNY Plattsburgh undergraduate population.

"We're delighted with the result of this most recent study," commented Peter Luguri, director of athletics in the Department of Physical Education, Athletics and Recreational Sports (PEARS), "but especially because athletes from all spring sports made last semester's All Academic Team." Luguri noted that the average for all 10 student-athletes who made last spring's All-Academic Team was 3.8.

Track standout Julie Dobert, a senior accounting major from Rensselaer, posted a spring semester gpa of 4.0 to set the standard for all student-athletes. Teammates Judy Serth and Kathy Kane — both May graduates, Serth in chemistry and Kane in accounting — were close on her heels, with gpa's of 3.914 and 3.832. Swimmers Debbie McDonald, a junior special education major, and Kerri Sennenberg, a senior mass media major, round out the women's All-Academic Team. McDonald's gpa was 3.683 while Sennenberg's was 3.575.

John Kmack, a freshman point guard for the Cardinal basketball team from Potsdam, paced the men's All-Academic Team with a 3.936 gpa. May graduate

Canadian Company Will Publish Tracy's Novel, 'Winter Hunger'

Dr. Ann Tracy's novel, Winter Hunger, has been accepted for publication by Canada's Goose Lane Press. The book is expected to appear in hard cover next fall.

Winter Hunger, Tracey said, is a novel about Windigo psychosis. She explained that the Windigo is a legendary — and feared — figure among the Indians of northern Canada, which appears during the long months of winter isolation.

Tracy's book is believed to be the first novel published by a member of the English department. It is not, however, her first published book, as she is the author of Higher Ground: A Memoir of Higgins Classical Institute and The Gothic Novel, 1790-1830. She has also co-authored, with Pat Higgins, a play and two writing-across-the-curriculum texts. She also has another novel being considered for publication. Tracy, a professor of English, joined the faculty in 1970.

Arthur LaMarche, a swimmer, was runner-up with a 3.850, and he was followed by a trio of sophomores — hockey goalie Dave Kocsis (3.8), cross country and track runner Daniel Pollay (3.74), and starting center in basketball Todd Wright (3.7).

Student-athletes who made the spring term honorable mention All-Academic Team are: (men's basketball) Mark Cassier and Matt Moore; (women's basketball) Beth Kilkoyn, T.J. Cornwright, Margaret Crotty and Mary Jane Dillon; (men's ice hockey) Martin Couture and Bob Hayden; (women's swimming) Kelly Kreuzer, Christine Moore and Tamara Nightingale; (men's swimming) Chris Godlewski; (women's track) Heather Jefson, Jill Jones and Michelle Lesson; (men's track) Andrew Hill, Matt Nephew, David Sequin and Richard Wisenski.

Alcohol Awareness Week Focus on 'Individual Responsibility'

This week is "Alcohol Awareness Week" on campus and several special activities have been planned to educate students about the use and abuse of alcohol.

President Charles O. Warren said, "This initiates a year-round emphasis on alcohol education and recognition of the individual's ultimate responsibility for decisions regarding use or non-use of alcohol. It is in the best interest of students, faculty, administrators and the community that such decision-making be highly responsible and well-informed. In addition, we want to encourage a partnership to promote a strong sense of civic responsibility and to prevent campus problems associated with alcohol misuse."

The week's activities include displays and workshops, a dance and breathalyzer demonstrations. Details are available from Ed Engelbride, Office of Campus Life.

Soccer Cards' Playoff Hopes End

The men's soccer team's chance to make its first SUNYAC playoff appearance in recent history ended Saturday in a 2-0 loss to Binghamton. The Cardinals scored early in the game, but the goal was disallowed on an off-sides call. Binghamton broke the game open in the second half with two goals — one on a breakaway and the other on a scramble in front of the net. Earlier in the week, the Cardinal men edged St. Rose 2-1 and trounced Green Mountain College 5-0. They have a 10-4-1 record and will end their home schedule on Thursday at 3:00 against Clarkson University.

The women's soccer team broke a six-game losing streak by defeating Union College 3-1 on Saturday. Rita Boule scored two goals for Plattsburgh. On Wednesday, the Cardinals and St. Michael's played a scoreless, double-overtime standoff.

The annual Plattsburgh State Cardinal Hockey Red & White game will be played this Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Ronald B. Stafford Ice Arena. Admission is free.

Applications for the 1990 In Vitro Cell Biology & Biotechnology Program are currently being accepted. The deadline for receipt of all application materials is October 15. Four James A. FitzPatrick Scholarships at $2,000 each are now available for students accepted into the IVCBB Program. Each scholarship will cover full tuition, room and board fees. For further information and application materials, contact Dr.

William D. Graziadei, Miner Center, at 846-7144 or by electronic mail GRAZIAWD. Materials may also be obtained from Dianna Seymour, Dept. of Biological Sciences office, Beaumont Hall 207 (564-3155).

---

Do you feel stressed? The Psychological Services Center is running a Stress Management Clinic. Students will be taught on an individual basis to relax and control their tension using relaxation techniques and biofeedback equipment. The Clinic services are open to all students and are FREE OF CHARGE. You may phone ahead for an appointment (564-3086) or further information. Walk-ins are welcome.

---

---

Peer Recruiters Wanted. The Admissions Office is currently looking for student volunteers to serve as Peer Recruiters during the Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations. The students will represent Plattsburgh State at their high schools and local community colleges. Surveys completed by incoming students during orientation sessions indicate that current students are regarded as the best source of information about the college. The Peer Recruitment Program offers prospective students the opportunity to become familiar with the college from a student's viewpoint. Anyone interested in participating in the program must attend one of three informational training sessions which are scheduled for Monday, October 30, Tuesday, October 31, and Wednesday, November 1, in the Cardinal Lounge from 6 - 7 pm. For further information, please contact Karen Yoos at the Admissions Office (564-2040).

Freshmen students who have not taken the English Placement Exam should come to one of two sessions for this exam (a one-hour and fifteen-minute period in which to write a sample essay): Monday, October 23 at 4 - 6 in Ward Hall, Room 110 or Tuesday, October 24 at 4 - 6 in CL (Yokum) 208. Anyone planning to register for English Composition in the spring semester must have the results of this exam before advising period begins.

---

The Student Health Center will be offering a flu vaccine clinic again this year for all students, faculty and staff. A small fee will be charged and pre-sign up is necessary before we can order the vaccine. In interested, please call 564-2192 or come to the health service. You will be notified of the exact clinic dates and times.

Link, Chinese Literature Scholar, to Lecture Here Next Week

Dr. Perry Link, internationally known Chinese literature scholar who was in Beijing during the Tiananmen Square massacre, will be a guest on campus November 2-3.

Link will give a public lecture on "Democracy as a World Ideal: Reflections on China and America in 1989" at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, November 2 at a location to be announced. His visit is co-sponsored by the President's Office, the Asian Studies Committee, the Center for International Studies, the International Awareness Forum and the Centennial Program Committee.

Link, who is the son of Professor Emeritus and Mrs. Eugene Link, is currently professor of Chinese at Princeton University. Last year, however, he served as director of the Beijing Office of the National Academy of Science's Committee on Scholarly Communication with the People's Republic of China. His name became prominent in the international media last February when, as an invited guest, he attempted to attend an official banquet during President Bush's state visit to China with Fang Lizhi, China's most prominent dissident, and was prevented from doing so.

Link's friendship with several Chinese dissidents and subsequent events in China led to his departure from that country. His supervisors in Washington, at that time, feared that Chinese authorities might go so far as to take reprisals against Link or even take him hostage.

Link is the author of several books and articles on Chinese literature. He holds a doctorate in history and East Asian Languages from Harvard.

Link's host for the visit is Dr. George Pasti, and additional information on Link's schedule is available from him.

Phi Kappa Chi Raises $500+ for Albany Home for AIDS Babies

Sisters of the Phi Kappa Chi sorority raised more than $500 last week to benefit the Father Michael Farano Center in Albany. Kim DeStefano, president of the sorority, explained that the Farano Center is the first home established in New York State to care for children with AIDS whose parents have abandoned them. "These babies," she said, "have an expected life span of only five years. The Farano Center provides them with the only opportunity they will have to live in a safe, comfortable and loving environment."

Six Greek organizations contributed to the fundraising effort and donations were also accepted in the Angell College Center. The money raised was presented to the Farano Center last Saturday during a telethon covered by WNYT-TV 13 in Albany.

Council Meets Next Wednesday

The Plattsburgh College Council will meet at 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 1 in the Second Floor Conference Room in the Myers Fine Arts Building. Agenda items include the college's alcohol policy, parking and the Centennial Alumni-in-Residence program.

Distinguished Lecturer

President Charles O. Warren (R) presents "Centennial Celebration Citation" to Michael J. Dowling, first Distinguished Lecturer to visit the campus during the lecture series sponsored by the college's Centennial Celebration Committee. Dowling, deputy secretary to Governor Mario Cuomo for Human Services and author of the governor's "Decade of the Child" plan for New York State, was on campus on October 17 and 18 to meet with students and faculty and to give a Tuesday Reflections series presentation. The citation calls attention to achievements of participants that led to their selection as Distinguished Visiting Lectures and thanks them for sharing their "wisdom, expertise and career experiences" with the college community.

Colombian Minister to Discuss Cocaine and His Nation's Future

The International Awareness Forum will present a lecture by Santiago Reyes, Ministro Consejero of the Colombian Embassy in Canada at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, October 26 in the Cardinal Lounge.

Dr. William Culver, coordinator of the Latin American Studies Program, said that Reyes will provide up-to-date information on the turmoil in Colombia and will describe the events that have led up to the current situation in which the combination of the drug lords and political guerrillas is threatening the constitutional order of the country.

During Thursday afternoon and Friday morning, Reyes will meet with students and faculty. Anyone interested in participating in these smaller forums should contact Culver at 564-5827.

Reyes' visit and the International Awareness Forum are co-sponsored by the Faculty of Arts and Science, Latin American Studies Program, El Pueblo and the Political Science Department.

Next Wednesday's Wellness Fair Promotes Healthier Lifestyle

The college's Student Health Center will hold a Wellness Fair from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Wednesday, November 1 in the Angell Center Ballroom.

Sally Stay, wellness coordinator, said, "The purpose of the fair is to create opportunities for the college community to further their growth toward a healthier lifestyle."

Stay said the wellness fair will include cholesterol screening, speech and hearing tests, vision tests, and a "fit stop," which will measure weight, blood pressure, percentage of body fat, grip strength, lung volume, and cardiovascular endurance. A blood drawing to benefit the CVPB Blood Bank will be held.

TAC to Co-sponsor 'Main Street' Revitalization Conferences

"Saving Main Street in the Adirondack North Country" is the topic of a one-day conference, which is co-sponsored by the Technical Assistance Center and being offered in several locations. The conference will be held in Warrensburg (Nov. 2), Lake Placid (Nov. 3), Camden (Nov. 9), and Canton (Nov. 10). The National Trust for Historic Preservation's Main Street Center Program will be discussed in relation to the financial and volunteer capabilities of small villages and hamlets, and the merits and potential of operating a regional community revitalization program in the North Country will also be considered. For more information, contact Claire Barnett at TAC, 564-2214.

Alpha Delta Theta Declared Winner of Scholastic Cup

Alpha Delta Theta sorority is this year's winner of the Greek Scholastic Cup. The members of Alpha Delta Theta achieved an overall GPA of 2.75.

The cup, presented during Homecoming Weekend, is awarded to the Greek organization with the highest overall grade point average and is the most prestigious award given to a Greek organization.

Staff from the Psychological Services Clinic will demonstrate relaxation techniques and participants will be able to measure their health risks and assess their lifestyle through a computer program. Additionally, information will be available on smoking, AIDS, cancer, good dental care and testing for sexually transmitted diseases.

The Wellness Fair is free and open to students, faculty, staff, their families and friends.

'Classic' Contribution

Roger Burke (second from right) general manager of Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. of Keeseville, presents check totaling $7,500 to SUNY Plattsburgh Athletic Director Peter Luguri (second from left) under the approving eyes of Larry Cowan (R) and Steve Hoar, the head coaches respectively of the men's basketball and hockey programs. The Pepsi contribution supports "Cardinal Classic" tournaments in both sports while providing $1,000 to the College Foundation's general scholarship fund. First up is the hockey classic, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 3 and 4, at Stafford Arena. Friday's opening round pairings match Mercyhurst College with Salem State (5 p.m.) and the Cardinals against North Adams State (8 p.m.). The basketball tournament is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17 and 18, and the field includes Ithaca College, the University of New England and Johnson State.

Senate Approves Combined Program in Hearing & Speech Science

The Faculty Senate held its regular meeting last week and voted on three resolutions.

The Senate approved a combined bachelor's-masters program in hearing and speech science. The change would allow students in the combined program to complete work for both degrees in five years, rather than six. The combined program would require the completion of 155 credits. Entrance to the program would require at least a 3.2 grade point average and appropriate scores on the GRE, and would be granted no earlier than the beginning of the junior year.

The Senate also approved a recommendation from the Standing Committee on Academic Policies to add the grades A-, B+, B-, and C+ to the graduate student grading system. Current grading practice allows the grades of A, B, C, and E.

Additionally, the Senate approved the deletion of the B.S. in Geology Study Option in Hydrology. The program deletion was requested by the Center for Earth and Environmental Science since the Center no longer has the range of expertise to maintain the program.

Senate actions are subject to the approval of the college's president.

DeVita's 'The Humbled Anthropologist' Published in California

The Humbled Anthropologist, a book by Dr. Philip R. DeVita, professor of anthropology, has been issued by Wadsworth Publishing Company of Belmont, Ca.

Subtitled "Tales from the Pacific," the book is a collection of essays by twenty leading anthropologists from the U.S. and abroad. Each focuses on personal accounts of blunders and embarrassing or problematic situations encountered while conducting anthropological field work in various regions of the Pacific.

DeVita, who edited the book, conceived it based on his own experiences with problems associated with cross-cultural understanding and interaction during 15 years at sea in the Pacific. He said its publication culminates a project begun six years ago in collaboration with the late Dr. Edwin Cook of the University of California at Davis.

"We asked our colleagues to write with a sense of humor," commented DeVita, "sensing that they, like us, had fouled-up terribly in field work. We learn from our mistakes and we believed the discipline of anthropology would benefit from personal and human accounts of them."

Contributors to the volume are anthropological scholars from institutions such as the University of Hawaii, Pittsburgh, St. Lawrence, Iowa, the University of Pennsylvania, Tulsa, Rhode Island, Arkansas and the University of North Carolina, and from the University of Western Australia, York University and McMaster University in Canada, and St. Mary's in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

A member of the faculty since 1972, DeVita has chaired the anthropology department and the department of sociology-anthropology, and he has served as coordinator of the behavioral science program. He earned the Ph.D. at the University of California at Davis.

Joint Ventures

Dr. Zubaidur Rahman, associate professor of accounting, discusses "Accounting Issues in East-West Joint Ventures" during last week's conference on joint ventures which was co-sponsored by SUNY Plattsburgh and Moscow State University. Awaiting their turns at the podium are (L.) Dr. Anatole Shermet, professor, and Dr. Sergei Shapegozov, associate professor, both of Moscow State. Approximately 75 academics, government officials and businesspeople attended the conference, which was the first in a series to be held under a contract between SUNY and Moscow State.

College Bands to Give Concert

The college's Symphonic and Jazz Bands will present a combined concert at 8 p.m. on Thursday, October 26 in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium. The Symphonic Band, directed by Elizabeth Stoyanovich, will open the concert with Shostakovich's "Festive Overture, Op. 96," "Komm, Susser Tod," and Sousa's "Semper Fidelis." The Jazz Ensemble, directed by Marshall Onofrio, will perform six selections, featuring several soloists. The concert is free and open to the campus and community.

SPOTLIGHT

Dr. Kenneth Adams, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, and Richard Stergas, a 1988 graduate student, are co-authors of "Jack pine barrens in northeastern New York: postfire macronutrient concentrations, heat content, and understory biomass" which appeared in the Canadian Journal of Forest Research, Volume 19, No. 7, 1989. . . "Consumer Awareness, Perceptions, and Knowledge of Immediate Healthcare Centers," an article by Dr. Nancy Church, assistant professor in the School of Business and Economics, has been published in The Journal of Hospital Marketing, Volume 3, No. 2, 1989, pp. 133-150. Data for the study were collected by marketing research students

Soccer Cards Gain Split; Women End '89 Season With 3-9-2 Mark

The men's soccer team split contests during the past week. On Wednesday, the Cardinals defeated Clarkson University 2-0, but on Sunday they were blanked by St. Lawrence University, 1-0. The 11-6-1 team was still in the running for both the ECAC and NCAA play-off berths going into today's season finale at Johnson State.

The women's soccer team played SUNYAC rival Potsdam State to a scoreless, double-overtime draw on Wednesday. On Sunday, the Cardinal women lost 3-0 to Division I Colgate University. They finished the 1989 campaign with a 3-9-2 record.

Plattsburgh's cross-country teams ran at potential over the weekend at the SUNYAC Championships hosted by Geneseo. The women's team placed sixth in the nine-team field. Suzanne Kennedy was the top Cardinal runner, finishing 13th in a field of 77 runners. Julie Dobert placed 25th, while Mary Hurteau finished 37th. In the men's competition, Matt Nephew placed 21st to lead the Cardinal runners. The team finished eighth among 11 teams.

Asian Update Set for Today

The Asian Studies Faculty Committee will present an "Asia Update" today (Oct. 25) from 4:30 - 6 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge. The news and current events in selected Asian nations will be discussed by various SUNY Plattsburgh faculty. The areas and discussants will be: Middle East — Pirouz Shoar-Ghaffari; India — Dr. Sunderesh Heragu; Korea — Young-Sik Jang; and Japan — Hiroshi Itoh. The program, to be moderated by Jin Keon Kim, is free and open to the campus and community.

CORRECTION: Dr. Ann Tracy has co-authored works with Patricia Hoffmann, not as stated in last week's "Weekly."

during the spring 1988 semester. Consumer awareness and knowledge of the services offered by Urgicare and Immediate Care, both on upper Cornelia Street, were measured. . . A paper titled, "Expert Systems and Optimization" co-authored by Dr. Sunderesh Heragu, assistant professor in the School of Business and Economics, appears in a recent issue of IEEE Transactions on Software Engineering, Vol. 15, No. 8. Heragu presented a paper titled "A Group Technology Approach to Machine Layout" at the 1989 Annual Industrial Engineering Conference. The paper has been published in the conference proceedings. He presented a paper, "A Transportation Approach for the Selection of Material Handling Carriers in a Flexible Manufacturing System," at the recent CORS/TIMS/ORSA Meeting at Vancouver, Canada.

DEDICATION OF ADIRONDACK GUIDE MONUMENT by Brower Hatcher Saturday, October 28

Flapjack Breakfast — 9:30 a.m.

Good Sport

Student Affairs Vice President Eldridge Roark was the "winner" of last Thursday's pie-in-the-face contest conducted by Sigma Pi fraternity to benefit the Plattsburgh College Foundation's general scholarship fund. Assisting Roark with the whipped cream clean-up are fraternity representatives Mike Roy (foreground) and Chris Christensen. Roark was among several administrators who volunteered to be contestants and was declared the winner when his collection jar yielded the most in contributions.

6.2% Hike Proposed for This Campus

Trustees Approve University's 1990-91 Operating Budget Request

The SUNY Board of Trustees last Wednesday approved a 1990-91 operating budget request for the University's 34 state-operated campuses and a state aid request for its 30 locally sponsored community colleges.

For state-operated institutions, including Plattsburgh, the budget request was developed in two phases:

- Costs mandated by state-negotiated salary increases and projected inflationary increases, totaling $92 million (the increases in phase one constitute 78 percent of the Trustees' overall request for additional monies), and
- Incremental funding of $26 million to support major, SUNY-wide program initiatives.

While the overall request represents a $118 million increase, and would boost the University's budget by 7.8 percent to about $1.53 billion, SUNY Chancellor D. Bruce Johnstone noted that the University has proposed management savings and cost reductions totaling $8.6 million. The savings would come from hospital management actions, reduced energy consumption, operation of fee-supported parking facilities, reallocated funding to develop automated library systems, and reallocated funding to absorb proposed increased enrollment costs.

"State University is fully aware of its responsibility to provide effective management in this period of fiscal constraints," Johnstone said.

The Trustees-approved budget for SUNY Plattsburgh totals $29,072,44. It represents a 6.2 percent or $1,705,900 increase in the base for the current year, but it proposes no new programs for this campus.

"Most of the proposed increase ($1,511,000) is marked for negotiated salary increases and temporary service funds," commented John Homburger, the college's senior business officer. "The balance represents our request for additional monies for anticipated cost increases for utilities, contractual services, supplies and expenses and for library acquisitions. Ours is a bare-bones budget request."

College, CCC Join Statewide Rural Services Institutes Network

SUNY Plattsburgh and Clinton Community College are housing the state's newest Rural Services Institutes, joining a statewide network established by the New York State Office of Rural Affairs (ORA). The announcement was made last Thursday by Joseph Gerace, director of ORA, Dr. Charles Warren, president of SUNY Plattsburgh and Dr. Jay Fennell, CCC President.

"RSIs provide information and hands-on assistance to local governments, businesses, farmers and community organizations," Gerace said. "These two will provide services to Clinton, Essex and Franklin counties."

Plattsburgh's RSI will be based in the Economic Development and Technical Assistance Center, under the direction of Alan Lessler, and will use existing staff and resources. Services presently available include loan packaging, business plan development assistance and review, small business training workshops, information services and technical support in development of needs assessment surveys. One of the tools to be available at the RSIs will be the

Grant to Higgins, Lamb Supports Job Development at Akwesasne

Two SUNY Plattsburgh faculty members are playing major roles in a planning project to be conducted with the St. Regis Mohawk Tribe. The project, funded through a $92,700 grant awarded by the New York State Urban Development Corporation, will focus on the creation of new jobs for Akwesasne, particularly through the integration of community participation in the process of economic planning.

Drs. Bryan Higgins and Richard Lamb, both associate professors in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, co-authored the grant and are the primary consultants for the project, along with Dr. Glenn Harris of St. Lawrence University. Coordinating the project within the Mohawk community is David Cole, the tribal planner, who received his bachelor's degree last December from SUNY Plattsburgh and completed a minor in planning. Additionally, thirteen Akwesasne residents will be employed during the project's 18-month duration.

Higgins explained that the first step in the project will be an analysis of the local labor market and its relation to the region's economy in order to determine the quality of current employment opportunities and identify the needs of Akwesasne's unemployed and underemployed residents.

Then, he said, a detailed investigation will be conducted of light industrial development, tourism and natural resource production, such as agriculture and technical assistance programs offered to rural areas by the state and federal governments.

Warren commented, "We welcome the opportunity to incorporate a Rural Services Institute into EDTAC. We are pleased to join the various agencies in our area already delivering valuable services to members of rural communities throughout the North Country and look forward to cooperating with them to ensure the best possible service to our neighbors."

forestry. The study will also explore organizational opportunities, such as joint ventures, and financing possibilities for locally owned businesses.

An important part of the planning will be the integration of community participation. That participation will include establishing contact with all interested community groups, conducting a door-to-door survey of community residents, sponsoring essay contests for local youth, periodic meetings with tribal chiefs, mailing questionnaires to interest groups, sponsoring community meeting and working with Akwesasne media resources.

Extension Given for Response to Reclassification Questions

Members of the college's Administrative Services Unit of CSEA have received an extension in the timetable for responding to the questionnaire to be used in the process for determining their eligibility for reclassification as "Secretary 1" or "Secretary 2."

"We had originally requested persons who may be affected by reclassification to return the questionnaire to their supervisors by October 20, and supervisors to return them to the Personnel Office by November 3," said Janet Saunders, director of personnel and affirmative action. "Because of questions related to the process, we are allowing a 10-day grace period to give concerned employees additional time to obtain more information and prepare their responses."

Saunders said that the new due date for submitting questionnaires to supervisors is Monday, Nov. 6, while supervisors have until Nov. 13 to return them to Personnel. Meanwhile, an attempt is being made to bring to campus a member of the Civil Service Staff Services Department who is qualified to answer questions about the possible effects of the reclassification process and about the testing requirement tentatively scheduled for next spring.

Additional questions should be directed to the Personnel Office, 9th floor Kehoe.

SA, Adult Students Planting to Recall Tianamen Massacre

The Student Association and the Adult Student Group will plant a tree in memory of the students who died in the Tianamen Square massacre in China last spring.

The ceremony will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Thursday, November 2 in Amite Plaza. Participating will be SA President Michael Santora; Russell Grey, president of the Adult Student Group; Dr. Eldridge Roark, vice president for student affairs; and Dr. George Pasti, professor of history. The ceremony is open to the campus and community.

Mathematician McFadden Next Distinguished Visiting Professor

Dr. Robert B. McFadden, chair of the department of mathematics at the University of Louisville, will be a Distinguished Visiting Professor on campus from November 6 through November 20.

McFadden's area of expertise is abstract algebra and artificial intelligence and he will present a series of public lectures during his stay on campus (see This Week on Campus for details), as well as several lectures in math and computer science courses.

Dr. John Kellmermeier, associate professor of mathematics and McFadden's host on campus, said, "Dr. McFadden will address not only recent developments in artificial intelligence, but also the effect that the computer is having on the discipline and nature of mathematics. He can also discuss the use of computer instruction in calculus."

McFadden holds B.A., M.A. and Ph.D degrees from Queen's University in Belfast, U.K. He was professor of mathematics at Northern Illinois University for many years prior to accepting his current post. He has also served as a visiting scientist at the Argonne National Laboratories, and was a 1988 member of the Scientific Committee of the International Algebra Conference in Lisbon, Portugal.

McFadden has numerous publications in the field of abstract algebra, including recent work in artificial intelligence. He has given numerous presentations nationally and internationally, including a recent series of seven lectures at the Polytechnico in Milan, Italy.

Employees Urged to Respond to Payroll Procedures Audit

The College's Office of Business Affairs is seeking the cooperation of the campus community in completing a mandated audit of payroll procedures, specifically those that apply to the distribution of paychecks.

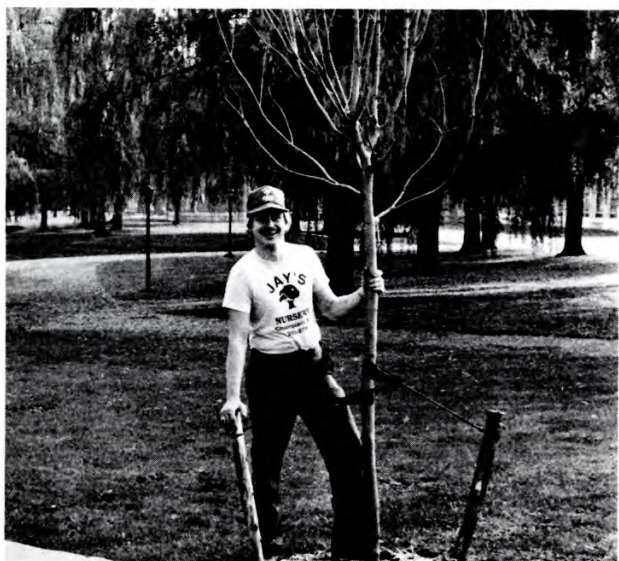

According to John Homburger, senior business officer, forms for the audit were distributed with checks or payroll statements issued on October 25. Employees are being asked to verify which procedure they follow on payday (e.g. personal pick-up at the Bursar's Office, direct deposit, etc.) and where they do their banking, and to attest to the procedure before a notary public.

"We realize this may constitute an annoyance or inconvenience, or both," remarked Homburger, "but it is required by the State Controller and we have no choice but to comply. Making contact with a notary public may also prove difficult, so we have authorized (Assistant to the Controller) Clark Foster to receive the forms. Employees may comply with the mandate by completing the form and turning it in to Clark in his office in Kehoe 708. They will also have to produce identification — the college I.D. or a driver's license."

Homburger said that employees whose paychecks are deposited automatically may need a special reminder. It is probable, he said, that several persons in this category may not have opened their bi-weekly payroll envelopes, so they're not even aware that the audit is taking place. "It is important," he added, "that each employee respect this request so that the college will be in full compliance for the next formal audit review by the Office of the State Controller."

Questions about the audit procedure should be directed to Foster at extension 3606.

Gift That Will Grow

Jay Montpelier, a 1982 graduate of the college and owner of Jay's Nursery in Champlain, plants one of two maple trees he donated to the college recently in support of the campus beautification program. Montpelier planted the trees in the vicinity of Hawkins Hall pond.

Chemistry Club 'Magic Show' to Focus on the Practical

SUNY Plattsburgh's Chemistry Club will stage a combined chemistry demonstration and magic show at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, November 3 in room 106 of Hudson Hall. The show will feature useful products obtained from chemical reactions, along with magic demonstrations that are exciting to watch.

The show is being given in conjunction with National Chemistry Week (Oct. 30 - Nov. 3), which is designed to introduce the public to the positive aspects of chemistry in everyday life. The show is free and open to the campus and community.

Soccer Cards Finish at 12-6-1; Hockey Team Opens With Split

The men's soccer team ended its most successful season in recent history with a 2-1 win over Johnson State on Wednesday. The 12-6-1 Cardinals did not receive an ECAC play-off bid as expected, but finished 8th in the state rankings.

The men's ice hockey team opened its season with a 11-2 win over Fredonia State and a 5-5 o/t tie at Canisius College over the weekend. The Cardinals, lead by interim head coach Bob Emery, out-shot Canisius 51-32 but were unable to come up with a game-winner. Marc Farrell was in goal for the Cardinals both nights. Against Fredonia, Dave Fentress tallied a hat trick. Shane Ferras led the scoring at Canisius with two goals and an assist. The Cardinals will open their home season this weekend when they host North Adams State, Mercyhurst, and Salem State for the 1989 Pepsi Cardinal Classic Tournament. Game times are at 5 and 8 on both Friday and Saturday.

Monument Dedicated

Sculptor L. Brower Hatcher (top) formally presented his work, "Adirondack Guide Monument," to the college during dedication ceremonies last Saturday. Herman "Woody" Cole (below), chairman of the Adirondack Park Agency, was one of the event's key speakers, commending Hatcher's work and promoting the preservation of the Adirondack Park. "Art and nature," he said, "must be nurtured . . . so as to preserve both for future generations."

The women's cross country team finished ninth among 15 teams at the New York State Women's Collegiate Athletic Association Championships held at Binghamton State. Suzanne Kennedy finished 12th in the field to pace the Cardinal runners. Her time of 20:21 was one minute and 36 seconds faster than her time of one year ago and one minute faster than her time at the SUNYAC Championships one week ago.

Poet Lifshin to Read Tomorrow

Noted poet Lyn Lifshin, author of more than 80 books and the subject of a documentary film on her life and work, will read from her poetry tomorrow (Nov. 2) at 9 p.m. in the Champlain Valley Hall Commons at SUNY Plattsburgh. The program is open to all.

Lifshin's popular works include Kiss the Skin Off and Naked Charm. She is the author also of Not Made of Glass, a companion volume to a Karista films documentary by the same name that traces her career from 1968-1988. She has been praised publicly by renowned poets and writers, including the late Robert Frost, Ken Kesey and Richard Eberhart.

Thursday's program is one in the ongoing Visiting Poets and Writers Series sponsored by the college's English Department, the Office of the Dean of Arts and Science and College Auxiliary Services. Support is provided also by Poets & Writers Inc. which is funded by the Literature Program of the New York State Council on the Arts.

College Hosts Alpha Phi Omega Conferees at Weekend Parley

This past weekend, the college chapter of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity hosted the annual bi-sectional conference. Approximately 230 students, faculty, advisors and national officers attended from 15 New York State colleges and the University of Vermont.

During the weekend, seminars in leadership training were held. Additionally, attendees, as a joint service project, cleaned desk tops in CL200, Sibley Hall and elsewhere. President Charles Warren, an honorary member of Alpha Phi Omega, delivered the keynote address following the group's banquet.

Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity approved by the Congress of the United States, which operates under the auspices of the Boy Scouts of America. Open to all students, the Plattsburgh chapter was founded in December, 1987.

Holscher, Rock Get Prized Labor-Management Achievement Awards

Theresa Holscher and Helen Rock have been awarded 1989 Labor-Management Achievement Awards in recognition of their efforts "to develop positive and effective labor-management relations."

Holscher

Rock

They were nominated for the prestigious awards by President Charles Warren and Elizabeth Lennon, President of CSEA Local 612.

The two were selected from among a large number of nominations received by the New York State Civil Service Employees Association Labor-Management Committees. Announcing the award recipients, Director Greg Reilly said, "The number of nominations received and the variety and quality of the labor-management achievements made the selection process extremely difficult. Considering this competition, (Holscher's and Rock's) selection is a major accomplishment and a tribute to (their) commitment to improving labor-management cooperation." The awards will be officially presented at a luncheon scheduled for November 27 in Albany.

Holscher, who has worked in Media Services since 1973, was recognized for her work with the college's Child Care Center. She has been involved with that program since its inception, first as a member of the steering committee formed to plan the center, later as secretary of the Board of Directors and now as chairperson of the Board. Opened in 1985, the Center currently accommodates 60 children between the ages of eight weeks and five years. During the summer, a program for children 6-10 years of age is also operated.

In addition to her work with the Child Care Center, Holscher chaired the CSEA Education Program on campus from 1975 to 1989. She earned a bachelor's degree from SUNY Plattsburgh, cum laude, in 1987 and is currently enrolled in the MALS program. Holscher was recently named by President Warren to the Clinton/Essex Counties Planning Committee for a Forum on Child Care and Adult Care and, in that capacity, co-chaired the Governor's Business Leadership Breakfast held recently in Lake Placid.

She is also a former member of the college's Affir-

Salute to 'Mrs. P.'

Current and past Student Association (SA) officers and family, friends and colleagues of SA Executive Secretary Joyce Papineau gathered at the NCO Club at Plattsburgh Air Force Base Saturday evening for a surprise program honoring "Mrs. P.," who will retire at the end of the semester after more than 20 years of service to the college and its students. Highlights of the testimonial program were greetings from several former SA presidents and special presentations from State University, SUNY Plattsburgh, state and national figures including SUNY Provost and former Plattsburgh President Joseph C. Burke, college President Charles O. Warren, New York State Senator Ronald B. Stafford, Congressman David O.B. Martin, and President George Bush. Culminating the festivities was the announcement that those honoring her had created a $5,000 "Joyce Papineau Scholarship Endowment Fund" with the Plattsburgh College Foundation. Gathered with Mrs. P. (Center) are former SA Presidents (L-R) Ann Beyer '81, Bruce Mante '79, Laura Sadowski '82, Cheryl Hogle '68, James Campbell '76, Thomas Grant '78, Jacqueline Cianfrocco '88, Rich Davino '89, current SA President Michael Santora, and Perry Cuocci '85.

Fraternity, Sorority Sanctioned for Homecoming Parade Incident

The Psi Epsilon Chi fraternity and Delta Phi Epsilon sorority are currently under sanctions as the result of an incident during the annual Homecoming Parade.

Dr. Eldridge Roark, vice president for student affairs, said, "An ad hoc committee investigated the conduct and activities on and around the Psi Epsilon Chi-Delta Phi Epsilon float during and at the conclusion of the Homecoming Parade. The committee was composed of three faculty/staff members and three students. Members met with the presidents of the two organizations and reviewed filed reports from the SA Vice President for Activities, the Homecoming Committee and the Office of Public Safety. As a result of the discussions and deliberations, the committee determined that Psi Epsilon Chi was culpable of and responsible for the misuse of alcohol, disorderly conduct and failure to comply with the directions of college officials." Roark went on to say that he has accepted the recommendations of the committee, which are as follows:

- Psi Epsilon Chi is officially reprimanded for the offenses.
- Effective November 8, through the fall, 1990 semester, the fraternity will have the following privileges suspended:
  - Use of college facilities, building and grounds;
  - Posting of any publicity on campus concerning fraternity activities;
  - Use of mailbox in the Angell College Center;
  - Access to CAS vehicles or accounting services.
- During the spring, 1989 semester and fall, 1990 semester, the fraternity will lose its rushing and pledging privileges; and
- The fraternity must develop, by January 25, 1990, a Plan for Positive Action outlining what it might do to project a more positive image.

Failure to adhere to the conditions may subject the fraternity to further action, Roark said. However, a committee will meet in September, 1990 to review the status and the actions accomplished under the Plan for Positive Action. "It is possible," Roark said, "that the committee will find that it can recommend to me that the sanctions imposed on (the) fraternity be lifted for the 1990 fall semester."

Delta Phi Epsilon, which co-sponsored the float, was officially reprimanded for the misuse of alcohol on the homecoming float and was placed on probation until the end of the 1990 spring semester.

Roark commented, "Our response to this incident is a clear message that the college will not tolerate inappropriate conduct. This message is not simply from my office, but from individuals representing faculty, staff and students at this college."

Centennial/Bicentennial Concert Features Entire Music Faculty

A concert celebrating both the college's Centennial and the Bicentennial of the French Revolution will be held at 8 p.m. on November 7 in the Angell Center Ballroom.

The concert will feature works written in the years 1789-90, 1889-90, and 1989. Dr. Douglas Skopp will provide brief historical introductions to the three periods represented. Admission is free.

Featured during the evening's performances will be all five of the full-time music faculty members, Yenoin Guibbory, Robert Hall, Marshall Onofrio, Elizabeth Stoyanovich and Kathryn Stuart, as well as pianist/composer Patrick Stoyanovich, violist Kay Cochran, and percussionist Michael Baker.

native Action Advisory Committee. Holscher was selected for inclusion in the 1986-87 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Rock was cited for her efforts as Coordinator of the college's Employee Assistance Center. A member of the college's clerical staff since 1963, she was appointed co-coordinator of the EAP Program in 1987. Shortly thereafter, she became the sole coordinator of the program. Officially assigned to work eight hours each week, Rock actually puts in many hours on her own time.

During her two years as coordinator, Rock has expanded both the services and the visibility of the program. She has initiated workshops, seminars and programs, including a lunchtime walking program, a grief and bereavement series, stress workshops, financial management programs, and a seminar on how to be a better shopper. During the past year, 58 college employees received direct services through the EAP, with 87 return contacts, and 83 informational contacts.

In addition to her work with EAP, she has been active in CSEA and has chaired the grievance committee and served as secretary. She has also served as a member of the Board of Directors of the campus art galleries, as program coordinator for the Foreign Student Club, as faculty adviser to the Native American Club, as a charter member and secretary of the Child Care Center Board of Directors, as an academic adviser for undeclared students, and as a member of the campus-wide Affirmative Action Committee since 1989.

Rock earned her bachelor's degree from SUNY Plattsburgh, cum laude, in 1984 and completed a master's degree in counseling in 1987.

Statler Challenge Grant Supports Hotel & Restaurant Program

The Statler Foundation of Buffalo, New York has awarded a challenge grant in the amount of $12,500 to the Plattsburgh College Foundation. This grant will support the purchase of kitchen equipment and necessary redesign of the Sibley quantity foods facilities for the Hotel and Restaurant Management program.

The terms of the grant, as outlined in a September 27 letter from Peter J. Crotty, chairman of the board of trustees of the Statler Foundation, are as follows: The Plattsburgh College Foundation must raise $12,500 to match the Statler funds by December 31, 1989. The terms have been accepted by President Warren.

The SUNY Plattsburgh Hotel and Restaurant Management program offers the only bachelor's degree in that field in the entire SUNY system. The program is about two years old on the Plattsburgh campus and already has over 100 majors. Articulation agreements accepting graduates of four SUNY two-year schools, Clinton, Cobleskill, Delhi and Morrisville have done much to ensure a good flow of students to the SUNY Plattsburgh program.

Varied Programs Highlight AIDS Awareness Week Observance

This coming week (Nov. 13 - 17) is "AIDS Awareness Week" at SUNY Plattsburgh.

A variety of lectures, films and workshops, together with student-operated information tables in the Angell Center, highlight activities designed to increase understanding as well as awareness of AIDS and HIV. All programs are open to all.

Headline events include an overview of AIDS and HIV by Clinton County AIDS Director Tim Palmer scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Angell Center Conference Room; a talk on "Male Couples Facing AIDS" by Dr. Naomi McCormick, professor of psychology, to be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday in the Angell Center Amnesty Room; and a presentation on "Safer Sex and AIDS" by Lois Scoskie, director of Northern Adirondack Planned Parenthood, at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday in the Angell Center Amnesty Room.

Students are being encouraged to sign up in the Angell Center to attend a live teleconference from 1 to 4 p.m. on Thursday at Clinton Community College that will feature give-and-take by six experts on AIDS. Bus transportation will be provided, but seating is limited.

Ad Hoc Group Formed to Study Existing Policy on Alcohol

An Ad Hoc Campus Alcohol Committee has been established to examine the college's current alcohol policy in light of an amendment to the state's alcoholic beverage control law that will become effective January 1, 1990.

The new law prohibits the possession of alcoholic beverages with intent to consume by persons under the age of 21. According to Dr. Eldridge Roark, vice president for student affairs, it will be the committee's responsibility to determine options regarding the college's alcohol policy, particularly as it relates to residence hall regulations, and to make recommendations Roark can take to the Executive Staff and, ultimately, to the College Council.

The committee is being chaired by William Laundry, director of residence life. Its other members include Jaimie Trautman, assistant vice president for student affairs, Dr. James Armstrong, assistant professor of anthropology, Student Association President Michael Santora, and students Bill Sherman and Heather Neeley.

'Classic' Champs

Pandozy '70 Leads Off Distinguished Visiting Alumni Program

The first Distinguished Visiting Alumnus/Alumna, Rose Pandozy '70, will be in residence on campus from November 12 through November 14.

The Distinguished Visiting Alumni program, under the auspices of the Centennial Committee, is designed to promote interaction between alumni who have excelled in a variety of professions and avocations and students who share their interests.

Pandozy, who is currently Commissioner of Social Services for Clinton County, will move into Banks Hall on Sunday afternoon for her campus stay. Among the activities on her schedule are two class meetings, several meetings with students and faculty in the Center for Human Resources, a dormitory council meeting, a career life planning seminar, a campus-wide lecture (7:30 p.m. on November 13 in the Cardinal Lounge) and dinner in the campus dining hall. She will also be inducted into the campus

French Canadian News Magazine Cites Canadian Studies Here

The college's Center for the Study of Canada was mentioned favorably and two faculty members were quoted in a recent article in "L'Actualite," the French Canadian equivalent to "Time" or "Newsweek." The article was entitled, "La lle Province" and explored the growing Canadian economic interest in northern New York and Vermont.

Dr. Prem Gandhi, professor of economics, was extensively quoted on the increasing expansion of Canadian business into this area. Dr. Jeanne Kissner, associate director of the Center for the Study of Canada, was also quoted, and a paragraph within the article was devoted to describing the Center and its course offerings.

Civil Service Staffing Expert to Visit Campus on Wednesday

Bill Mahoney of the Department of Civil Service's Staffing Services will visit the college next Wednesday (Nov. 15) to respond to questions regarding employee rights in relation to the Secretary I and II reclassification program.

According to Janet Saunders, director of personnel and affirmative action, sessions have been scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in Ballroom A of the Angell College Center. She said that clerical support staff in the Administrative Services Bargaining Unit, as well as supervisors and department heads, are encouraged to attend either session on a release time basis. Reservations are not necessary, she continued, but it is suggested that support staff coordinate their attendance with their supervisors (that is, obtain permission to be away from their work areas).

chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society.

Pandozy earned her bachelor's degree in child/family services and went to work for the Department of Social Services shortly after graduation. In her current post, she is responsible for a staff of 150 and a budget of $17 million. She currently chairs the New York Public Welfare Association Medicaid Committee.

Twelve alumni have agreed to participate in the program during this Centennial year.

Kelly Presentation to Focus on Era of the One-Room School

Diana (Daisy) Kelley, director of education of the Adirondack Museum, will make a presentation on one-room schools at 10 a.m. on November 10 in the Sibley cafetorium, as part of the Centennial celebration.

Kelley's presentation is appropriate, according to Dr. Ralph Hunkins, because "One hundred years ago, graduates of Plattsburgh Normal School generally taught in one-room schools." Hunkins said Kelley will simulate the teaching style of that time and will also play excerpts of tape recordings made during interviews of teachers who actually taught in one-room schools. One of the interviews, he added, is with the late Haverly Moyer, once a professor of education at Plattsburgh State, who taught in a one-room school in Herkimer Country.

As a prologue for the presentation, Dr. Karl Kramer, retired professor of education, will show slides of one-room schools in Clinton County.

Run of Rock Musical 'Godspell' Revives '60s Counter-Culture

"GODSPELL," the musical based on the Gospel according to St. Matthew, with music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz, will be presented by the Center for Art, Music and Theatre during the next ten days. The production will be presented at 8 p.m. in the Hartman Theatre November 8 - 11 and November 15 - 18.

"GODSPELL," said Dr. Charles Kline, who is directing the musical, "was chosen, as part of the Centennial Celebration, to revive the counter-culture of the 1960's, the era of campus unrest." It was called by drama critic Walter Kerr "a color-splattered, jubilant and most enjoyable rock musical."

Plattsburgh College Council Cites Contributions of Flynt, Skopp

A former assistant to the president and a current member of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty were honored by the College Council at the Council's October 25 meeting.

Olive Mason Flynt, a 1954 graduate of the college and a member of the staff from 1954 until her retirement in 1981, was cited for her role as "dedicated Council secretary" over the past 31 years. Flynt, who served as assistant to Presidents George W. Angell and Joseph C. Burke during her career at Plattsburgh, continued as Council secretary until her recent resignation.

Dr. Douglas Skopp, professor of history and chairperson of the Department of History, was commended by the Council for his work as author of Bright With Promise, the Centennial history of the college, and for his generosity in donating all royalties from the sale of the book to the College Foundation's Centennial Endowment Fund. He was recognized for managing the complex publishing project and producing a book that "is simultaneously College Council chairperson Robert Garrow (R) and College President Charles O. Warren (L) congratulate Professor Douglas Skopp and Olive Flynt for their contributions to the college.

Bortnick Appointed College's Environmental Health Officer

Edward Bortnick has been appointed the college's first Environmental Health Officer, effective November 8.

In this newly created position, Bortnick will be responsible for college policies and procedures ensuring the health and safety of faculty, staff, students and visitors. His duties will include hazard control and risk management, occupational safety and health, radiation protection, asbestos management and fire prevention. He will also conduct safety inspections and safety training programs. Bortnick's office is located in the Maintenance and Operations Building.

Commenting on Bortnick's appointment to the new post, President Charles O. Warren said it indicates that the college "takes very seriously" matters of personal safety of its faculty, staff and students. "We're pleased to establish this position," he said, "as a means to ensure a proper living and working environment for all members of our campus community."

Bortnick has been a stationary engineer at the college since 1977. He has served on the Safety Committee and on space allocation committees. Bortnick recently earned a B.S. degree in industrial technology from Southern Illinois University and is a member of the Institute of Industrial Engineers.

readable and unpretentious, authentic and absorbing, exciting and enjoyable, informative and scholarly. . . "

Both Flynt and Skopp were presented with Council resolutions signifying that governing body's appreciation for their contributions to the college.

Clodgo Appointed Director of Maintenance Operations

Leon "Butch" Clodgo has been named director of maintenance for the college, according to J. Derek Allan, director of facilities. Clodgo is responsible for the overall operation of the maintenance department, groundskeeping, the warehouse, the garage and motor vehicle fleet and the moving crew.

Clodgo was originally hired in 1968 as a steam fireman and was promoted to stationary engineer the following year. Promoted to maintenance supervisor I in 1977, he rotated as a supervisor through the various maintenance and operations shops.

In 1984, he left the college to become a maintenance supervisor III at Clinton Correctional Facility. Since that time, Clodgo has served as plant superintendent of the Franklin Correctional Facility and also at the Bare Hill Correctional Facility during the final period of construction and its first months of operation.

SPOTLIGHT

Margaret Anderson and Dr. Peter Hornby, lecturer and professor of psychology, respectively, have collaborated on a variety of scholarly projects. Their "COMPSYCH, a Description and Progress Report" has been published in Behavior Research Methods Instruments and Computers. They have given several presentations in recent months, including: "The Complete Computerized Psychology Laboratory: Design and Implementation," at the Third Annual Conference on the Teaching of Psychology: Ideas and Innovations, held in Philadelphia; "Designing and Teaching a General Psychology Laboratory Course," at an invited workshop sponsored by the Council of Teachers of Undergraduate Psychology held at the annual meeting of the Eastern Psychology Association in Boston; "Computer Software in Psychology: What's Available and How to Locate It," also at the Eastern Psychological Association meeting; and "A Microcomputer Based Instructional Laboratory in Psychology," at the SUNY Computing Officers Association annual conference on instructional computing held in Saratoga Springs. . . "Natural Places," an exhibition of 30 paintings and 19 photographs by William Crosby, professor of art, will be on display at Adirondack Community College in Glens Falls from Oct. 25 to Nov. 21. A slide presentation on the exhibit will be shown on Nov. 2. Also, Crosby will serve as co-juror of the fourth annual "Images of the Adirondacks" art exhibit sponsored by the Malone Arts Council at Ballard Mill in Malone from Nov. 10 to Dec. 9. . . Kerry Diamond, a junior English/journalism major who is studying in Paris this semester, is the author of a profile on the rock group "Blackgirls" that appears in the October 1989 issue of New Route, a magazine (circulation: 250,000) that focuses on the recording industry. . . Dr. Melvin Donaho, professor of communication, presented a two-hour workshop on Improving Meetings at the New York State Boards of Realtors annual convention last Friday. One of his students, Joan Windsor, who commutes to classes from Malone, presented a paper entitled "Our Song" at the recent meeting of the New York Communication Association, held in Poughkeepsie. Her paper paralleled the cultural aspects of communication inherent in the religions of the Judeo-Christian ethnic groups with that of the Native American Iroquois Confederacy, and has been submitted for inclusion in "Convention Reports," a juried publication. . . Susan Ledges, adjunct lecturer in the Center for Teacher Education and founder and president of the local "Teachers Applying Whole Language"(TAWL) support group, has been requested by Richard C. Owen Publishers, one of the two leading publishers of whole language books for educators in the U.S., to review its professional teaching materials (texts and videotapes). Local, state, national and international TAWL organizations have developed from a grass-roots movement of language educators who are actively urging teachers, schools and state policy-making bodies to support classroom instruction which is based on ethnographic research about how learning occurs and how language is acquired. The newly published 1989 New York State Syllabus for Language Arts, K-12, is based on whole language philosophy. . . Dr. Naomi McCormick, professor of psychology, and Dr. William Gaedert, associate professor, are among the co-authors of "Sexual Harrassment of Students at a Small College," which will appear in the forthcoming issue of Initiatives: Journal of the National Association for Women Deans, Administrators and Counselors. They collaborated also on "Sex Role Identification and Young Women's Irrational Beliefs," which will appear in the Journal of Rational-Emotive and Cognitive-Behavior Therapy. . . Dr. Thomas Rumney, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, is the author of "Readings in the Physical Geography of South Asia: A Selected Bibliography". . . Dr. Jeanne Ryan, assistant professor of psychology, is co-author of "The Effects of Unilateral destruction of Fimria-farnix and Supra-callosal Pathways in the Rat," which appears in Behavioral and Neural Biology. ## Troisi's 35-Year Tenure to End Next Summer

Dr. Nicholas F. Troisi, a member of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty for nearly 35 years and a dean for the last 16, will retire from service to the college, effective August 8, 1990. He will step down at the conclusion of next summer's 34th National Leadership Workshop, a program for upwards of 300 elementary and secondary school teachers and administrators he has directed annually since 1963.

"It's been an enjoyable 35 years, but it is time to move on and take up other things I've been putting off for a long time," commented Troisi, who is at Lock Haven University of Pennsylvania this week serving as member of a Middle States reaccreditation team. "I'll certainly miss the challenges of my position, but mostly I'll miss the day-to-day contact with a talented and dedicated faculty and staff and my association with some of this nation's finest educators. I'm leaving at a time when the college is in great shape academically and in good hands administratively."

Retirement, in Troisi's case, won't mean curtailment of activity. A Rotarian for many years, he will accept a role as District Governor for Rotary International, which will entail travel to, and arranging meetings at, more than 62 clubs. He plans to remain a Plattsburgh resident.

In acknowledging Troisi's decision to retire, President Charles O. Warren expressed "deep appreciation" for his "long-term, energetic and dedicated service" to the college. "Your loyalty has been outstanding," said Warren, "and it is exceeded only by your genuine sense of caring and concern. I know the entire campus community joins me in wishing you an enjoyable and rewarding retirement."

Troisi joined the Plattsburgh faculty as associate professor of education in September of 1955. He had taught previously at Bucknell University and the SUNY College at Geneseo. In 1963 he was appointed professor of education and director of continuing education, and ten years later he became dean of the Faculty of General and Continuing Education.

Troisi assumed his current post in 1975 when five Faculties headed by as many deans were consolidated to two in an administrative reorganization engineered by former President Joseph C. Burke. As dean of professional studies, he is responsible for programs in the Center for Human Resources, the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services, the Department of Physical Education, Athletics and Recreational Sports, the Department of Hearing and Speech Science, and the Department of Nursing.

Besides several Middle States accreditation assignments, Troisi's professional experiences include appointments and consultant work with institutions, agencies and associations ranging from schools and colleges to military installations, correctional facilities and civic and state employment boards. His awards include the James E. Allen Award, presented by the School Administrators Association of New York State, and Rotary's Paul Harris Award. He holds memberships in varied learned and professional societies, and he has served and held office on numerous local, regional and statewide committees that focus on issues related to education, health and business development.

Troisi has been active in community service throughout his career at Plattsburgh. He is a past president of both the Plattsburgh Rotary Club and the Plattsburgh Area Chamber of Commerce; former chairperson of the Clinton County Tourist Bureau; an honorary commander at Plattsburgh Air Force Base; and "Irishman of the Year" in Plattsburgh in 1976.

Latest Budget Reduction Won't Seriously Affect This Campus

The recent state mandate to all state agencies to trim two percent from their 1989-90 operating budgets will not severely affect this campus. President Charles O. Warren issued the following statement on the matter:

"While the mid-year reduction in the budget is not at the debilitating level, there are a number of initiatives that we will have to postpone. Because of our budget-management approach of keeping reasonable resources in reserve, we expect to meet the reduction without any personnel action or reduction of assigned operating budgets."

Rothenberg Presentations Focus on Curriculum Transformations

Paula Rothenberg, professor of philosophy at William Paterson College and a nationally known consultant on "curriculum transformation and new scholarship on gender, race and class," will give two presentations at the college tomorrow (Nov. 16).

At 12:15 p.m., Rothenberg will discuss "Thinking About Gender, Class and Race" at a Women's Studies Forum program to be held in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge. At 4:15 p.m. in Ballroom A of the Angell Center, she will conduct a workshop for faculty on "Integrating Gender, Race and Class into the Curriculum: A Framework for Action."

Dr. Ingrun Lafluer, associate vice president for academic affairs, said that both presentations relate to the new general education curriculum expected to go into effect for freshmen next fall. The new curriculum, she explained, asks that many categories integrate "new scholarship on women and minorities" into course content and method.

"This is also a part of a national movement to 'expand the canon,'" said Lafluer, "that is, to include materials about the experiences and contributions of women and minorities in general education. The workshop will help faculty discover and use materials on women and minorities."

Rothenberg directs the New Jersey Project on Integrating Gender into the Curriculum. She has team-taught a pioneering course on gender, race and class and has written and consulted nationally on the topic of curriculum transformation.

Redcay Memorial Service Set for Dec. 1 in Giltz Auditorium

A memorial service for Dr. Edward E. "Doc" Redcay will be held at 4 p.m. on Friday, December 1 in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium in Hawkins Hall.

Redcay passed away on October 10, 1989 at the age of 86. He came to SUNY Plattsburgh in 1936 and, despite officially retiring in 1969, he maintained an office at the college where he continued to counsel and advise students until earlier this fall.

Beloved by generations of alumni, faculty, staff and students, Redcay received virtually every award the college could bestow, including the Distinguished Service Award, the Presidential Award of Honor, induction into the Cardinal Sports Hall of Fame, a Centennial Award of Honor, and status as an Honorary Alumnus.

President Charles O. Warren will preside during the memorial service. Among those paying tribute to Redcay will be Dr. Edgar Barton, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Burke, Dr. Thomas Moran, Beverly Forster, Dr. Douglas Skopp, Dr. Lary Shaffer, Clara LaRose, Michael Santora '90, Annamarie Kelly '54, and Thomas Rooney '46. Musical selections will be presented by Antoine Barber and Robert Furlong '79, and Robert Garrow '52, chairperson of the College Council, will read a resolution passed by that group.

A tree planting ceremony will be held outside of Hawkins Hall immediately after the service and will be followed by a reception in the lobby of Redcay Hall.

Byrnes Establish New Award That 'Celebrates' Adirondacks

Wayne and Margaret Byrne of Plattsburgh have established a new award for an outstanding student effort.

The award will be given to the student who, in the opinion of a committee of art faculty and staff members, creates the finest expression capitalizing on the natural beauty of the Adirondacks and its people. It will be entitled "Celebration of the Adirondacks."

The Byrnes have long been recognized for their support of conservation efforts and the preservation of the Adirondacks. Mr. Byrne has been active with the Adirondack Conservancy, the Adirondack Mountain Club and the Lake Champlain Committee. He is vice chair of the Plattsburgh College Council.

Facilities Director Reports on Status of Maintenance Projects

SUNY Plattsburgh continues to be seriously underfunded for campus maintenance projects. While its backlog for building upkeep and repair totals about $5.8 million at the present time, thousands of dollars are being spent annually to forestall further deterioration or to meet prescribed health and safety requirements.

In a recent presentation to the college's Executive Staff, Facilities Director J. Derek Allan reported that projects valued at more than one-half million dollars have been initiated, completed or are nearing completion in the current year. Moreover, contracts have been awarded for more than $400,000 in projects scheduled to begin in the spring, and others that have been approved for funding, totaling more than $1.5 million, are currently in the design stage.

By the end of December, according to Allan, completed projects will include new roofs on Beaumont and Hudson Halls ($241,777); a new roof deck on Clinton Dining Hall ($214,000); and a new connecting bridge from the Draper Avenue parking lot to the second-level entrance to Beaumont Hall ($41,300). P.C.B. abatement in the Clinton Dining Hall electric vault ($32,000) will continue into the fall of 1990. Allan explained that the latter project, involving shutdown procedures to allow for removal of a potentially hazardous coolant used for years in transformers, will be completed over an 18-month period.

The projects set to begin in the spring include new roofing for the college health center ($140,000) and for Adirondack Dining Hall ($143,000), and P.C.B. abatement in the Myers Fine Arts Building, the Service Building and Heating Plant, Sibley Hall and the Field House ($149,000). Those in design, also with 1990 starting dates, include safety rehabilitation in Redcay Hall ($218,000); new roofs for Banks Hall, Hood, deFredenberg, Moffitt and Wilson Halls ($250,000); asbestos abatement and installation of a new chiller and rehab of a compressor in the Field House refrigeration room ($15,000 and $42,000, respectively); "dormitory income fund replacement" improvements (doors, lavatory stalls, windows, shower stalls, fire detection equipment, etc.) in campus residence halls ($228,000); and an architectural/engineering planning study for the renovation of Hawkins Hall ($800,000).

The restoration of Hawkins Hall — SUNY Plattsburgh's campus landmark — is estimated eventually to cost about $5.8 million.

Visual Artists Series Next Presenter is Alumna Levesque

Painter Diane Levesque, a 1980 graduate of SUNY Plattsburgh, will be the next presenter in the Visual Artist Series. Levesque will lecture on her own work at 8 p.m. on November 16 in the Cardinal Lounge.

Levesque earned her MFA from the University of Chicago in 1983 and is visual merchandising director of Galt Toys in Chicago. She is also Acting Exhibitions Coordinator for Artemisia Gallery, where her recent paintings are currently on exhibit. Levesque won a fellowship from the Illinois Arts Council in 1987 and the Fairweather-Hardin Prize at the University of Chicago in 1983. She is currently one of nine finalists for the Giverny Residency Fellowship in France. Her work was exhibited on campus in 1983 during the "Alumni Exhibition."

Computer Science Team Takes 2nd in Programming Contest

A team of four senior computer science majors at SUNY Plattsburgh placed second in a field of 18 in the Northeast Regional Computer Programming Contest held recently at Siena College. Members of the team were Stew Favor, Angelo Magaldi, Rob Vaughn and Steve Webb.

The annual contest is sponsored by the Association for Computing Machinery and teams are judged on the number of problems completed correctly. Dr. John McCormick, associate professor of computer science, said that this is the highest a Plattsburgh team has placed, and added, "Since our team registered late, they were assigned a terminal in a hallway. Even with all of the building tours coming through, the team managed to maintain concentration."

The winning team, from SUNY Albany, will advance to the national contest. Also competing, among others, were Union, the University of Lowell, Smith, Lemoyne, RPI, and SUNY Colleges at Binghamton, Brockport, Oneonta, and Oswego.

Distinguished Alumna

Participating in the ceremony are (from the left) Dr. Geoffrey Guest, assistant professor in the Center, and program committee members Dr. Jane Gore, professor in the Center, and (far right) Malcolm Lavery, director of alumni affairs. Pandozy spent the better part of three days in residence this week meeting and sharing her professional experiences with students and faculty informally and in the classroom.*

Hockey Cards Continue Streak; Basketball Season Opens Friday

The men's ice hockey team extended its unbeaten streak to seven games with three victories last week. On Tuesday, the Cardinals defeated Potsdam, 6-2, with six separate skaters scoring goals. They won their second SUNYAC game of the week by trouncing Brockport, 10-3, on Friday. Sophomore Jim Duran led the attack with two goals and three assists. On Saturday, the Cardinals avenged a 5-5 tie at Canisius by beating the Ice Griffs, 6-2. Senior captain Sean Haggerty tallied two goals.

The men's and women's swim teams lost at Union College on Saturday by scores of 144-51 and 134-76, respectively. Despite the loss, the Cardinals qualified five swimmers for the SUNYAC tournament this season. Brian Pausley won the 50-yard freestyle in 23.78 and Phil O'Connell swam the 200 yard IM in 2:16.26. Darlene Kesterke qualified for the SUNYAC tournament with a time of 2:14.48 in the 200-yard freestyle and 6:05.20 in the 500-yard freestyle; Deidre Sweeney qualified in the 1,000-yard freestyle with a time of 11:59.24; and Kelly Kreuzer's time of 27.93 qualified her in the 50-yard freestyle.

In an exhibition game last Wednesday, the men's basketball team defeated Vanier College of Montreal, 93-83. The basketball season will open this weekend when the Cardinals host the Pepsi Cardinal Classic. On Friday at 6 p.m., Ithaca College will take on 1988

Pepsi Classic champion University of New England. Plattsburgh State will play Johnson State in the nightcap. The consolation game will be played at 1 on Saturday and the championship game will be at 3.

Thanksgiving Madrigal Dinner Features Return of Fox Holden

In the spirit of the Centennial celebration, Fox Holden, the first principal of the State Normal and Training School at Plattsburgh, will be the official host of a Thanksgiving Madrigal Dinner put on by the Cardinal Singers. The event will be held Monday (Nov. 20) at 7 p.m. in the Angell Center Ballroom.

Principal Holden served at the school from 1890 to 1892 and will be joined by several of his colleagues from that time. George Hawkins, teacher of Mathematics on the original faculty and later President of the college, will be played by Ray Domenico, who will offer a vocal solo of the period.

Greek and Latin Professor Myron Scudder will be played by John Meyer, who will give a poetry reading. Robert Hall will appear as George Hudson, teacher of Natural Science in the original faculty, and will offer a Victorian parlor song. He will also direct the Cardinal Singers, who will be costumed as the original College Choir from 1890.

Besides the entertainment, the evening will offer a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings. The College Brass Ensemble will play as guests arrive and a piper will pipe in the head table for dinner.

Bornstein Gets Post as Co-Op Job Development Specialist

Joseph Bornstein has been named to the post of Job Developer for the Cooperative Education Program, a three-year position funded by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education. Bornstein will be responsible for developing placements for students in the cooperative education program, primarily in the North Country, but also in several other areas of the state.

Bornstein, a well-known North Country resident for many years, was, most recently, an account executive with Plattsburgh Broadcasting Company. From 1975-81, he taught Practical Politics as an adjunct professor at Clinton Community College. He currently chairs the Plattsburgh Civil Service Commission, is a member of the Plattsburgh Housing Authority, and is also a past president of the Plattsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Bornstein has been secretary of the Plattsburgh Air Force Liaison Commission since 1952 and was named Honorary Chief of Plattsburgh Air Force Base Enlisted Personnel in 1986. He was Plattsburgh's Citizen of the Year in 1968 and was the first Irishman of the Year.

Bornstein holds a bachelor's degree from Wesleyan University.

Sponsored Research & Programs Coordinating Committee Formed

A coordinating committee on Sponsored Research and Programs has been formed to assist in the coordination, planning and effective implementation of the college's sponsored programs.

The committee, which is advisory to the president, is expected to work in support of the Office of Sponsored Research and Programs. It will meet semi-monthly at least to review generally potential grant submissions; to resolve resource questions; to coordinate planning activities; and to ensure clear and fair pre- and post-application procedures.

Dr. E. Thomas Moran, vice president for academic affairs, will chair the committee. Its members include Dr. Wallace Feldman, dean of the School of Business and Economics; John Homburger, senior business officer; Dr. H.Z. Liu, dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science; Dr. Eldridge Roark, vice president for student affairs; Susan Spissinger, director of sponsored research and programs; and Dr. Nicholas Troisi, dean of the Faculty of Professional Studies.

Plattsburgh Students Better Statewide Averages on June NTEs

SUNY Plattsburgh students who took the National Teaching Examination (NTE) Core Battery Tests in June, 1989 scored extremely well, according to Dr. Michael Wolfe, director of the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services.

On the Communication Skills section of the examination, 95.2% of the Plattsburgh students passed, compared to 80.4% statewide. On the General Knowledge portion, 87.9% of the Plattsburgh students passed, compared to 69.3% statewide, and, on the Professional Knowledge portion, 94.8% of the Plattsburgh test-takers passed, compared to 83.9% statewide.

Wolfe commented, "We are extremely pleased to see the very high success rates of our students. They have consistently scored well above the statewide average on the NTE, but these scores are especially good. They are certainly a reflection of the high quality of both our students and our teacher education program here at Plattsburgh."

Joint Venture Center Grant to Support Soviet Accounting Project

SUNY Plattsburgh's Center for the Study of Joint Ventures has received a $12,000 grant from the accounting firm of Ernst and Young. It will be used to begin a program for exposing Soviet accounting policy-makers to Western accounting practices in order to assist with the development of an internationally compatible accounting system for joint venture enterprises operating in the Soviet Union. Dr. Zubaidur Rahman, associate professor in the School of Business and Economics and an associate in the Center, is the project director.

The grant application was the result of a workshop on joint venture accounting held last summer in Moscow, which highlighted difficulties faced in developing joint ventures due to differences between Soviet and Western accounting systems. The grant will fund a visit to the United States by the Chief Expert on accounting in the USSR Ministry of Finance, which is responsible for framing accounting regulations. The Soviet visitor will spend approximately three weeks on the SUNY Plattsburgh campus during the spring semester. During that time, he will meet with faculty members in accounting and international business and participate in a specially designed discussion program in order to broaden his knowledge in Western accounting systems and international dimensions of accounting.

He will then spend about ten days in the New York City office of Ernst and Young for exposure to the practical aspects of accounting. His activities will include a visit to the New York Stock Exchange as well as meetings with some of Ernst and Young's clients.

Library Time Capsule Closing to Occur December 7 at 4:15

The Library Time Capsule will be formally closed at 4:15 p.m. on December 7 in the Feinberg Library lobby. Craig Koste, who has been in charge of the time capsule, said that library staff members have been collecting letters, photographs and other memorabilia of the 1989 Centennial Celebration throughout the year. Members of an introductory photography class did a major project entitled "A Day in the Life of Plattsburgh" and the resulting photographs are among those included in the capsule.

Submissions may still be made, Koste said, and should be sent to him in care of the interlibrary loan office by December 6.

The time capsule, Koste explained, is a large plexiglass box which will eventually be placed in a concrete vault in the lobby of the library. It will be marked with a plaque denoting its contents.

The ceremony is open to all and refreshments will be served.

Memorial Service

CAS Approves $150,000 Allocation to Renovate College Store

The College Auxiliary Services (CAS) Executive Committee has approved allocation of $150,000 to renovate the College Store in Saranac Hall.

George Layman, College Store manager, said the project will involve refurbishing counters, improving traffic flow and facility lighting, speeding-up checkout during book rush periods, painting, installing new shelves, and increasing the size of the store's trade book area. "Besides giving the College Store a badly needed face-lifting," commented Layman, "the objective is to enhance services and customer satisfaction." He pointed out that the renovations will be the first on a large scale since the store was located in Saranac Hall more than a decade ago.

Stanley Supinski, executive director of CAS, said that the project may have a beneficial impact on students financially. Any additional revenue derived as a result of increased sales in the merchandise area, he said, will be used to defer the cost of textbooks.

College Store renovations have been designed by Jon Greenberg and Associates of Berkley, Michigan. That firm, according to Supinski, is currently renovating store facilities at Cornell and Syracuse universities.

In an unrelated matter, Supinski reported that the College Store will discontinue using plastic bags, effective with the spring semester. A switch will be made to bags made of biodegradable material.

'90 Faculty-Staff Drive Begins to Permit 26 Pay Period Giving

A few weeks remain in the 1989 fund-raising year, but next year's campaign for faculty and staff support is already underway — for good reason.

"We're contacting college employees now about the 1990 drive to give them opportunity to consider payroll deduction — the painless method for giving," commented Dan Milliman, director of development. "Those who act soon can spread their contributions over the full 26 pay periods, beginning January 3."

Milliman explained that a recent mailing to faculty and staff includes forms authorizing payroll deduction. The forms must be returned to the Office of College Relations and Development by December 11 if the donor wishes deductions to occur over all 26 pay periods.

"Those who already make use of payroll deduction don't have to fill out a new deduction card," commented Milliman, "unless they want to change the amount of their bi-weekly deduction."

Gifts from the campus community may be unrestricted or donated for a variety of purposes consistent with the mission of SUNY Plattsburgh and the College Foundation. Questions about the faculty-staff campaign should be directed to Milliman (Kehoe 803, ext. 2090).

Biannual Faculty Art Exhibit Opens in Myers on Wednesday

The Biannual Faculty Art Exhibit opens on Wednesday, December 6 in the SUNY Plattsburgh Art Museum, with an artists' reception at the Myers Fine Arts Gallery from 4 to 6 p.m. Gallery director Edward Brohel said, "Our faculty members not only teach and challenge their students, but they are constantly working to improve their own skills. This exhibit promises to be stunning and varied."

The exhibit includes photographs and paintings by Bill Crosby; photorealistic paintings and drawings by Rick Mikkelsen; abstract sculpture by Don Osborne; panoramic landscape photographs by Roger Williams; graphic designs by Rick Salzman; prints by Diane Fine; ceramic forms by Katherine Lanier; and landscape paintings by Joseph Salerno.

The SUNY Plattsburgh Art Museum is open daily, except Fridays, from noon to 4 p.m. Tours are available by appointment and admission is free.

Diane Levesque '80, presented a slide lecture on her art as part of the campus Visual Artists Series. Levesque has an MFA from the University of Chicago, where she won the Fairweather-Hardin Prize. She is currently one of nine finalists for the Giverny Residency Fellowship in France.

College Foundation Aid Since '86-87 Totals Nearly $1 Million

The Plattsburgh College Foundation has provided nearly $1 million in the past three years to the financial aid program administered by the college's Office of Financial Aid.

In a report to that organization's Board of Directors at the board's recent fall meeting, Don Garrant, assistant to the president and Foundation executive director, stated that 1,669 students have shared in $999,020 in Foundation grants since the 1986-87 academic year. That year, he said, $297,868 was allocated to 524 students. In 1987-88, 520 students received aid from a pool totaling $292,152, and the following year the numbers increased substantially with Foundation grants and recipients totaling $409,000 and 625, respectively.

Commenting on awards for 1988-89, the most recent year for which data are available, Garrant noted that about 36 percent of the total awarded ($137,197) helped 240 students from Clinton, Essex and Franklin counties. The average gift per student has climbed from $568.45 in 1986-87 to $654.40 in 1988-89.

Forum Features Canada's Roving Ambassador to Latin America

The International Awareness Forum will present a lecture by Richard Gorham at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, November 30 in the Cardinal Lounge. Gorham has been the Canadian Roving Ambassador for Latin America and permanent observer to the Organization of American States since 1987. Dr. William Culver, who is coordinating Gorham's visit to campus, said that Canada will officially join the OAS in January, 1990.

Gorham will discuss "The Canadian Perspective on Latin American Politics." His lecture is free and open to the public.

Gorham has been a member of the Canadian Ministry of External Affairs since 1952 and has served in Tokyo, New Delhi and Cambodia. From 1979-83, he was Director General and later Assistant Under-Secretary in charge of Latin American and Caribbean Affairs. He served in Beijing as Canadian Ambassador to the People's Republic of China from 1983-87.

Howarth Continues as Visiting Professor Through December 8

Dr. John Howarth of the University of Maryland returned to campus Monday for the second period of his appointment as Distinguished Visiting Professor, which continues through December 8.

Howarth will pursue a number of projects during the remainder of his appointment here. He will meet with groups of faculty and with department chairpersons; he will conduct workshops for students at both SUNY Plattsburgh and Clinton Community College; and he will deliver a public lecture. The latter, on the topic "Some Recommendations for Undergraduate Education," will be held as a Brown Bag Lunch scheduled for noon on Friday, December 1 in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge.

Howarth, recognized nationally as a leader in the improvement of undergraduate education, has directed the Honors Program at Maryland since 1978. He is immediate past president of the National Collegiate Honors Council. While on campus, he will use office space in the college's Honors Center in Room 124 of Hawkins Hall, and he may be reached by telephone at extension 3074.

Seidel-Rogol Receives Grant for Research on ND Mutant

Dr. Bonnie Seidel-Rogol has won a $9,251 grant from the NYS/UUP Joint Labor Management Committees for a Dr. Nuala McGann Drescher Affirmative Action Leave for the spring, 1990 semester.

During the semester, Seidel-Rogol will continue her research on the nature of the natural death (ND) mutant of the fungus Neurospora crassa. "The research," she commented, "is relevant to the understanding of the involvement of nuclear genes in mitochondrial biogenesis and the regulation of mitochondrial DNA synthesis."

Seidel-Rogol has been investigating the nature of the ND mutant in collaboration with Dr. Helmut Bertrand, chairperson of the department of microbiology at the University of Guelph.

The Drescher Affirmative Action Leave Program establishes a fund to help minorities, women, persons with disabilities and Vietnam era veterans in the UUP bargaining unit prepare for permanent or continuing appointments within SUNY.

Skopp Talk in Library Series to Focus on Services' Growth

Feinberg Library's "Focus on the Future — A SUNY Plattsburgh Centennial Series" program, scheduled for 4:15 p.m. tomorrow (Nov. 30) in Special Collections, will feature a talk by Dr. Douglas Skopp, professor of history.

Skopp's topic will be "From 'Bring Your Own Books' to 'CD-ROM': a Century of Growth in Our College's Library." It is based on his research for Bright With Promise, his centennial history of the college.

A display related to Skopp's book publishing project is located in an exhibition area of the library adjacent to the reference room.

Student Foursome Top Group at Recent Legislative Assembly

Four students, Lisa Cobus, John Gallagher, Mercedes Medina and Roland Schmidt, attended the 1989 Intercollegiate Legislative Assembly held recently in Albany. Dr. Thomas Konda, assistant professor of political science and advisor to the group, said, "Our delegation did an excellent job. On the basis of the number of leadership positions and awards that went to our four-person delegation, one could say that Plattsburgh was the pre-eminent school at the ILA."

Cobus served as majority leader during the floor debate and won the Best Speaker Award for the Abortion Committee. Schmidt received the Best Speaker Award for the Environmental Committee. Medina served as majority whip during the floor debate and won the Second Best Speaker Award for the Mandatory Drug Testing Committee. Medina was also elected to the ILA's Central Planning Committee, which will plan the 1990 ILA. Gallagher participated on the Abortion Committee and played an active role in committee deliberations as well as in the floor debate.

Women's Studies Forum Talk Features Noted Sex Researcher

Dr. E. Sandra Byers, professor of psychology at the University of New Brunswick and one of Canada's most prominent sex researchers, will be the guest speaker at tomorrow's (Nov. 30) Women's Studies Forum program scheduled for 12:15 p.m. in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge.

Byers, a clinical and social psychologist, will discuss "Initiations and Refusals of Sexual Activity" at the forum, which is open to the public. She will later talk about sexuality and public policy in Canada at a class meeting for an introductory course in Canadian Studies.

Byers is the representative from the Canadian Sex Research Forum to the Society for the Scientific Study of Sex, and she is active in the Canadian Psychological Association and the Sex Information and Education Council of Canada. She has served as a consultant to the Fredericton, N.B. Rape Crisis Center and as a director of both Planned Parenthood in Fredericton and AIDS-New Brunswick. She has published extensively on the topics of courtship and sexual assault.

Byers' visit is being sponsored by the Center for the Study of Canada and the college's Women's Studies Program with support from College Auxiliary Services, the Department of Psychology and the office of the Dean of Arts and Science.

Cardillo Group Performs Friday in Rock 'n' Roll Poetry Concert

A Rock and Roll Poetry Concert will feature Joe Cardillo and his musical group in an evening performance beginning at 8 p.m. on Friday, December 1 in Ballroom A of the Angell College Center. Cardillo, who is the author of The Rock and Roll Journals, will incorporate readings from the book with his music.

Cardillo, who plays guitar and sings, will be accompanied by Tom Savoy on keyboards, John Hill on lead guitar and Dave Hydelund on drums. Their music is available on CD and cassette.

The poetry reading/concert is co-sponsored by College Auxiliary Services and the Student Association. Admission is free and open to the campus and community.

Fast Start

Junior co-captain Mark Cassier goes up for a two-pointer over an Ithaca College defender in the November 18th championship game of the Pepsi Cardinal Basketball Classic, won by Plattsburgh, 77-72, in Memorial Gym. The Cardinals and Ithaca advanced to the finals by trouncing Johnson State and the University of New England, respectively, the previous evening. Cassier and teammates John Edmead, at guard, and Center Todd Wright were named to the Pepsi Classic All-Tournament Team. Plattsburgh, which improved its record to 3-0 with an 87-53 triumph over Norwich on November 21, faces its severest test of the young season this evening in its SUNY Conference opener at arch-rival and nationally ranked Potsdam.

SA to Launch Letter Campaign Opposing Proposed Parking Fee

The Student Association (SA) has launched a letter-writing campaign to protest the proposed imposition of a parking fee on students attending this and other state-operated campuses. In the long run, the fee, projected to be in the range of between $8 and $11 monthly, has implications also for all university employees.

The fee, whose amount reportedly would be set by the individual SUNY units, would generate revenue to cover direct costs of maintaining the university's parking facilities. John Homburger, the college's senior business officer, said he has seen no concrete proposals from SUNY Central Administration, where the fee originated as a means to achieve self-sufficiency in parking lot maintenance, but added that its initiation is expected to become effective next June. Besides students, it could at the outset affect all non-union personnel.

"Members of campus collective bargaining units will be exempt," commented Dr. J. Stallard Waterhouse, president of the SUNY Plattsburgh chapter of United University Professions. "The unions have flatly refused to negotiate the matter during the current contract period, and the next round of talks aren't scheduled to begin until 1991."

Homburger emphasized that revenues produced from the fee would be used to maintain facilities, not expand them. Lot maintenance includes paving, lighting, painting, snow removal and the application of salt and sand. Payment of the fee will not guarantee a parking space.

Students at the college have labeled the fee a "back-door tuition increase." David Helman, the SA vice president for Central Affairs who is leading the opposition and is promoting the letter-writing effort, spoke against it at a SUNY Board of Trustees public hearing in October. He was quoted in the Legislative Gazette as criticizing the fee as a "non-tuition" charge that many students cannot afford and a necessity they have paid through tuition and taxes.

Helman said that students who wish to protest the parking fee proposal will have a choice of signing one of as many as six letters that will address the topic. The thrust, he said, is uncompromising: to urge Governor Cuomo to order deletion of the parking fee from the SUNY budget.

Information tables, with sample letters, will be set up from Wednesday, Dec. 6 through Friday, Dec. 8 in Clinton (11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 4:30 to 7 p.m.) and Algonquin (11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 4-7 p.m.) Dining Hall and in the Angell College Center (10 a.m. to 8 p.m.).

Farewell to 'Doc'

ODK Inducts 47 to Society Membership in Weekend Ceremony

Forty-seven members of the SUNY Plattsburgh "family" were inducted into the college's Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK) in ceremonies held Saturday evening (Dec. 2) in the Newman Center.

ODK is the National Leadership Honorary Society. The newest group includes one member representing the professional staff, two alumni, 22 seniors, 20 juniors and two graduate students. The 44 student inductees have an aggregate cumulative grade-point average of 3.44.

Elected for membership from the college's professional staff was Patricia Perillo, who is student activities associate in the Office of Campus Life.

The alumni inductees were Rose Pandozy '70, Commissioner of Social Services in Clinton County who spent three days on campus in mid-November as the first participant in the Centennial Celebration's Distinguished Visiting Alumni Program, and Robert M. ## Varied Activities Highlight Multi-Cultural Awareness Week

This is Multi-Cultural Awareness Week on campus and several special events are taking place during the week. On Monday, Dr. Pirouz Shoar-Ghaffair, Dr. Mohammad Sadi and Olaseni Akinlade held a discussion group on multi-cultural issues. A dinner featuring foods from several lands was held on Tuesday evening.

Tonight (Wed., Dec. 6), President Charles O. Warren will be a special guest for a Multi-Cultural Forum to be held in the Cardinal Lounge beginning at 7:30 p.m. The film "Freedom Man" will be shown at 6 p.m. on Thursday in CL200.

Friday evening will feature a Talent Show/Kwanza (African Christmas) beginning at 9 in the Angell Center Ballroom. Admission is $3. The week's final event, "Latin American Carnival Dances of Panama," is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Saturday in the Sibley Hall Cafetorium.

Multi-Cultural Awareness Week is co-sponsored by the Minority Concerns Committee and the Office of Campus Life, with support from El Pueblo, AKEBA, and Club International.

Estrin Wins WPCA Scholarship

Daniel Estrin, a senior environmental science major from Kingston, NY, is one of two winners of a $500 scholarship award from the Water Pollution Control Association, Inc. of New York State. The Industrial and Hazardous Waste Committee of the WPCA solicited applications for the award and chose Estrin on the basis of his submission.

Estrin is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and was recently selected for inclusion in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. He will receive his bachelor's degree cum laude on December 15 and has accepted an internship with the legal staff of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation.

Four TAC-Sponsored Conferences Draw 200 from North Country

The Economic Development and Technical Assistance Center recently conducted four one-day conferences highlighting the role of historic preservation as an economic development tool. More than 200 individuals participated in the conferences, which were held in Warrensburg, Lake Placid, Canton and Camden.

Speakers included representatives from the National Main Street program of the National Trust for Historic Preservation from Washington, D.C., the Temporary Study Commission on Tug Hill, the Thousand Island-Sackets Harbor Committee, the Essex County Planning Office, Historic Lake Placid-North Elba, the Warren County Tourism Council, the Village of Canton and other local groups who discussed their work and the Main Street approach to business stimulation.

As part of the series, EDTAC surveyed attendees who strongly indicated an interest and a need for a regionally coordinated effort to address Main Street community development in the Adirondack North Country.

EDTAC Director Alan Lessler, summing up the Main Street approach, said, "It is a vital economic development process, seen as part of a comprehensive effort on the part of local elected officials, concerned citizens and professionals to balance the creation and

Sen. LaValle Appoints Garratt to Senate Advisory Committee

Don Garratt, assistant to the president for college relations and development, has been appointed by New York State Senator Kenneth LaValle (R-Selden) to a Senate advisory committee on higher education. LaValle, the deputy majority whip, chairs the Senate's Committee on Higher Education.

The advisory committee, which meets bi-annually, is composed of about 35 members of the education profession. According to Garratt, the group includes the chancellors of both SUNY and CUNY, the presidents of the collective bargaining organizations representing both the state and city universities, presidents and other administrators from public and private colleges and universities, secondary school superintendents, and Governor Cuomo's special assistant on educational matters.

The purpose of the group, Garratt said, is to review and comment on position papers and provide advice on issues affecting higher education. During a recent meeting in Albany, LaValle discussed the status of "left-over" issues from the 1989 legislative session, including measures that focus on campus crime, date rape, truth in testing, and tuition assistance for part-time students.

LaValle also talked about the proposed state budget for education for 1990-91. Garratt said the senator predicts a very difficult year faces the higher education community.

retention of jobs and capital investment while giving full respect for local and regional environmental concerns."

Focus of Teleconference Series on 'New European Community'

A series of three teleconferences on the new European Community is scheduled for 7-9:30 p.m. on December 7, March 8 and April 12. All three taped broadcasts will be shown in CL202 and are free to faculty and SUNY Plattsburgh students.

"Europe 1992," said Dr. Wallace Feldman, dean of the School of Business and Economics, "is not only a catchy phrase to thousands of students, but it is also shorthand for a revolutionary change taking place in the European Community which is removing barriers to the free movement of goods, services, persons and capital among 12 European countries." He continued, "These changes will have direct effect on U.S. companies and the new world market."

The first program will feature a variety of corporate executives, international foundation officials, senior scholars and media representatives describing the evolution and structure of the European Community, changes in trade policies and their potential impact on U.S. exports. The subsequent broadcasts will focus on production strategies, and will explore potential merger and acquisition activity, the creation of new financial markets and taxation and monetary policy with European Community member nations.

Swimmers Excel While Hockey Splits, Basketball Teams Lose

The women's swimming and diving team won its first dual meet of the season by defeating the Cadets of Norwich, 138-74 at home on Saturday. Deirdre Sweeney continued her record-breaking spree by setting a new school mark in the 200-yard freestyle with a winning time of 2:08.26. Also, Sweeney placed first in the 500 freestyle and swam a leg on the winning 200 freestyle relay. Kelly Kreuzer and Alison Wise were also triple winners for the Cardinals. Robert Lucchesi qualified for the SUNYAC meet in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 5:27.80. Dave Mowen won both diving events for the Cards and Phil O'Connell and Brian Pausley were winners in the 100 breaststroke and 50 freestyle, respectively.

The indoor track and field season opened over the weekend at an open meet at the University of Vermont. Scott Carpenter qualified for the SUNYAC championships in the 400-meter dash with a time of 53.8 seconds. He was also a member of the 4x4 meter team which won that event by two-tenths of the second over the Montreal Olympic Sprint Club. Plattsburgh's Mary Hurteau captured the 100-meter run and Wendi Clarke was the only competitor to successfully jump 4'8" in the high jump.

The men's ice hockey team split their road games over the weekend. On Friday, the Cardinals notched a big win over the Oswego Lakers, 7-4, at Oswego's Romney Fieldhouse. Goaltender Les Sirota was outstanding, turning aside 27 shots on the net. Dan Scaley tallied twice for the Cards and Jerry Dineen recorded the game winning goal and an assist. In Saturday's game at Geneseo, the Cardinals lost to the Ice Knights, 6-4.

The men's and women's basketball teams suffered disappointing losses at Potsdam last Wednesday. Despite point guard Kristen Trembley's 18 points and 6 rebounds, the Cardinal women were defeated by the Bears, 60-74. The men's team fell behind by 10 points in the first three minutes of play, setting the course for their loss to Potsdam, 80-58. The Cardinals out-rebounded the Bears, but recorded only a 31.3 field goal percentage in the game. Scott Randolph was high scorer for the Cards with 17 points and high rebounder with 12.

Teaching-Reading Students Plan 'Reading Wonderland' Spectacle

Students in the Teaching of Reading classes in the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services will host a Reading Wonderland Extravaganza on Friday, December 8 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Sibley Hall gymnasium. The project is coordinated by Anna Nardelli, associate professor.

The Reading Wonderland is open to anyone interested in a creative approach to the teaching of reading. Elementary teachers and parents of elementary students are especially encouraged to attend. The extravaganza will feature reading activities and materials to enhance the various approaches to teaching reading, including basal, McInnis, whole language and phonics.

Children are also welcome to attend. As a special feature, Santa Claus will read to them in a festive atmosphere of balloons and music.

400 to Graduate; Speaker Myers Selects Centennial Year Theme

More than 400 students will receive bachelor's or master's degrees or certificates of advanced studies during the annual Winter Commencement ceremony scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. on Friday, December 15 at the SUNY Plattsburgh Field House.

Myers

President Charles O. Warren will preside over the ceremony and will confer the degrees. Candidates for degrees will be presented by Dr. E. Thomas Moran, vice president for academic affairs, and diplomas will be awarded by Robert Garrow '52, chairperson of the College Council. A brass ensemble under the direction of Dr. Marshall Onofrio, will provide music for the event.

Dr. John Myers, professor of history, will deliver the commencement address. He has chosen as his topic: "A Centennial College, A Centennial Year Class." Myers has been a member of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty since 1964. He is a member of the Centennial Committee, a past chair of the Faculty Senate and a former chair of the history department.

Five students are expected to receive their degrees summa cum laude (with highest honors), having achieved a grade point average of 3.9 or better. They are Ella Boyd, elementary education, St. Albans, WV; Michael Dashnaw, business, Peru; Maria Fernandez-Talcott, human services, Plattsburgh;

Laurie Norton, Spanish, Ithaca; and Karri O'Connell-Bukant, business, Spokane, WA.

Eight students are expected to graduate magna cum laude (with high honors). They are Kathryn Collier, secondary education/English, Port Henry; Joanne Ives Conroy, anthropology, Plattsburgh; Laura Farrell, hearing and speech science, Warwick; Joyce Hommes, elementary and early secondary education/English, Essex; Theresa O'Kane, individualized studies, Glens Falls; Karola Smith, psychology, Plattsburgh; Mark Weiler, business, Moosejaw, Ontario; and Judith Williams, home economics education, Delanson.

Expected to graduate cum laude (with honors) are Martha Brown, elementary education, Hartford; Carrie Burnell, speech and hearing handicapped education, Plattsburgh; Sean Bushart, biology, New Hartford; Lori Hutchins Camire, behavioral science, Keeseville; Alfred Campney, accounting, Queensbury; Evelyn Cook, nursing, Morrisville; Kathryn Corhouse, individualized studies, South Glens Falls; Kimberly Cotton, mass communications, Keene, NH; Daniel Estrin, environmental science, Kingston; David Farina, political science, Schenectady; Francis Felicelli, secondary education/social science, Plattsburgh; Mary Fuhrman, economics, Royal Oak, MI; Lisa Hartung, elementary education, Conger.

TO THE ENTIRE COLLEGE COMMUNITY:

As we approach the end of 1989 and look forward optimistically and enthusiastically to a New Year, a new decade and the beginning of a second century "Bright With Promise," it is appropriate to reflect on this college's significant progress — progress that is attributable directly to you. Please know that I deeply appreciate your dedication to the college, its students and to your profession . . . that I am profoundly grateful for your commitment to excellence. It is a privilege to work with you in your resolve to support initiatives that are taking SUNY Plattsburgh steadily toward even higher levels of quality. May this Holiday Season be full of joy for you and those you love.

CHARLES O. WARREN
President

Happy Holidays; Congratulations December Graduates!

Revised Policy on Alcohol Consumption on College Council Agenda

The SUNY Plattsburgh College Council will be asked to discuss and approve a revised campus alcohol policy when it convenes at 10:30 a.m. on Friday, Dec. 15 in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge.

The revised policy, drafted by an ad hoc committee of faculty, staff and students and chaired by William Laundry, director of campus life, is responsive to new state legislation prohibiting possession of alcoholic beverages with intent to consume by persons under the age of 21. The law becomes effective on January 1, 1990.

The Council will be asked to consider the better of two options developed by the committee, which was guided in its deliberations by three principles: that the policy remain consistent with the law; that it be reasonable; and that it be enforceable as conduct regulation. Those options and the main points of their pros and cons:

- Eliminate possession and personal consumption of alcohol in college residence halls, or
- Allow legal possession and personal consumption of alcohol by students 21 years of age and older while disallowing possession with intent to consume by students under 21 years of age.

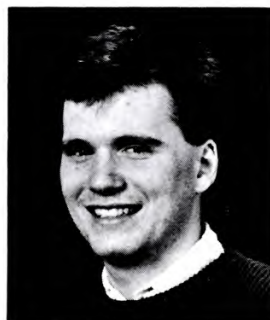

The committee lists "pros" and "cons" with each option. On the first, it is reasoned that the regulation would be clearly understood and that, conceivably, its absence might mean less consumption. But it argues also that the regulation would be extremely difficult to enforce, consumption would become covert and monitoring consumption would be impossible, students who are 21 would be penalized, the concept of responsible drinking would be lost, and the regulation would be a disincentive to residing on campus.

The second option would be less difficult to enforce and monitoring would become possible, only some consumption would be covert, 21-year-old students could possess alcoholic beverages and consume them forthrightly, and there would be no disincentive to living on campus. On the negative side: the regulation would not be so clearly understood, its availability might mean increased consumption, and students would have to be segregated by age when alcoholic beverages are present.

Both options provide for revision of the language in the existing alcohol policy on this campus.

Bill Sherman Elected President of 1990 SA by Decisive Margin

Sherman

Jette

Bill Sherman, a senior sociology major from Schenectady, NY, has been elected President of the 6,000-member Student Association.

Sherman received 1,045 votes against Richard Fortunato's 676 to capture the top student government post. The next SA president served this year as executive vice president and has experience also as a SA Senator.

Michael Jette, who is enrolled in the master's program in secondary education/chemistry, defeated Gina Vecchiarello 982-704 for the position of executive vice president.

In contested vice presidential elections, Sari Gordon defeated Craig Chippindale to become vice president for student services, and Sara Gaffney won the post of vice president for the arts over Christopher Classen. Running unopposed were Matt Malvese, vice president for finances; Joseph Muresco, vice president for activities; Mike Benowitz, vice president for athletics; David Symansky, vice president for academics; and Connie Hollenbach, vice president for central affairs.

Kenneth McDonnell ran unopposed for Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, and Dawn Irwin, John D'Amico, and Drew Pecunia were unopposed for Associate Justice posts.

Elected to the Student Senate were Denise Semple, Richard Fagen, Cathy Shannon, Todd Orlando, T.J. Morton, Jackie Lichte, Marc Newhaus, Kristen Roberg, Toni Ann Internicola, Rick Beam, Greg Ghirardi, Scott Seepien, David Lowe, Christian Corron, and Jeffrey Block.

Honeoye Falls; Bethanne Kilcoyne, elementary education, Brasher Falls; Anne Kohler, special education, Franklin Square; Ronald Longe, Jr., English, Sheldon Springs, VT; Robert Lynch II, accounting, South Glens Falls; Perry Nunn, music, Plattsburgh; Roger Pfeiffer, accounting, Rexford; George Purkis, elementary education, East Northport; Elizabeth Rodgers, speech and hearing handicapped education, Plattsburgh; Joseph Rondinelli, economics, Rome; Lucian Schmit, individualized studies, Sherwood, OR; and Darcie Starks, special education, Massena.

Graduates, their guests, and faculty and staff are invited to attend a reception in the Field House immediately after the ceremony.

Garrant Among Four Selected to Address SUNY Trustees

Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development, will be among four SUNY institutional advancement professionals who will address the SUNY Board of Trustees at the Board's December meeting next Thursday.

Garrant will represent his SUNY colleagues in the development field and will make a presentation to the Trustees on progress in that area. The purpose of the presentation is to help the Trustees better understand the role of institutional advancement within the University.

Last WEEKLY of Fall Term

This is the final issue of WEEKLY for the fall semester 1989. Publication will resume on Wednesday, January 17 of the New Year. The deadline for that issue is noon on Monday, January 15. News items or suggestions for news coverage are always welcome, and should be brought to the attention of either Dennis Doyle or Carolee Smith (ext. 2090 or DOYLED or SMITHCC on the e-mail system).

Math Imagination

Students in Dr. Nicholas Stupiansky's elementary education math methods course visited Broad Street School in Plattsburgh last Friday to present "Math Imagination Day" — a program that featured a diversity of teaching and learning materials and ideas for the mathematics curriculum at grade levels K-6. About 80 SUNY Plattsburgh students shared teaching aids they constructed as part of their fall semester course work with youngsters who thoroughly enjoyed manipulating them.

Women Swimmers Win Second Straight; Hockey Team Breaks Even

The women's swim team notched a second dual meet win last weekend defeating St. Rose, 119-87, with Deirdre Sweeney turning in another record-breaking performance. Sweeney led the Cards with three first place finishes (100 yd. freestyle, 1000 yd. freestyle, and 4x400 freestyle relay). She broke her own school record in the 1000 freestyle with a time of 11:29.91. The men's swimming and diving team won its first meet of the season, beating St. Rose 71-38. Paul Auger and Brian Pausley each won an event for Plattsburgh and were members of the winning 200 yard medley relay team.

The men's ice hockey team split contests during the week, finishing up the fall semester with an 8-3-1 record. On Friday, the team blanked the Binghamton Colonials, 14-0. Sean Haggerty led the scoring with 4 goals, and Shane Ferras scored a hat trick in the first six minutes of play. On Saturday night, an early scoring spree by the Union Dutchmen stymied the Cardinals, as they lost, 5-4.

The men's basketball team fell to 0-3 in SUNYAC and 4-3 overall with losses to Oneonta, 78-70 and New Paltz, 70-65. Todd Wright led the Cards' scoring with 13 points against Oneonta and 11 against New Paltz.

The women's team, meanwhile, remained winless. They lost 71-44 to Oneonta and 52-35 to New Paltz.

Moran Joins American Higher Education Leadership Council

Dr. E. Thomas Moran, vice president for academic affairs, has accepted an invitation to serve on the Association of Higher Education's Leadership Council.

The council, funded by several grants, including one from the Fund for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education, is composed of a dozen educators and educational administrators from across the United States. It was created to bring together experts to explore important issues in higher education, particularly those related to assessment.

Moran said the group will meet periodically over the next several years. His colleagues on the council include prominent scholars and authors from institutions such as UCLA, California at Berkeley and the University of Tennessee, and from the American Association of Higher Education and the National Center for Higher Education Management.

'89 Parents' Fund Shows Gain

The College Foundation's 1989 Parents' Fund is showing an impressive gain for the second consecutive year.

As of December 8, and with three weeks remaining in the campaign, the Parents' Fund had received $25,869 in contributions from 807 parents of students, with gifts averaging $32.05. Final results a year ago — then a record year — showed 760 parents made gifts averaging $26.31 for a grand total of $20,002, so the comparable increase to date is slightly above 29 percent.

Gifts to the Parents' Fund will be used to provide equipment for the Claude Clark Learning Center, the Honors Center and various department and academic center commons areas throughout the campus.

Reception for 'Mrs. P'

Members of the college community are invited to attend a reception in honor of Joyce Papineau at 4 p.m. on Thursday, December 14 in the Centennial Room. "Mrs. P" as she is affectionately known, has been the Student Association secretary since 1968, and is retiring this month.

Theatre Festival Adjudicators Pick 3 to Vie for Scholarship

American College Theatre Festival adjudicators have chosen three SUNY Plattsburgh students to participate in the Irene Ryan Acting Scholarship competition. Elizabeth Bonnabeau, Scott Burnam and Monique Durocher, all of whom appeared in the recent production of 'Elm Circle,' were nominated for the competition, which will take place in mid-January at Penn State.

The adjudicators also nominated two faculty members to receive National Certificates of Merit from the American College Theatre Festival for their work on the play. Dr. Ruth Klini, assistant professor of theatre, will be recognized for her costume design work on the play. Dr. Ruth Kline, assistant professor of theatre, will be cited for his scene design work.

"Elm Circle," which was written by 1971 SUNY Plattsburgh graduate Michael Casale, was presented on campus earlier this fall.

SEFA Campaign Headed for Success: $28,600 and Counting

The campus component of the 1990 State Employees Federated Appeal is in its final stages, and all signs point to successful conclusion of the campaign.

Campus SEFA Coordinator Clara LaRose, senior account clerk in telecommunications, said the drive to date has generated $28,600 in contributions from members of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty and staff. The amount, she added, eclipses the 1990 total by about $400 and raises the possibility that the campaign will meet or perhaps exceed its ambitious $30,000 goal by the time it ends at year's end.

"At the least," commented LaRose, "we expect the college to easily retain its position as the leading contributor among state agencies. We're grateful to every employee who chose to support the campaign and especially to those who volunteered to solicit gifts."

Persons who have yet to contribute and wish to do so have until next Tuesday (Dec. 19) to take advantage of giving by payroll deduction. Otherwise, direct contributions will be accepted to the end of the year (LaRose may be contacted at 564-4110/7975).

The major beneficiary of the SEFA campaign is the local United Way campaign, which includes 19 human service agencies. Others are 20 international service agencies, eight Health Agencies of New York, six Clinton County health agencies, and four independent agencies.

100 Years from Now. . .

President Charles O. Warren ties the ribbon securing the Feinberg Library Time Capsule that was placed on Friday in a concrete vault in the lobby area of the library with the admonition: "Do Not Open Until 2089." The plexiglass time capsule, a Centennial Celebration project, contains letters, photographs and memorabilia from the year-long observance of the college's 100th anniversary. A plaque denotes its contents.

Brighter Holiday for Some

Meet Santa Claus' elves! Residence hall director Jennifer Engwer (c) and resident assistant Debbie Kraker (l) decided to make the holidays a little happier for some Clinton County children. They contacted the Clinton County Department of Social Services and were told that 129 children could use some holiday brightening. Jennifer and Debbie contacted the various residence hall councils for help. Three hundred students responded with 648 gaily wrapped presents for the children. The two are seen here with Mary Tobrocke, foster care and adoption services supervisor, with just a handful of the toys.

Planning for Aid Forum

College financial aid staff from North Country institutions and area high school guidance personnel met recently at SUNY Plattsburgh to plan "the most comprehensive Financial Aid Information Bonanza" ever to be held in this region of New York State. The forum, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on January 10 in Yokum Hall at Plattsburgh, is targeted for prospective students and their families. Besides financial aid professionals, who will conduct a workshop sponsored by the New York State Financial Aid Administrators Association, participants will include representatives of lending institutions. Forum planners are (L-R) Karen O'Brien, director of financial aid at SUNY Potsdam; Karen Goodrich, financial aid officer at Clinton Community College; David Blades, guidance counselor at Moriah Central School; Suzanne Sokolowski, director of financial aid at SUNY Plattsburgh; and Larry Kirby, a member of the guidance staff at Chazy Central School.

Spirit of the Season

Students in Dr. Ernest Coon's class organized a holiday party last week for residents for the Robert S. Long Apartments. Also invited were third grade students from one of the Plattsburgh City Schools. The group sang carols, did holiday crafts, and enjoyed a buffet luncheon. During the afternoon, President Charles O. Warren presented Centennial mugs to the senior citizens in attendance.
